

DRUG STORES IN PHONE ROW

Courts to Decide Despute at Newcastle.

By United Press
NEWCASTLE, Ind., Dec. 18.—The fight over demand of the Indiana Bell Telephone Company for use of coin box telephones in local drug stores was up to the courts today for settlement.

Sam Denton, drug store owner, sought an injunction to restrain the telephone company from removing the telephone from his place of business.

Denton refused to obey the order of the Indiana Bell to install a coin box phone or to let the company move his phone to a location in the store where it would not be accessible to customers.

"As long as I pay my bill it is none of the company's business who uses the phone," Denton said. The company struck back by ordering service to his store discontinued and Denton went into court for an injunction.

Other drug store owners are supporting him in his fight.

JUDGMENT WITHHELD

Judgment was withheld by Special Judge H. B. Pike against Thomas Francis in Criminal Court Thursday afternoon when Francis was found guilty on a drunk charge. He appealed from city court where he was fined $10 and costs. Hershel Holland, colored, also charged with drunkenness was fined $10 and costs.

Puzzle a Day

On a small island near Monte Carlo a new gambling palace has been opened. The only mode of approach or departure is on a beautiful private yacht. The charge is $25 each way.

One man who visited this island daily for seven days carried a special wallet for his gambling fun in order to keep track of his winnings.

From this fund the expenses on board the boat were paid. The first six times he played he came out of the gambling house with 100 per cent more money than when he went in. But on the seventh day he lost 50 per cent of the money in his purse and when he arrived home he had $32 of the fund left.

Did he win or did he lose?

Last puzzle answer:

It took the kitten 23 minutes to climb 25 feet. Every two-minute period plus one minute, or three minutes, she climbed three feet, for she slipped back one foot. This was done seven times, taking 21 minutes for 21 feet. The last two minutes she climbed four feet and did not slip back, since she rested on the branch, giving the above answer.

Tables With Scales Installed in Corridor.

A new and soon-to-be-popular courtesy was extended to patrons of the postoffice today.

Three large tables with several sets of scales for weighing Christmas mail and two attendants at each table, were installed in the main corridor of the Federal building.

The weighers after placing each package on the scales, tell the patron the amount of postage needed and direct him to the stamp window.

The postoffice and all classified substations will be open Sunday afternoon. It was announced by Postmaster Robert H. Bryson. It is part of the post office department's plan to "clear the decks" in order that employees may have a vacation Christmas Day.
