

468 STUDENTS AT I. U. BARRED BY POOR GRADES

Scholastic Mortality at State University Is In- creasing.

By Times Special
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Feb. 12.—Increasing scholastic mortality is disclosed from the records of final examinations at Indiana University. A total of 468 students either have been refused readmission for the second semester or have been allowed to re-enter on probation. The enrollment here during the first semester was approximately 3,200 and does not account for some 800 students in the medical, dental, and nursing training schools and the social service department at Indianapolis. The percentage of scholastic deficiencies at Indianapolis was small in comparison, in view of the fact that the work there is largely of an advanced nature. About 50 per cent of the failures at Bloomington were among the ranks of the freshmen.

Requirements Higher
Scholastic requirements at Indiana University have been on the up-grade, especially during the last two years, when it has been found necessary to turn away approximately 500 applicants for admission each year on account of overcrowded conditions. The failures have been correspondingly large in number, it is pointed out by University officials, increasing approximately 10 per cent this year over last year for new students.

Dr. C. E. Edmondson, dean of men, stated that all high school graduates must be admitted to the State university under the law, as long as these graduates fulfill the entrance requirements and as long as there is room in the University to receive them. The fact that many students are unable to get in on account of shortage of room and teaching facilities, he said, makes it imperative that those who are admitted make the most of their opportunity.

High Cost
"Due to the high cost of education," Dr. Edmondson explained, "we feel that we must eliminate students, who do not take advantage of their opportunity. Particularly is this true under the present shortage of teaching facilities at Indiana University."

A total of 148 men and eight women failed to get back for the Uni-

FRIEND RELIEVES BOY'S SUFFERING

"My little boy has had trouble with his bronchial tubes since he was three. We tried all kinds of cough syrups and medicines, without any relief. For ten weeks he was down, didn't get a night's sleep due to his cough. A friend gave me a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and that night, after taking Foley's Honey and Tar, he slept all night." writes Mrs. Ruth Willard, 1824 Kappes Street, Indianapolis, Ind.
