

STATEMENTS OF BREWERS UPON BEER ASSAILED

Local W. C. T. U. Workers Say Attempt Is Being Made to Fool Public.

Local Women's Christian Temperance Union workers attacked today strenuously statements of brewers that the 3.75 per cent "tonic beer," authorized to be sold in drug stores, would not make a good beverage. Sale of such beer will be allowed, Prohibition Enforcement Director Lincoln C. Andrews has said.

"Plain bunk—such a statement, and merely an attempt to fool the public," declared Mrs. W. W. Reedy, 1332 Bellefontaine St., chairman of the Christian citizenship department of the Marion County W. C. T. U. The statement to which she referred was made by George Mills, secretary of the Anheuser-Busch Company in St. Louis, and by Fred Pabst Sr. of the Pabst Brewery of Milwaukee. They both declared that the "beer tonic" could bring little cheer to the arid-beer drinkers of the country because "the heavier solid content of the beer makes the drink impossible as a beverage."

Opening Wedge

"That is just an attempt to make an opening wedge," Mrs. Reedy declared. "It is the camel's nose poking under the tent. Why, if this should go through, new drug stores would spring up everywhere, and these drug stores would sell their drugs below cost because they would really be drink shops."

Letter Sent

Mrs. Edward Franklin White, reporter of the Indiana Supreme and Appellate Courts, addressed a letter of indignation to Andrews. This announcement comes not only as a surprise but as a shock, in view of the terms and provisions of the Volstead act which still stands on our books unrepelled," Mrs. White wrote.

"The content required of 25 per cent malt does not reduce the percentage of alcohol, nor take away its character as a beverage. Even if it were regarded as a medicine surely it would still be the prohibited class defined in Section 1 of the Volstead law. . . . If manufacturers do not keep the law, why appear to place dependence on their keeping of their promises?"

ARGUE SCHOOL SITE QUESTION

and that the temporary restraining order against the board be dissolved. The order prevents the board from taking any action on the school board site matter.

Hugg contended that the complaint filed shows there was not an emergency that would warrant the issuance of a restraining order. He continued his arguments by citing the allegations in his motion to strike out parts of the complaint.

"The board has acted in conformity with the law in regard to the issuance of bonds. Any remonstrance against the bonds should be taken up with the State tax board," he stated, referring to protests on bond issue for buying the Forty-Sixth St. site.

Right to Change

"The location of a new school site is primarily and legally vested in the school board. The board has a perfect right to change its mind and term unwise any action it has taken before."

Hugg also argued against the complaint allegation that the board had no right to take money from the special school fund for purchase of the new school site, and that the board would not be violating the city's zoning ordinance by locating the school on the Forty-Sixth St. site.

"The board has powers within its own sphere that cannot be invaded by city authorities, or by any other power," Hugg stated.

To Set Date

Following hearing of Hugg's motions and action of the court a date for the trial for the permanent injunction was to be set.

William Bosson, Merle N. A. Walker and Emsley W. Johnson, attorneys, were to represent the association in defending its complaint. Petition of the association set out eight reasons why the school should be located at Thirty-Fourth and Meridian Sts. and alleged the board violated the law by taking action to buy property without any budget provision.

Complaint also alleged that through a tentative agreement with the State tax board the bond issue for the school has been approved, provided that the new Shortridge be erected on Thirty-Fourth St.

Brought Up at Meeting

At the school board meeting Tuesday night, the most peaceful since the new majority faction has taken office, the Shortridge situation was brought up as "new business."

Board President Theodore Vonnegut said Hugg had advised no action be taken while the court matters were pending.

"I don't think there will be any danger of illegality or court contempt if we took some action," Majority Faction Member Charles W. Kern said. "We've advanced the Shortridge situation as far as we can and any delay is not our fault."

Majority faction members are taking the stand that they attempted to have a new school built immediately.

During the early part of the meeting Negroes, who are patrons of School 21, Twenty-Fifth and Rader Sts., asked the board to retain that site instead of moving the school to a new site at Northwest Ave. and Fall Creek Blvd.

"We don't want to get into this site situation because we might be accused again of constructive fraud," Kern remarked.

Victory Won

Assistant Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds Carl W. Euton won a triple victory over his superior, Jacob H. Hillene, buildings and grounds superintendent, when the board approved three items of Euton's report rather than placing them in the hands of the buildings and grounds committee and Hillene, as recommended by Hillene.

The items were expenditures of $11,382 for playground repairs, exterior painting of nine grade schools and expenditure of $20,387.71 for lighting fixtures and electric wiring in grade schools.

Board dismissed Edward Summer, custodian at School 10; Oliver P. Hayslett, custodian at Manual Training High School and John Peters, a storehouse helper.

Name of the Thomas Jefferson High School, Negro high school being erected at Twelfth and West Sts., was changed to Crispus Attucks, after the first Negro shot in the Revolution War.

This is the third name the building has had. It was first Theodore Roosevelt, then Jefferson.

Object to Architect

A letter was received by the board from Esler & Burns, original archi-tests for School 42, in which the firm objected to Vonnegut, Bohn & Mueller being selected as architects. Board was restrained by a case in the Hancock Circuit Court from selecting architects for six grade schools. The board, on recommendation of Hugg, at the last regular meeting rescinded the original contracts and let new ones.

Venue of the suit was changed to the Hancock County Court from Marion County. It was filed here by K. K. Wark, employee of Frank Woolling, real estate man, who holds options on the Forty-Sixth St. site which the board wants to buy for Shortridge.

Buchanan ordered property owners to protect passersby by making repairs as soon as possible. Police roped off danger lines.

High wind blew out a large plate glass window at the Selig Dry Goods Co., 20 W. Washington St. No one was injured.

The center of the storm was in Northern Indiana, where snowfall was heavy. It was said, while December, in the southwest portion of the State had one and five-tenths inches of snow. To the west, in Illinois, Kansas and Missouri, snow also was heavy. Kansas City reported twelve inches.

All in all, March has been an up and down month for Indianapolis. The month started out with sunshine, but before the end of the first day rain, snow and falling temperature had struck the city. Normal temperature has been about 35 degrees, 4 degrees below normal, while rainfall of 2.31 inches, was below the normal of 4 inches. The highest temperature was 74 on the 24th and the lowest was 10 on the 8th.

TWELVE DEAD IN STORM

Entire Middle Western Region Blanketed With Snow.

By United Press CHICAGO, March 31.—The Middle West today continued in the grip of an unseasonable blizzard, which already has resulted in eight lives lost and a score of accidents. The storm swept into the Southwest as well. Four were reported dead in Texas. Three persons were killed in Chicago in accidents while four were killed in Wisconsin, owing to the blinding snow, which prevented clear vision while motoring.

The entire midwestern region from the mountains to the Ohio, and from the lakes south today is blanketed with snow and there will be no relief for the next twenty-four hours, the weather bureau reported. Snowfall in the region during the snow twenty-four hours ranged between four and seven inches.

In Chicago today the driving snow-storm had changed to rain.

Trains are delayed by the snow which has reached 5 1/2 inches here. The three persons killed here were in motor car accidents. In addition two trains crashed Tuesday night, injuring a score of passengers, but none seriously.

In down State Illinois, the snow is reported as heavy as six inches, with the worst of the storm centering about Quincy, Ill.

Wisconsin and Minnesota also reported heavy snowfalls.

Trains were reported stalled by snow in Oklahoma, with two relief trains sent to the aid of a passenger train near Foraker, Okla.

Ten inches of snow fell in western Missouri, the heaviest this year. One hundred cars were reported stalled near Junction City, Kan.

"SATISFIED WITH BLACK-DRAUGHT"

Georgia Merchant Tells of Many Years' Experience in Use of Well-Known Vegetable Medicine.

"I heard Black-Draught praised continually," says Mr. H. A. Hardy, a merchant near Statam, Ga., "so what was more natural than that when I was feeling all down and out one day, I decided to try it. I had a headache. My eyes burned and my mouth had a bad taste. I felt tight in my chest and my back ached. When I would stoop over I felt dizzy.

"I took a couple of doses of Black-Draught and I felt like a different person. My head seemed to just clear up. I was hungry and felt like getting out to my work.

"For years I have kept Black-Draught and when I feel the need of a laxative, I take it at night. When I feel like my food isn't digesting just right, I take it after meals. I have recommended it to others and have been told that it helped them.

"I haven't used any other medicine for years, as I am satisfied with Black-Draught."

"Satisfied with Black-Draught"—thousands of people say the same thing by their continuous use of this well-known vegetable laxative medicine.

Theodore's Black-Draught is no new-fangled "cure-all." Experimental medicines may come and go, but Black-Draught has been on the market for over 50 years with steadily-increasing popularity. Your druggist sells it.—Advertisement.

TO ELIMINATE MONOXIDE GAS FROM ENGINES

By NEA Service

NEW YORK, March 31.—Carbon monoxide, the greatest poison involved in automobile operation, will be conquered by research, following the investigation by science which resulted in bringing ethyl gasoline again into use, asserts Dr. Harrison E. Howe, editor of the journal of the American Chemical Society.

Employment of tetraethyl lead, which enters into the ethyl fluid, will stimulate scientific inquiry into motors, according to Dr. Howe, so as "eventually to abolish carbon monoxide through perfect combustion."

Dr. Howe, whose findings as to ethyl fluid of more than a year ago have been borne out by the report of the conference of the United States Public Health Service, sees a triumph for both industry and public safety in the work of the investigating committee named by Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming.

"The net result of the efforts of these scientists," Dr. Howe says, "will be not only the ultimate conquest of carbon monoxide, but also an advance in automobile design, a closer union of chemistry and industry, better conditions in garages and shops and a field of greater usefulness for the government in safeguarding public health."

"The ethyl gasoline investigation was carried on with public health funds available only at considerable sacrifice to other investigations. If the ethyl gasoline study is to be continued as it should be and if, under its able authority, the Public Health Service is to conduct investigations along other lines effecting hazards in industry and public health, adequate provision must be made in the budget."
