

STIRRIN' the DOPE

By VEDDER GARD

BASKETBALL officials will be interested to know the interpretation of the following rule. The question came up at the last meeting of the Indiana Officials' Association and there was much difference of opinion, these present being almost equally divided on the question.

The matter was referred to Oswald Tower of the national rules committee. The letter to Tower stated the question in this fashion: In case time is called by the captain of a team when no member of his team has been injured and the coach of the same team, to avoid having a time out charged against his team, substitutes a man before thirty seconds have elapsed, shall a time out be charged against the team or not?

In the rules it is stated that time out is charged "when time out is requested by a captain or when time out is ordered by the referee for the benefit of the team." Another clause, however, says time out is charged "when a substitution except for injury or a disqualified player consumes more than thirty seconds."

Those who believed that a time out should be charged immediately when a captain asked for it were of the opinion that it did not matter what happened AFTER the captain requested the game to be stopped for he had already made his team liable to be charged with the time out.

They were of the opinion that the coach's smart substitution to save his club from a time out was only an evasion of the rules and that a common sense interpretation, knowing that the captain's request was the real cause of stopping the game, was to charge the team with the time out. The initiative came from the floor and not from the spectators' bench, from whence substitutions are made.

They agreed that if the captain asked for time out, at the same time stating a substitution was to be made, if the sub entered the court before thirty seconds had elapsed, no time out should be charged.

According to Tower this interpretation is wrong. His answer follows:

A captain is not required to state why he wishes time out, and if a substitution is made within 30 seconds, it may be assumed that time was requested for this purpose.

That's that. There is no higher court of appeal.

WE were just wondering whether the high school sectional basketball tournament will be held in Indianapolis on March 5 and 6? If the State finals are not played here the only available place will be the auto show building at the fairground. The local schools could take advantage of the floor and bleachers put in by Butler for its big games.

The college is running on only some 4,000 seats, but this could be increased to approximately 6,000. Tomlinson Hall is out of the question.

But in our mind there is a doubt about Indianapolis even getting the sectional—not that anything official has been heard concerning it. The local schools might not want the tourney under present conditions.

The schools here could be sent around to various centers such as Martinsville and Shelbyville. Indianapolis might get left out in the cold entirely.

Bucky Harris is living up to his nickname. He is bucking on signing a contract for next season to manage the Washington Senators.

MANY of the high school basketball teams of the State will play their games this week on Wednesday because of Christmas coming on Friday. The referees will appreciate it if the fans remember that this is the time of year when "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men," is the proper sentiment.

The days just before Christmas are the shortest of the year—especially to those who have left their shopping until the last moment.

"There's no fool like an old fool," grunted Strangler Lewis, as he tugged and hauled on the wrestling mat. "Ditto," gulped Stanislaus Zyzysko as he wiped his bald head that had nearly been twisted off and wrenched at his opponent's arm in retaliation.

Heard on the air—"Yours for a white Christmas"—Kip Rhineland.

We see in the telegraph dispatches that Dempsey will not fight in Indiana. Did anybody except Floyd Fitzsimmons think he would? Did Fitz even think so?

THERE is one bad feature of the proposed plan of the I. H. S. A. A. to take the State final high school basketball tourney away from Indianapolis. Some of the glamour of the big show will be taken away at the same time the meet leaves this city.

The fans, in spite of certain inconveniences, like to make the pilgrimage to the capital. It is the grand climax—a carnival occasion. Some of this spirit of festivity is missing in the new idea. The State meet has helped make the game in Indiana. The sport now is big enough to get along without it, however. At least that is the view of most officials of the association.

HOLIDAY TILTS AT PURDUE

Missouri and Wabash on Basket Card—Players to Return Dec. 26.

By Times Special
LAFAYETTE, Ind., Dec. 22.—The Christmas recess at Purdue University means a two weeks' vacation for most of the students here, but for Coach Ward Lambert's basketball squad it is just a few days' gap between practice sessions. With the Franklin game safely away in the records as Purdue's third pre-conference season victory, the squad is looking forward to the New Year's eve tilt with Missouri, and also the game with Wabash here Jan. 4.

Two-Day Plan
Monday's drill closed Purdue's basketball activity for about a week. Dec. 26 will see the squad back on the job, with morning and afternoon practice sessions on the slate until the end of the vacation period.

The squad which will drill daily here during the holidays will be composed of Captain Spradling, Taube, Neuman, Harneson, Pierce and Wheeler, forwards; Cramer, Stevenson and Hodges, centers; Rigby, Wilcox, Wilson, Jolly and Wright, guards.

Fight for Places
There is every possibility that Purdue will have no outstanding "five" this year, for the competition for several of the positions is the keenest in years, and pairs of candidates are running a neck and neck race for the first team jobs. This is particularly true at the two guards jobs. Jolly and Wright are even at back guard, and Wilson and Wilcox are having a merry time of it at floor guard, with Rigby in jeering a little more fight into the race.

Cramer is head and shoulders over other pivot candidates, while Captain Spradling is his old basketball self now that the season is well under way. A quintet of performers is struggling to be the Purdue leader's running mate, including Harneson, Neuman, Pierce, Taube and Wheeler.

AT LEBANON

Shortridge Basket Five to Play Wednesday.

Shortridge High School netters will back the gym Monday and today practicing for the Lebanon game at Lebanon on Wednesday night. Coach Burton is up against it to find a substitute for Christopher, who is injured.

Holt seems to be the best bet at back guard, but with Christopher out the floor guard position is a very unsettled question. McNaught, a forward, may be shifted to the place. Lebanon has lost only one game this season and is a tough foe for the north siders.

Butler Floor at Auto Show Building Complete—First Game Dec. 29.

The basketball floor in the auto show building at the State fairground has been laid and everything will be in readiness by the latter part of the week. Justus Paul graduate manager of athletics at Butler, announced today.

Butler will play its first game at the new court next Tuesday against Missouri U. The playing floor is in the depression in the center of the building. There will be reserved seats directly around the hardwood. Bleachers will be placed higher up and will comprise the general admission seats. The total seating capacity for the first game will be approximately 3,500. More seats can be added if necessary.

The floor must be taken out during the auto show the week of Feb. 15. If the high school final meet is taken away from Indianapolis and the Exposition Bldg. is not used Butler will put the floor back for the Wabash game Feb. 26.

There is a chance if the sectional high school meet is held in Indianapolis that the floor will be used at that time for the prep performers. The city high school series games will be played there.

Sisler Hopeful

By NEA Service
ST. LOUIS, Dec. 22.—What are the chances of the Browns to be pennant contenders in the American League next season?

Manager Sisler thinks they are excellent. He figures it is largely up to two of his pitchers, Gaston and Gland. Sisler regards them as the two best prospects in the league. Gaston is a right hander, Gland a southpaw.

Gland and Gaston came to the Browns as the "to boot" part of the deal that called for the trading of Urban Shocker to New York for Joe Bush. On the results of last season it stands out as one of the best transactions made in years as far as the St. Louis club is concerned.

Tunney or Paolino May Be Used With 'Bull'—Other Ring Features.

By Henry Farrell
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Following suit in his favor for $50,000, Luis Firpo, South American heavyweight, is almost sure to return to the United States, according to information to Tex Rickard from a responsible source.

Andrew McCordinkale, who claimed that he had a managerial contract with Firpo for a percentage of his money, told a Supreme Court in New Jersey late Monday that he had no valid claim, and the suit was dismissed.

Other Firpo Claims
Rickard was in court ready to testify and he also has interested himself in the settlement of other smaller claims and suits against the big South American.

"I'll give Firpo some work if he is in shape and I can make a match on reasonable terms," Rickard said. "I'm through playing Santa Claus with them from now on and every fighter I use will have to accept my terms or leave them."

Firpo is planning to come back to the United States and he wants Jimmy De Forrest as his trainer and Rickard as his business adviser.

Spaniard Mentioned
It is probable Rickard will offer Firpo a contest with Gene Tunney, who has been trying to get a big match in the heavyweight class. Or, he might use him against Paolino, the Spanish heavyweight, in a test match.

Rickard wants to make a record-breaker out of the first indoor season in his new Garden and he has under negotiations for January, matches between Dave Shade and Roland Todd, the English welterweight; Sid Terris and a lightweight. He has arranged a welterweight championship fight between Mickey Walker and Tommy Milligan and is trying to find an opponent for Tunney.

MICHIGAN REQUEST REFUSED

Fight Permit Denied Dempsey and Wills Boosters—Governor Acts.

By United Press
LANSING, Mich., Dec. 22.—Governor Alex J. Groesbeck of Michigan, today refused to consider proposals that the Dempsey-Wills heavyweight championship bout, scheduled for next summer, be held on Mackinac Island.

The Governor previously had declared he would not allow championship fights in Michigan, and his action today in refusing the request of Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter, is in keeping with that policy.

Request for permission to hold the bout at Mackinac was submitted to Attorney General Andrew B. Dougherty by persons interested in resort development in the section. It was stated, however, Fitzsimmons concurred in the proposal to hold the fight at Mackinac.
