Special Prosecutor Urges Freedom in Letter.

Friends of former Governor Warren T. McCray were encouraged today in attempts to secure his parole from Atlanta Federal Penitentiary by the stand taken by Eph Inman, who aided in the Criminal Court trial of McCray previous to his conviction for using the mails to defraud in Federal Court.

In a letter to President Coolidge, Inman urged a pardon on the grounds that "McCray's punishment already is more than ample."

Inman represented to the President that this was the general feeling of Hoosiers.

Inman was appointed special assistant prosecutor by Criminal Court in McCray's trial of the charge of embezzling $155,000 of State board of agriculture funds. The jury disagreed.

The board next week will receive bids on the Raymond St. sewer extending from State to Keystone Aves., a $91,000 project.

Fear of the law must have crept into the heart of the "meanest man in the world," says the postmaster of Pendleton. A white collie dog was thrown from a passing automobile by an owner, who did not care to pay taxes on the animal. The dog crept under the porch of the postoffice and gave birth to a litter of pups. Homes have been found for all of the dogs by the postmaster.

Puzzle a Day

Mrs. Daley was selling all her golden bantam eggs to hatcheries. She was getting high prices for them and rarely saved any for her family to eat. Two days before Easter she discovered there were no eggs or dyes in the house for the usual batch of Easter eggs. In great excitement, she sent this note to her sister: "Ple asesa vet wel ved yede aste reg gsf orn yeh idlr enlha ves ol dallmi ne." Although the note contained all the necessary letters, she jumbled the words in such a peculiar fashion that her sister could not read it.

Can you do it for her?

Last puzzle answer:

The full stairs is made up of nineteen steps. The puzzle told you the captain went five steps at a time and the diagram showed that he reduced this pace to four steps for the last few steps. In the same way you discover that the sergeant went four steps at a time, and finished with only three steps, and the policeman went three steps and finished with one step. If you start with the smallest multiples of 5 minus 1 that is (4, 9, 14 etc.) and see which one fulfills the conditions of the puzzle you will very quickly discover the answer. Other answers are possible but are too large to be applied to steps. 19 divided by 5 equals 3 4/5; 19 divided by 4 equals 4 3/4; 19 divided by 3 equals 6 1/3.
