

OLD PERSONS NEED CHEERING

cheerful fellow being who was remembering you on Christmas, bringing you a surprise basket of good things and happiness?

Today for its list, the Times has gathered up a number of such old folks, away from home, destitute without some kindly outsider's help. Make one of these your "old folks" for this Christmas—and put your self down for another white mark in the Good Book.

Call the Times Santa Claus, Main 3500, and ask for your old folks family by number, and his or her name and address will be given you. Then your job will be to see that some old lady, or some old couple, has a real Christmas once more.

68. A hard working widow, a colored woman, goes out by the day and her oldest son brings home his wages, but even so they barely have enough money to go around. The boys are 6, 8 and 21. The girls are 12 and 15. Family Welfare Society recommends a generous basket.

70. In this colored family the man has been out of work, but has eagerly picked up every kind of job possible and they have managed to get along without asking for relief. There are a boy of 5 and a girl of 15. The Family Welfare Society, which has been helping the man get work, recommends a basket.

73. A widow, a colored woman, has been doing her best to support the family, and the two children have helped. The girl is 14, the boy 17. The Family Welfare Society suggests a Christmas basket as a pleasant surprise.

82. A 13-year-old boy needs a suit but there is no money for new clothes in this family. The father has been waging a losing fight for his eyesight but will soon have to have another operation. There is an 8-year-old girl and 4-year-old twins, a boy and girl. Family Welfare Socety recommends a basket, clothing and gifts for the children.

83. An invalid colored woman deserted by her husband but under the care of the Family Welfare Society would appreciate a Christmas basket.

84. A lonely colored woman ill with tuberculosis is on the waiting list for Sunnyside. Family Welfare Society recommends that a basket for her include fruit and delicacies for an invalid's appetite.

All these families have found a friend in the Family Welfare Society whose visitors recommend a Christmas basket in every case.

85. Just an aged couple living alone. The woman has been ill. Food for her basket should be chosen with that fact in mind.

86. Here are an aged couple with no relatives, few friends able to help them.

87. Another old couple with the same handicap. A friendly call with a basket will cheer them up.

88. The elderly couple will have a lonely holiday before them unless some one volunteers to call with a basket.

89. How would you like to be recovering from sickness at this season and to have no home except the rooming house, and no near relatives to call on you? That is the fate of this lonely woman.

90. This old lady lives alone and will appreciate a friendly call, with a basket of nourishing food.

91. In this humble home the husband has been sick and his wife has been taking care of him as best she could. Both elderly persons are frail and lonely.

92. Her husband has left her so this old woman lives alone, with little hope for the future.

93. This aged widow lives alone in a little house in the rear of a lot, but if Santa Claus wants to call on her he will be given explicit directions for finding the place.
