

SUPER EINSTEIN THEORY IS SEEN BY SCIENTIST

Views of Experts at Association Meeting Sharply Conflict.

By David C. Ditz.
(Written for the United Press Association.)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 30.—The world is on the threshold of a super Einstein theory—a theory that will prove as startling and dazzling in comparison to the Einstein as that theory did in comparison to previously accepted views.

This statement was made today by Dr. Charles E. St. John, astronomer of the Mt. Wilson observatory, one of the world's greatest authorities on the Einstein theory.

Dr. Dayton C. Miller of Cleveland, president of the American Physical Society, threw a bombshell into the scientific world when he announced at yesterday's session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, that his experiments disproved the first half of the Einstein theory.

A second bombshell was exploded at today's session of the association when Dr. St. John announced that experiments which he had been conducting also at Mt. Wilson at the same time that Dr. Miller was working there, gave results in strict accord with the Einstein theory, and

SHANK URGES MERIT SYSTEM FOR POLICE

Mayor Cites Advantages Cleveland Obtains Under City Manager Form of Government.

Adoption of the system of police supervision now in effect in Cleveland would improve the Indianapolis force, Mayor Shank said today.

Cleveland is ruled by the city manager form of government.

"Why, in Cleveland, they promote cops because they are efficient, not because they have a political drag," Shank said. "The boys on the beats know that some day they have a chance to sit at the desk and achieve the promotion they merit."

"Naturally, they spend more of their time enforcing the law than building up a political standing."

"There are a lot of good executives on the Indianapolis force that will never have a chance because they haven't the political standing.

Those fellows are the ones merit system would do justice to."

therefore tended to uphold the two men, despite their differences on the Einstein theory, are close friends—were asked how they were going to reconcile the wide differences in the results of their experiments.

"I don't believe that the results can be reconciled either on the basis of the Einstein theory or by throwing the theory overboard," Dr. St. John replied.

"I believe that the solution will come in a new theory which will start with the Einstein theory and go farther. There is no reason for believing the Einstein theory is the final thing in the conception of the universe."

GROCER IS NOT
AWED BY GUN

Chases Bandits Out With Meat Cleaver.

The barrel of a revolver did not look so menacing to Lee H. Cooley, grocer, at 1533 Craft St., Tuesday night, so today he has his money and a bullet wound in the arm. The two colored bandits who attempted the hold-up are at large.

Cooley said he felt the men were bandits when they entered. One asked for a box of breakfast food and Cooley raised it in the air to throw it at the man. A bullet from the bandits gun struck a pair of scales and probably saved Cooley's life.

"I stooped for a club under the counter and as I raised up a shot struck my arm from the fleeing bandits gun," Cooley said.

Cooley next grabbed a meat cleaver as the bandits disappeared down an alley.
