INDIANAPOLIS MAN INDORSES THE KONJOLA

"It Is Wonderful," He Says; Relieved Stomach,
Kidney and Liver
Disorders.

"I am glad to indorse this new Konjola medicine to the public, because it has completely relieved my stomach, kidney and liver troubles, and I think it is wonderful," said Mr. Albert Bryant, well-known Indianapolis citizen, living at 123 South Noble Street, this city, while talking just a few days ago with The Konjola Man, who is at Hook's drug store, corner Pennsylvania and Market Streets, Indianapolis, where he is introducing and explaining this celebrated Konjola compound to large crowds of people throughout each day.

MR. ALBERT BRYANT

"I had been troubled with my stomach for a long time," said Mr. Bryant. "I wasn't able to eat, and in fact, my appetite had almost gone completely. When I ate only the very lightest kind of foods, my stomach would hurt and pain me afterward. Instead of digesting, it seemed that what I ate would lodge in the pit of my stomach and there my food would actually seem to ferment and form large quantities of gas, making a tight feeling in my throat and chest."

"I also suffered from disordered, sluggish kidneys and my liver seemed to be torpid and inactive. The pains over my kidneys and across my back were the cause of almost constant suffering. If I attempted to bend over or stand erect after sitting down a while, the pains would become severe and almost drive me frantic. My rest was broken up every night. Instead of sleeping, I would just roll and toss from one side of the bed to the other. Each morning I would awake with a very aching feeling across my back, and of course, I never felt fit for a day's work. The whole truth is that I was in a terrible state of health, and I had become discouraged, for nothing seemed to reach my trouble."

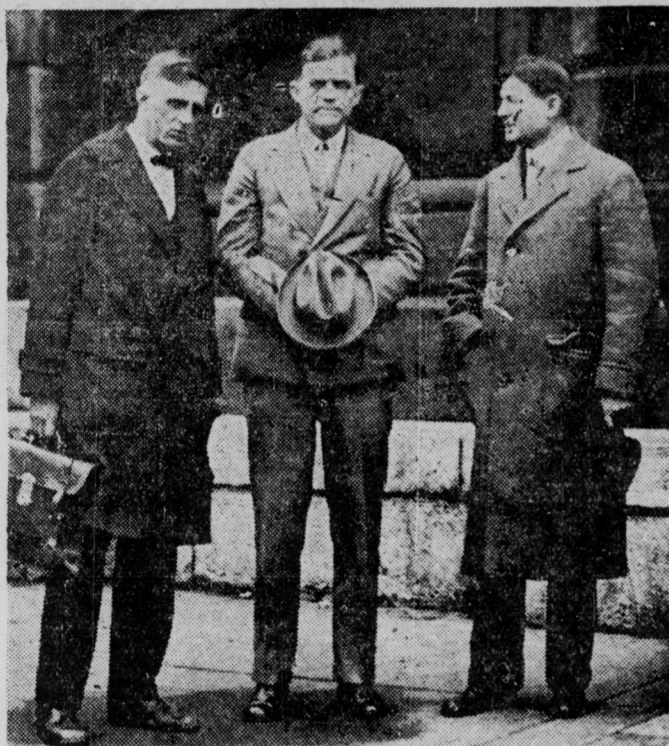

"Well, I began to take the Konjola, and I was surely surprised at the quick way in which this medicine helped me. I never had any idea that two bottles of any medicine would so completely relieve all of my suffering. For several nights I have been sleeping like a child, and I kept improving more and more each day that I continued taking Konjola, until now I am feeling like a different man in every way. My stomach is improved so that I can eat a good, hearty meal without suffering afterward. My food doesn't ferment or form into a lump in my stomach any more, nor do I have the pains I used to. That tight feeling has disappeared from my throat and chest. My liver has been invigorated and my kidneys are strengthened so that the back aches don't bother me any more. I can bend over and straighten up without pains of any kind. I rest so good every night that I feel wonderful in the morning, and I don't have that stiff, aching feeling across my back at all."

"This is the first time that I have been out of misery for many a day, and I owe it all to your Konjola, and so I gladly indorse this medicine to the public."

The Konjola Man is at Hook's drug store, corner Pennsylvania and Market Streets (the busy downtown section of Indianapolis and the easiest to get to), where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

Konjola is for sale at all Hook's drug stores throughout the shipping district of Indianapolis.—Advertisement.

MORE HAY, BUT FEW HORSES TO EAT IT

There is plenty of hay in Indiana, 41 per cent more in fact, than five years ago, Department of Agriculture and Purdue University agricultural experiment station reported today.

In an Indiana livestock summary for 1925, it was shown that hay acreage has increased 17 per cent in the last five years, making available for each hay-eating animal 41 per cent more hay, but that 717,000 horses in the State in 1920 have dwindled to 527,000 horses this year, a drop of 190,000. Value of the horses has dropped from $75,301,000 in 1920 to $41,106,000 this year.

The mules must be eating the hay, it was pointed out, inferentially, for the number of mules, 100,000 in 1920, worth $12,315,000, jumped to 101,000 this year. They were worth only $8,736,000, however, it was estimated.

The Marion County horse total dropped off more than 1,000 in the last three years. In 1923 there were 2,648 horses in the county, but the 1925 horse census takers found only 1,600. The mule total dropped from 406 to 243.

The milk cows held their own in the county, gaining about 500. The figures: 1920, 2,210; 1925, 2,789. The total number of cattle in the county dropped from 6,444 to 3,376; the sheep from 1,307 to 949; the swine from 8,870 to 8,604.

Poultry in the county jumped from 1,350 dozen to 3,713 dozen.
