The Tangle

NIGHT LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO LESLIE PRESCOTT.

Had to send you another message tonight as I was so lonely.

Am sending my lawyer to confer with Karl and Paula Perier's representative tomorrow in the purchase of the pearls. Am mailing the "Pittsburgh" papers this morning. I hope that this is the last time we will be mentioned in regard to those ill-fated jewels. I hate to seem superstitious but I will feel better when they no longer belong to you, besides, I am getting tired of decorating the first page in the news, because of them.

I cannot understand Syd's sudden move to leave this country forever. It looks as though he was running away from something. I do not know what I shall do without him, for we have been like Damon and Pythias, you know, ever since I knew what friendship meant.

As you have been to me the epitome of womanhood, Syd Carlton has been in my mind and the representative of everything a man should be. I have often wished that our two sons might have all of his virtues instead of any of my petty little vices.

Have not heard from mother since she left. Am expecting a bombshell of some kind before long, for she is not wont to keep me in suspense for any length of time as to her activities.

Tell Ruth if I did not love her so much I would hate her for keeping you from me, and that if I ever get you home again, you will have to stay with me as long as I shall live. Sometimes it seems to me, dearest, that most of our confidences, most of our tenderest love professions and promises have been made by letter and that is not what it should be, you know. I want you here, dear. I want you right in my arms. I want to be able to press my lips to each blue-veined eyelid, shutting them softly over your beautiful eyes, and, most of all, I want to kiss the lips that always draw my soul to them when I touch them.

Your adoring husband,
JACK.

Wire from Leslie Prescott to John Alden Prescott.

Leaving by first train for home. I see the little coral doodad is beginning to work. No woman on earth could resist your letter. Don't quite understand Syd, although he always threatened to do something of the kind, you know. Kiss the babies for me and tell them when they wake up in the morning mother will be bending over their bed. I love you, dear. You must know that always.

LESLIE.

Santa Claus had to go to Daytona, Fla., to visit Master Martin Marks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Marks, 4339 N. Illinois St. Mrs. Marks and Martin, with the children, Henry, Sarah, Elizabeth and Arnold, are spending the winter months in the South. Mr. Marks is here.

Other young folks who found that Santa had remembered them most wonderfully were Marjorie and Samuel Leigh Savidge, Jr., children of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Savidge, 1704 N. Pennsylvania St., who are shown here with their mother.

Two bright-eyed youngsters who had a lovely Christmas are Gary and Gordon Young, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Young, 538 Maple Rd.

—Martha Lee Says—

WOMEN BRING MORE INTO MODERN HOMES

We used to chortle that old ditty gleefully when our friends fell in love or announced their engagements, and that seemed really about all there was to their marriage. If she could cook that settled it.

"Can she bake a cherry pie, Billy Boy, Can she bake a cherry pie, Billy Boy?"

"She can bake a cherry pie, Billy Boy, I can't wait to tell you, Billy Boy, I can't wait to tell you, Billy Boy."

But that isn't all that is expected of a woman today. We can sit up nights thinking up things to say about the modern woman, but after all we have to hand it to her for choosing a rougher path than the old one, and for making the narrow confines of the kitchen to the larger fields of art, literature, general and domestic knowledge, and when she does come into the home—she brings plenty of culture with her. We expect more of the 1926 woman. She is building up a tradition to hand on to the future generations, of refinement, general good taste, better methods of education and infinitely more culture.

Dear Mrs. Lee: My age is 20. I have been supporting myself for the last three years. There is a young man who has proposed to me four times. I have told him I cannot marry yet, although I love him dearly. But the reason I do not feel that I am prepared to run his home as it should be run, I am taking cooking lessons at a night school, and also studying interior decorating, and trying to improve my taste. But Mrs. Lee, what if he should wait for me? Do you think it would be foolish not to marry him now, and learn after we are married?

UNDESIDED.
"Well, I would say a girl as ambitious as you to make a man a real home would be worth waiting for. However, don't become so engrossed in the man's home that you forget all about the man. He might wait for you, true. But that interesting spark of first, impetuous love might cool off. Any man might be proud to possess a wife with your ambitious qualities—but be Martha as well as Mary."

NUT AND POTATO CROQUETTES
Two cups hot sliced potatoes, 1/2 cup cream or milk, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, few grains cayenne, yolk of 1 egg, 1/3 cup chopped pecan nut meats, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder. Mix all ingredients with fork until light. Shape as for croquettes. Roll in bread crumbs. Dip in egg, which has been mixed with a little cold water. Roll in bread crumbs again and fry in deep hot fat until brown. Drain on unglazed paper and serve.

Mrs. Catherine Beyer, 133 Spencer Ave., Indianapolis.

EGGLESS CAKE

One cup sugar, 1 cup sweet milk, 2 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon of any flavoring extract. Beat all together until very light, then add 5 tablespoons of melted butter and stir thoroughly. Put in buttered pan and bake in a quick oven. Use your favorite icing.

Miss Edith Kouns, R. R. 30, Zionsville, Ind.

PORK CHOPS A LA ROSE

Place six pork chops in roaster. Place a tablespoon of uncooked rice on each chop. Place one slice of onion on each. Over all pour carefully one can of tomato soup. Season with salt and pepper. Bake two hours in slow oven.

Mrs. R. J. Suesy, 2622 E. Eleventh St., Indianapolis.

FLEXIBLE SALAD

Equal parts of head lettuce, chopped celery, walnuts, tomatoes and pimiento cheese cut in squares and cucumbers when in season. Omitting any one of the above ingredients will not spoil the salad.

Dressing: Put one-half cup sugar, two tablespoons flour, salt, pepper and pinch of mustard into a sauce pan. Add two beaten eggs. Put over slow fire and add one cup vinegar, gradually stirring until it thickens. Before serving thin dressing with sour or sweet cream.

Mrs. E. H. Schmidt, 112 N. Denny St., Indianapolis.

QUICK COFFEE CAKE

Two cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt, one-half cup sugar, three tablespoons shortening, one egg, one-half cup sweet milk. Sift sugar, baking powder, flour and salt. Beat egg, add milk and shortening and gradually the sifted materials. Then sprinkle top well with brown sugar and cinnamon. Bake forty minutes.

Evelyn Jane Miller, Fillmore, Ind.

TIMES PROGRAM PROVIDES JOY FOR CHRISTMAS

Singers of Traditional Carols

Bring Cheer to Many Homes.

Twenty-two girls, ranging in years from eight to fourteen, under the organization title of the Ogden Junior Chorus, made themselves great favorites on the Times radio program, Friday night over WFEM.

The chorus had the services of Louise Waldorf, violin; Mary Ann Ogden, cello, and Carol Mayborn, piano, as a string trio.

These singers gave a program of traditional carols and many telephone reports showed the singers brought Christmas joy into many homes.

The Fav. L. C. E. Fackler, pastor of St. Matthew Evangelical Lutheran Church, gave a Christmas prayer following the playing of "Silent Night" by the Indianapolis Ladies. The Larks with the assistance of Pete Baskerville, soloist, and George Jaeger, pianist, gave another one of their fine programs.

The firemen members of the Larks tipped off the announcer, Carl Fohl, that Jaeger, pianist of the Larks, was married last August to Miss Vivian Brown at Louisville, Ky., and had kept it secret. Soon the secret was known to the world as Fohl broadcast the news.

Miss Thema Haugh, soloist, and Mrs. Rose Evans, piano, provided Lucretia Kenzie of the Irvington school faculty sang two solos. There were so many requests she agreed to come before the microphone on another program.

Mrs. Soleta H. Morris, a singer and player of blues songs as well as the classic, gave two marvelous groups on the Baldwin Grand. Her success was one of the greatest so far on any Times' program. Her radio name is "Versatile Soleta."

DECORATIONS BURNED

Short Circuit Causes Fire in Hotel Room.

Fire that resulted from a short circuit in a light socket burned Christmas decorations in room 19 at the Palace Hotel occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mullin and caused a loss of $25. It was put out with a hand extinguisher.

William Willman, 107 W. North St., while thawing out frozen water pipes with a candle, set an oil mop afire. Resulting flames caused a small loss.
