

ALLING-LINDLEY MARRIAGE RITES READ AT CHURCH

Exception Held at Home of Bride—Leave on Motor Trip.

Before an altar banked with lilies, palms and ferns, Miss Marjorie May Alling, 2600 Ruckle St., was married to Morris D. Lindley at the Memorial Presbyterian Church, Wednesday evening. The ceremony was pronounced by the Rev. William H. Kendall, while the organist, Mrs. Kendall and Miss Allen Hope, soloist, played "At Dawning."

The bride, lovely in a gown of imported cream Indian silk with a long bodice and very full skirt with girde of lace, wore a veil arranged in a fan shape, caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

She was given in marriage by her uncle, Charles Alling of Chicago, and attendant was Miss Bertha Baker, Alling of Lake Forest, Ill., who wore pale green georgette, made with all skirt and wide lace girde. The best man was Myron Moore of Indianapolis. Ushers were Kenneth Lann, Paul Gochenour, Edward Primes, Henry Hollenbeck, Floyd church and Willard Johns.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Lindley left immediately on a motor trip through the south. On their return they will be temporarily at the home of the bride's mother, 2600 Ruckle St.

POPULARITY IS RESULT OF REAL FRIENDLINESS

"Make me wonderfully popular and run after by five this afternoon." That is what the Kangaroo asked the great dog Nquong to do for him in Kipling's Jungle Tales for children.

But his naive wish is one that most of us grown-ups have. And there are lots of letters from very human young "Kangaroos" right here in Indianapolis! They all want to be popular and "run after," but they don't know how to bring the miracle to pass. We long for friends and wonder why we don't have more of them. "If only I had a wonderful house to entertain in," sighs the maid, or "if only I had a beautiful house today. But beauty alone never brought a girl popularity any more than a beautiful house brought real friends. The rare person who has a smile in his eyes and a word of welcome on his lips will find there are ever so many people ready to be friendly with him. Most of the faces we see in gatherings of human beings are frozen with shyness and reserve. The one that shines with friendliness is the happy exception. For most of us are shy and always waiting for the other fellow to make the first advances, speak first, invite first, instead of meeting friends half-way.

Unpopular

Dear Miss Lee: I wonder if you could tell me why I never have more than one friend. I don't know why, though. I am said to be good-looking and I dress pretty well. I had a date about two months ago with some fellow, but he never has asked me for more. I wish I were almost every day. What should I do so that I could ask men for dates? What should I do and say when on a date?

PAT.

Perhaps you have not that gift of friendship that warms a fellow up but keeps him in his place. To be sweet, charming, friendly, a half-way, without overstepping into the realm of forwardness is really a good habit to get into. Try out your friendly methods on the girl friends you have and make an art of drawing both girl and boy friends to you. When the weather topic gives out entirely, there's always a safe subject in to talk about—himself. It seldom fails to interest him. With spring in the wind and summer coming on apace, he's doubtless planning an outing, or going over his canoe or his tennis things, or has some sport or activity that he's intensely interested in that he might talk to you about.

Makes Fat People Slim

New York Physician Perfects Simple and Easy Method of Reducing Weight.

Dr. R. Newman, a licensed practicing physician, of 286 Fifth Avenue, New York, announces that he has perfected a treatment which has quickly rid fat people of excess weight. What is more remarkable is the Doctor's statement that he has successfully treated thousands of patients for fat reduction without unnecessary change of diet or burdensome exercise. He also says that fat people who suffer from chronic rheumatism and gout obtain great relief from the reduction of their superfluous flesh. Realizing that this sounds almost too good to be true, the Doctor has offered to send without charge, to any one who will write him, a free trial treatment to prove his claims, as well as his "day when reduced" plan. If you want to rid yourself of superfluous fat, write him today, addressing Dr. R. Newman, 286 Fifth Avenue, New York City, Dept. R.—Advertisement.

No Love Affair

Dear Miss Lee: I am not writing you about a love-affair. My mother and father were parted when I was 2 weeks old. Then she married again and I didn't see or know my father again. Then three years later my father came back and he was my father. I asked my grandmother and she told me he was my father. And my mother found it out and I got a beating. The summer time, so in the summer of 1925, I stayed with my father and have gone to school all winter. Now my mother won't answer my letters and I don't know what to do. I love the children, but never get an answer. Miss Lee should let me write and send presents. I love the children. I now have a good home and I am 13 years old.

BILLY JUNE.

Mother is just spitting herself by asking Billy June and June and June, someday she'll wake up to the fact that she's been treating her big girl pretty shabbily, and then she'll probably write to you. But don't worry about it. If mother is so unreasonable as that I'm glad you don't have to live with her anymore, because she wouldn't have a very good influence on you. Write to the children if you wish. They'll remember you kindly and want to hear from you, but just let mother alone for awhile.

Her Own Way

A STORY OF A GIRL OF TODAY

FACE TO FACE!

I flamed with anger.

The idea of writing what I had to say!

"I'll dictate nothing. You may tell Mr. Hathaway that I'll put nothing in writing. I have come to tell him about something that was stolen in his restaurant. At least his son says it was stolen and he has been trying to make restitution. I have a feeling that Mr. Hathaway knows nothing about this and he would like to probe it to the bottom, for—"

The girl left me in the middle of that speech and returned very quickly.

"Mr. Hathaway will see you."

I followed her through the door and came face to face with the sternest, most disappointed looking man I had ever seen.

My father had sometimes looked as stern as Mr. Hathaway, but I had never seen disappointment on his face.

I felt very sorry for the man before me and also I had a little quail of remorse.

Was my father as disappointed in me as this severe old man was with his son?

I never before had thought of my father as being lonely. He was always finding fault with me and I thought perhaps he would be relieved when I went away.

It's a good thing that thoughts have almost the velocity of light, for it was only a moment when Mr. Hathaway spoke.

"What do you want with me, young woman? Tell it to me as quickly as you can. I am a very busy man."

"I've come to tell you that your largest and most fashionable restaurant is a den of thieves and it's only a question of time before your employees there will pull off a stunt that will make the police shut up the place."

Mr. Hathaway looked at me as though I were crazy.

"What are you talking about, Miss—Miss—"

"Dean is my name. Maybe you recognize it."

"I never heard of a Miss Dean before in all my life."

"Your manager, Mr. Sterns, told me he would write you the story, but I expect that was said in the heat of our controversy and he forgot all about it."

A Day Down Town With Nellie Gay

I made some real discovers in my "stop in" visits today in which will interest you greatly. It's always such a treat to make nice discoveries and especially such new and smart things as these articles I found. And too, Mother's Day will soon be here and Gifts you'll be hunting!

Article I.

SMART CLOTHES need particular care. Of course you will have your winter clothes cleaned before putting them away. THE C. AND R. CLEANERS AND TAILORS, 1311 N. Penn., offer you excellent service, and moderate prices. They will clean your garments beautifully, and you'll certainly be pleased with your choice of Cleaners. Telephone Riley 5203.

Article II.

A FAIR WARNING—She may have looks, clothes and charm, but if her teeth are neglected the whole make-up is spoiled. Ask for "Dependent tooth paste" at M. M. KEENE'S DRUG STORE, 291 N. Delaware.

Article III.

YOU'LL enjoy eating at the PARK VIEW DINING ROOM—it is so attractive and restful. The food is well cooked, also well served. Stop in and try one of their 25c plate lunches.

Article IV.

THE pride of possessing a lovely frock such as I found at LANGENS, 2d Floor Occidental Building, is quite enough to satisfy the most fastidious. This gown is of georgette with lace over a silk slip with graceful lines and flared sleeves. The dress may be had in grey, beige, bois de rose, navy or ecru. Priced at $49.50.

Article V.

Youthful EYES The eyes of youth need more care than those of older people. Latent defects are the source of more serious trouble than those which come with advancing years.

We handle the most difficult cases successfully.

HOOSIER OPTICAL CO. 142 N. Illinois.

Article VI.

IT'S really a pleasure to go to the MARGUERITE HAT AND BEAUTY SHOP, 114 E. 13th St. It's so quiet, attractive and restful you're always welcome. They give the best of services.
