

PRICE CUTS ARE CHIEF TOPIC AT N. Y. AUTO SHOW

Large Reductions Among Fours Result in Confusion.

By Times Special
NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—With the New York Automobile show in full swing, the usual interest in motor and chassis improvements has been relegated to second place by uncertainty over immediate price trends.

Large reductions have been made recently, principally among four cylinder cars, which have resulted in confusion over the industry's price policy. Dodge Brothers took the leadership with reduction of $60 to $180 on various models. Chrysler cut its fours $50 to $110 and Chevrolet from $15 to $50. The two other largest producers in the four-cylinder field are Ford and Willys-Overland.

Ever since Ford electrified the industry during the post-war depression with large price cuts, when other companies were considering increases, his price policy has been of paramount interest. Speculation over that policy in view of his apparent reluctance to follow price cuts of other companies is the main topic of discussion. Another factor is the increasing competition in the four-cylinder field, due to the greater production of cheap sixes.

Meanwhile, Stutz and Marmon, Indianapolis cars, are the talk of the show. Both companies report exceptional business.

CAN PRESENT VIEWS

Indiana Will Have Say on Long and Short Haul Bill.

Indiana will have an opportunity to present its views on the Gooding long and short haul bill at the hearing Jan. 18-20 before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, R. B. Coapstick, manager of the freight and traffic department of the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce, said today. Through Senator James H. Watson, arrangements have been made for Indiana to have twenty minutes at the hearing.

The bill provides that through railroad hauls west to the coast must cost more than the shorter haul in intermountain territory. The State chamber is opposed to the bill. Coapstick said. Panama Canal competition keeps the long haul cost down.
