

CHURCH WARNED TO KEEP OUT OF POLITICS TODAY

Episcopal Bishop of New York Writes His Opinions.

Bishop Charles Fiske of the Episcopal Diocese of Central New York has come out with the declaration that the church should keep out of politics, that it should be a moral teacher, not a moral policeman, and that it has no right to pledge any of its members on the prohibition question by legislation or resolution.

He insists that moral reform, if it is to be permanent and effective, must come from within and cannot be imposed from without.

"The supreme sin of modern Phariseism," he writes in an article in the current issue of Harper's Magazine, "is the sin of dependence upon the civil arm for the regulation of morals. The Pharisees were the good people of their day—only they were so sure of their goodness, and so convinced of the worth of their regulatory system that they enforced it on others, and in doing so became hardened in self-righteousness."

Dealing frankly with the Eighteenth Amendment and the prohibition question, Bishop Fiske charges that in the prohibition campaign the churches "became party organizations, led by skilled ecclesiastical politicians, and condoning practices quite as objectionable as any indulged in by politicians of the common or garden variety."

The Amendment
"The result was the Eighteenth Amendment—welcomed in some sections of the country, received in astonishment in others, fostered upon not a few States, and even where favorable sentiment was strongest accepted because it was supposed to be the only possible method of curbing the power of the saloon."

"It is needless to argue about its good results or its bad effects. Much may be said on both sides. Much that has been said is the voice of partisan opinion. The one point I would make is this: That the whole subject should be reconsidered in the light of experience, with the grace of Christian sincerity and in conscientious desire to decide charitably without bigotry or bias.

"Because the problem we wish to solve is a problem of civil authority, good Christians may hold widely differing views as to the wisdom of recent legislation—and be good Christians still."

Asks for Room
Bishop Fiske then claims that there should be room in the church for those who feel that the Volstead act is a lie and a tyrannical piece of legislation, or who for other reasons oppose the prohibition laws.

The churches, concludes Bishop Fiske, "must be called back to their real duty—which is the supplying of the spiritual dynamic that shall make men strong enough and brave enough to follow the path of truth and right, no matter where it may lead or what it may cost."

"Above all else, the clear call comes to American Protestants of today to exercise their Christian citizenship in a spirit of gracious liberality and sympathetic understanding of those who cannot see with them, eye to eye.

"I may not read aright the thoughts of those who are outside the Christian fold, but my impression is that they are becoming hardened in an opposition to organized Christianity by the feeling that it does not really represent the spirit of the Master.

"They were once outside because they were doubtful or questioning. They are now determined to stay outside because they find the methods of Protestant Christianity distasteful and repellent."

COMMENTS BURBANK
Pastor Says Plans Wiser Was Profoundly Religious.

The religious views of Luther Burbank were commended Sunday in an address by the Rev. Frank S. C. Wicks, pastor of All Souls Unitarian Church. Although Mr. Burbank was not orthodox in his views, he was profoundly religious, Dr. Wicks said.

"He called himself an infidel in the sense that Jesus was an infidel, rejecting the current religious notions," said Dr. Wicks. "As to a future life, he said that he did not know. At the worst he sleeps peacefully in the bosom of the nature he loved; at the best, his life has gone on doing there what he did here making new deers blossom as the rose," Dr. Wicks said.

RELIGION DEFENDED
Candidate Talks on Qualifications for Educators.

Schools should not tolerate instructors who attack religion in the name of science, asserted Sumner A. Clancy, Republican candidate for State Senator from Marion County, Sunday before the Bible classes of Fountain Square Christian Church.

No professor, however brilliant, who has lost his religion in the maze of modern knowledge, has any place in the educational system of a Christian nation, Clancy said.

Local Cleaners Report 10
Per Cent Jump
So Far.

The opening of spring weather has brought on the beginning of the "busy season" for Gregg & Sons, Inc., Indianapolis, cleaners, and plans have been made for the busiest season the firm has ever had.

Already a 10 per cent increase over the business this time last year has been reported. The plant, located at 1004 Madison Ave., has been overhauled, equipment carefully inspected to make sure that everything is in readiness to cope with the demands made by Indianapolis housewives in their spring cleaning campaign.

Well-Known Firm

With eighty employees on the payroll, the firm is one of the best known in Indiana. For seventeen years Gregg & Sons have been engaged in business in Indianapolis, and the business has grown from an acorn-like concern to one of the most modern equipped plants in the country. Recently the plant was enlarged to handle the increase in business.

In conjunction with the "Clean Up, Paint Up" campaign, Gregg & Sons, Inc., have had a large part of the work of cleaning rugs, clothing, etc.

Four Branches

Four branches have been established by the firm of 2265 N. Meridian St., 302 N. East St., 126 Monument Circle and 3610 College Ave. An efficient corps of delivery trucks are maintained to make collections and deliveries of cleaned goods.

A careful study is made by the firm of the various fabrics to be cleaned. Special attention is given to each piece received for cleaning in order to do a first-rate job. Each employee is carefully trained in the
