

OFFER COURSES IN MATERNITY

Seven Colleges in Indiana
Give Instruction.

Seven Indiana colleges offer courses in maternity and infancy, according to Dr. Ada E. Schweitzer, director of State board of health's division of infant and child hygiene. So many requests were received for attendance of high school girls in mothers' class demonstrations it seemed wise to present the lessons to college women, Dr. Schweitzer said. Colleges accepting the work are Danville Normal, Muncie Normal, Indiana University, Butler College, Valparaiso University, Marion Normal and Terre Haute Normal. The combined enrollment was 1,488. Nearly 600 women attended the lectures at Indiana University, it was said.

CLUB NAMES MEMBERS

Business Men Plan Scholarship for Economic Major.

Eight new members have been elected by the Butler University Commerce Club. The next meeting will be May 8.

Business men sponsoring the club plan to award a silver cup and scholarship to the student, majoring in the department of business administration and economics, who ranks highest in scholarship.

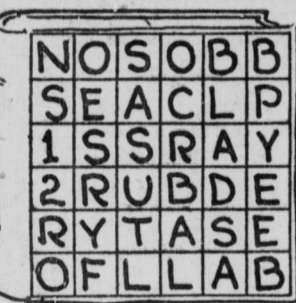

New members: James Davis, Turpin Davis, Robert L. Wolfe, Kent Beecher, Edward Harris, Louis Miller, Richard Hoberg and Harold Barnes. George Henderson, president, made the following appointments: Membership chairman, Richard Hoberg; assistants, Edward Harris and Kent Beecher; social committee chairman, Louis Miller; publicity director, Kent Dorman.

JURY FIXING CHARGED

Grand Jury to Investigate Alleged Scandal at Evansville.

By Times Special
EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 23. — County grand jury next week will investigate charges that a number of Evansville attorneys have tampered with Circuit Court juries. Four recommendations for investigation have been made.

Puzzle a Day

The new manager of the book store at the corner of Ave. A and First St. laid in a large stock of books. The store had formerly sold only fiction, but he felt certain that other types of books could be sold as well. So he bought 100 cheap books on statistics. They were covered with the temporary cover shown above. Notice the square containing 36 letters on it. These letters form a sentence found in the book. Directions for discovering it are as follows: 1. Start at one square and travel in a continuous line, crossing every square once. 2. The name of a famous ball player is concealed in the squares.

What is the complete sentence? Last puzzle answer:

There are 27 rooms in the Wayside Hotel, where tourists visiting Yellowstone National Park occasionally stay. At the time the room clerk reported to the manager that there were 23 guests in the hotel. If four more had registered there would have been 27 guests, one for every room in the hotel. If five guests had left, there would have been 18 guests or nine rooms more than the number of guests registered and that equals half a vacant room for every guest.

CANDIDATES INDORSED

Indianapolis Engineering Society Members Express Preferences.

Russell T. MacFall, candidate for the Republican nomination for judge of Superior Court Five, received unanimous indorsement of the Indianapolis Engineering Society at a meeting Thursday.

Other Republicans indorsed by the organization were: Harry O. Chamberlain, Circuit Court; James M. Leathers, Superior Court One; Linn D. Hay, Room Two; Maurice Tennant, Room Three; Byron K. Elliott, Room Four; Mahlon E. Bush, Probate Court; James A. Collins, Criminal Court, and Frank J. Lahr, juvenile court.

PUBLIC STREAMS 'SEWAGE SICK'

Lieber Condemns Pollution in Speech.

By United Press
TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 23. — Many of Indiana's public streams are "sewage sick" because the public is neglectful and not sufficiently interested to prevent their pollution by wastes from factories, sewers and sweepings from city streets, Conservation Director Richard Lieber told the Terre Haute Chapter of the Izaak Walton League Thursday night.

Stream pollution is the most glaring offense committed against our Indiana waters, but it is not the only one, Lieber declared. Another crime is the deforestation of the State and the ruthless, senseless and unscientific change of many water-courses, he said.

"We have offended against nature and now we have to take the consequences," he said.

sequence. Our formerly lovely creeks and rivers smell like sewer outlets, and the drinking water in our cities tastes like medicine."

ASK ABANDONMENT

Abandonment of the Kibler Trucking Company's freight route between Indianapolis and Terre Haute is asked in a petition on file with the public service commission today. George W. McClintock has asked permission to purchase the Kibler company's truck certificates for routes from Indianapolis to Bloomington and Bedford.
