4 MAJOR GOLF TITLES CHANGED HANDS IN '25

Same Number of Links Crowns Retained by Champions

NEW YORK, Jan. 2—Four of the major golf titles changed hands during a most successful season in 1925 and the other four championships remained in the same hands. Bobby Jones, perhaps the most outstanding American golfer of the season, won the national amateur championship for the second successive year and forced Willie McFarlane into a play-off in the national open.

In beating Jones in the "open," McFarlane succeeded Cyril Walker as the American champion.

Miss Glenna Collett, 1922 American woman champion, staged one of the most pleasing comebacks of the season and won back the title held in 1924 by Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd.

Barnes Unseats Hagen

Jim Barnes contributed further to American prestige in foreign competition when he won the classic British open championship and replaced Walter Hagen, the brilliant American, who carried off the 1924 honors.

Robert Harris became a new champion when he succeeded E. W. E. Holderness as the British amateur champion. Walter Hagen, considered by many qualified critics to be the greatest money player in the world, retained his championship by winning the P. G. A. title.

Miss Joyce Wethered, who was declared by Glenna Collett as the finest woman golfer in the world, retained the British woman's title that she won in 1924.

Because of the heavy expenses involved there were no Walker Cup matches in 1925, but the series between the British and American amateur teams are to be resumed in 1926.

Radical improvement in the college game was observed and the class has been lifted to such a prominent place by the number and ability of the competitors that it had almost a major national rating.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2—Willie Hearn, New York lightweight, stopped Nat Goldstein, Philadelphia, in the first round Friday. Goldstein fell when he arose from his chair for the second round and was counted out.

Tommy Freeman stopped Sammy Baker in the seventh round when the referee ended the bout.

"Crashers" Battle; Fireman Hurt

By Times Special

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 2—Approximately 50,000 persons gathered here Friday to watch the Alabama and Washington elevens clash in annual Tournament of Roses sectional football classic.

Every seat in the big saucer of roses was filled, with thousands of "dead-heads" waiting outside of a screened railing for a chance to crash the gates.

Several platoons of Pasadena's fire department were called to aid police in keeping back the milling section.

The fire fighters brought several hundred yards of hose into play and turned a stream of water on the mob to keep it back. Several members of the crowd retaliated with a shower of rocks. One of the missiles struck Fireman C. C. Johnson on the head, injuring him seriously.

ODD FELLOWS' LEAGUE

Three games will be played in the Marion County Odd Fellows' League tonight at the Second Baptist gym, Fletcher Ave. and Noble St., Irvington meeting Valley Mills in the first game at 7 o'clock; Beech Grove playing Southport in the second and Harris locking horns with Southeastern in the last.

Harris and Southeastern teams are undefeated and their clash to night is expected to be a thriller.

CATHEDRAL VS. ALUMNI

The Cathedral High School baseball team will play the Alumni tonight at K. C. auditorium at 8. The grad outfit is in charge of Mark Mooney. The alumni line-up will be Hesling and Kelly, forwards; O'Connor, center; Dougherty and Royce, guards. Costello and Frank Mooney also will get into the game.

Two-One-Point Victories

By Times Special

LEBANON, Ind., Jan. 2—The new year started out wrong here Friday night when Frankfort High School defeated Lebanon, 34 to 33, and the visiting second team beat the local reserves, 32 to 31, in two overtime periods. Two points was Frankfort's total margin of victory in two games.

R. C. RING RESULTS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 2—Bud Hamilton, Denver lightweight, took a ten-round beating from Ever Hamer in the feature bout of a New Year's card.

Pat Corbett, Hutchinson, Kan., outpointed the veteran Harvey Thorpe of Kansas City, and Spider Kelley shaded Jack Barry in the curtain-raiser.

North Side and East Side Netters Clash Tonight— Green Slight Favorite.

The first important "city series" public high school basketball game will be played tonight at the auto show building, State fairground, by Shortridge and Technical. The main contest will start at 8:15, with a curtain-raiser between Tech and Shortridge seconds at 7:15.

Both clubs have been practicing through the vacation period for the scrap and are reported in good shape. Local dopesters favor the Green and White to win. The edge is only slight, however, and the struggle is likely to be fairly close.

Tech and Shortridge worked out at the fairground floor on Friday to accustom themselves to the strange conditions. The Blue and White team was out in the morning, and Coach Mueller had his charges at work in the afternoon.

Coach Burton of Shortridge likely will start McNaught and Woods at forward, Anderson at center and Christopher and Halt at guard.

The Tech line-up is more uncertain. Massey and Hickman seem the better bets at forward. Almost every game a different player is started at center. It may be Thompson tonight. Denman and Stevenson are others very likely to see action. Glunt seems assured of the back guard berth, but his running is more or less of a guess. Babcock, Balay and Sawin are ready.

Yale adopted the Rickard Garden as its home rink and about twenty-five other college games have been scheduled for the season. The amateur players also revived a league that passed out of existence several years ago because of the lack of suitable rinks.

Rickard's influence, felt in the presence of a $5,000,000 structure that can provide sufficient space for anything but an automobile race, was felt late in the year, and it no doubt will boom every class of sport in 1926.

Because of the heavy expenses involved there were no Walker Cup matches in 1925, but the series between the British and American amateur teams are to be resumed in 1926.
