

CAMEL TO STALK WHERE ELEPHANT AND ROOSTER DID

Leaders See Party Lines
Obliterated With Wet and Dry Issue.

By N. D. Cochran,
Times Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, June 2.—Prohibition split the Democratic party wide open in 1912. It is now performing a similar operation on the Republican party. But the breach in the Democratic party is not healing and the politicians face the prospect of both parties entering the next presidential election all shot to pieces. Politicians may holler their heads off about the tariff, the League of Nations, the world court or even relief for the exploited and distressed farmers, but the people generally get no kick out of them.

None of these issues stirs up the fighting blood of anybody except those directly interested.

What everybody is talking about is prohibition. You can get an argument anywhere and at any time on light wine and beer, State rights or any phase of the prohibition issue. On both sides of the argument, partisans are quick to holler with intolerance, bitterness and downright vindictiveness.

Wets and Dries
The dividing line between parties is fading out. Partisans are lining up as wets and dries. Prohibitionists don't care a darn what else a man stands for or against so long as he is dependably dry. An anti-prohibitionist will take unto their political bosoms any old kind who is dependably wet.

A Democratic Congressman from Massachusetts, Gallivan, says if William B. Wilson, Democratic candidate for United States Senator from Pennsylvania is an anti-Saloon League dry then he and other wet Democratic Congressmen will go in to Pennsylvania and make speeches for Vire, a wet Republican candidate.

A Republican Congressman, Tinkham from Massachusetts, demands the Anti-Saloon League be investigated and particularly the charge that a Michigan Republican has accepted money from the Anti-Saloon League which is interested in legislation before Congress.

This stand-pat Republican from President Coolidge's State charges the league controls the Government by money so that "free government has become a mockery and a phantom."

Grave Charge
He makes the grave charge that the Anti-Saloon League has raised "an irrepressible conflict and has severed the United States as with a knife." It has placed those who believe in liberty and the separation of church and State in fatal conflict with those who assent to bondage and ecclesiastical political control. It has packed the Federal bench and has destroyed confidence in its intellectual integrity. It has reached successfully into the Supreme Court with its sinister propaganda for the abolishment of liberties for the individual. It has appointed United States attorneys and has dominated the prohibition enforcement unit. It gives money to members of Congress.

On the other hand, Senator Borah, Republican, bitterly denounces New York State for refusing to help enforce the Volstead act and her "disloyalty to the fundamental principles upon which the Government is founded." And he bitterly assails the New York State referendum, drafted by former Senator and Secretary of State Elihu Root, Republican.

On the Democratic side, Governor Smith of New York, Governor Ritchie of Maryland, and other prominent northern and eastern Democrats are fighting prohibition and the Democratic solid South is backing the Republican Anti-Saloon League to the limit.

In Illinois, George Brennan, Democrat, is running for United States Senator as a wide-open wet, while in Pennsylvania former Secretary of Labor Wilson, Democrat, is running as a bone dry with Anti-Saloon League backing.

In New York, Senator Wadsworth,

RATHER JUST SIT AROUND?

A Feeling Many Have Which Is Often Mistaken for Laziness
When Really It Is Due to Constipation.

"Black-Draught is certainly a mighty good medicine to have," says J. A. Truck of Redfield, Ark. "We use it about all the time. I take it for indigestion and headache."

"If I get constipated and bilious, I feel like sitting around instead of working. I haven't any ambition to get up and get busy, but after I take a few doses of Black-Draught, and it acts, I feel like a new man."

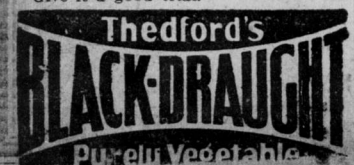

"My daughter wasn't well. Had gas formations that seemed to smother her. She would have trouble in getting her breath. She was sallow and peaked. Now she takes Black-Draught and it seems to help her. She takes it after meals. This seems to dispel the gas, and she is much better than she was. Her skin cleared up considerably."

"We wouldn't be without Black-Draught. It is a good medicine."

Thousands of others would not want to be without Black-Draught, since they have learned how valuable its use is, in cases of constipation and ill use due to that very common trouble.

Black-Draught is easily obtainable from neighborhood druggists, in 25c packages.

Give it a good trial.

Republican, will run for re-election as a wet and in Ohio, Senator Willis as a bone dry Anti-Saloon League. The Democrats may profit by this year's election, because they are nearly all dry in the South and there is no general disturbance over this issue there. But in 1928 the situation will be different because of the vast preponderance of electoral votes in the big industrial States.

Among the interesting possibilities for 1928 is that of the Republican party becoming the liberal or modernist party with Democrats as the prohibition fundamentalists.

CITY SEEKS TO ENTER IN CASE

Move Made to Protect Segregation Ordinance.

City of Indianapolis, represented by Corporation Counsel Alvah I. Rucker, today filed a petition in Federal Court asking that the city be allowed to intervene in the case of Edward S. Galliard against Guy L. Grant, both Negroes, in which Galliard attacks the validity of the city race segregation ordinance.

Galliard charges Grant was to buy property from him at 2311 Bellefontaine St. and after entering into a contract to do so, refused because of the existing ordinance. Galliard has petitioned the court to pronounce the ordinance void.

Rucker points out that the ordinance was legally passed and in order to protect the rights of Indianapolis citizens the city should be permitted to be a party defendant in the case.

U. S. TAKES 22 TO TERRE HAUTE

Vincennes Attorney Held in Default of Bond.

Twenty-two persons were taken to Terre Haute to the Vigo County jail today by United States deputy marshals.

Some of them were to begin serving sentences for violation of Federal laws, while others, who could not provide bond, are being held until the trial calendar opens June 21.

Among those remanded to jail in default of bond is Roy Robinson, Vincennes, Ind., attorney, who is charged with being one of the "high-rollers" in the liquor conspiracy ring there.

Although he pleaded guilty to the charge, Judge Robert C. Baltzell will not sentence him until after the trial of the others.

Arraignment will be held at South Bend Thursday, Hammond, Friday, and Ft. Wayne, Monday. Trials will begin here June 14.

THIEVES-MANAGE TO KEEP ACTIVE

Thirteen Autos Stolen—
Other Losses Reported.

Considerable activity by thieves was reported to police Tuesday night.

Police records show thirteen autos, said by owners to be worth $7,720, were stolen downtown. Four stolen machines were recovered. Three tires worth $55 were taken from parked autos. Five bicycles, valued at $82, were added to the list.

Police received a clew that might lead to the arrest of the man who burglarized the home of Mrs. Louise Rauh, 2223 Park Ave., May 17, 1925. Mrs. Rauh said she saw the man again on Tuesday night.

During the absence of Mrs. J. T. Brooks, 5889 Guilford Ave., a day-light burglar stole clothing valued at $5 and a Masonic pin from her home.

Mr. William Beckman, 2010 N. Meridian St., said $69 was taken from her purse in a downtown store.

FOUR CHILDREN HURT IN CRASHES

Girl and Boy Injured When Auto Strikes Abutment.

Four children were injured in auto accidents Tuesday.

Robert McCurdy, 8, of 1233 Broadway St., is suffering with injuries when struck by an auto near his home. The driver was not held.

Bertha, 4, and John, 2, children of William Mindach, 5549 English Ave., were hurt when the auto driven by Mindach crashed into an abutment at the Belt Railway and E. Washington St. The girl received a possible skull fracture.

Pauline Steadham, 5, of 336 Beauty Ave., was injured about the head when she was struck by an auto at 1127 W. New York St. She was taken to the city hospital and home later. Witnesses said the girl walked into the path of the auto.

BOUND OVER TO JURY

A city court blind tiger appeal pending in Criminal Court against Charles De Long, former marshal of Beech Grove, was passed Tuesday afternoon by Judge James A. Collins and the defendant was bound over to the grand jury.

De Long was arrested several days ago by Claude Brown, 29, of 1154 English Ave., when deputy sheriffs said they confiscated 115 gallons of liquor in De Long's automobile. Brown also is awaiting grand jury action.

In the lower court De Long was fined $100 and costs and sentenced thirty days in jail. He was arrested Oct. 17, 1925, by Sheriff Omer Hawkins and Ragan, Bell and Brown.

Winner of Unique Woman Contest Heads Own Firm

The proprietor of the Enterprise Odorous Vault and Sink Cleaning Company, Miss Marie Majors, 30, of 1075 W. Michigan St., was announced today as winner of the unique business women's contest, conducted by The Indianapolis Times and the Woman's Department Club.

She will receive a $100 prize. Miss Isadore Kessler, Miss Daisy Reagan and Mrs. Margaret L. Shuler of the club, who judged the contest, selected Miss Majors as winner after reading the many letters submitted. Caroline G. Goggin, 1641 N.-New Jersey St., who was the first to submit Miss Majors' name in the contest, will receive a $10 award.

Aided by Everett Yancey, an employee, Miss Majors was overhauling a truck motor when she was informed she won the contest.

"Ah, quit your kidding me," she said looking up from her work.

"That's too good to be true. What have you to show, you mean what you say?" she queried.

Started as Nurse
Born in Indianapolis, Miss Majors began her career as a nurse, graduating from the city hospital. Twelve years ago her grandmother, who operated the present business, became ill and was unable to carry on.

Miss Majors gave up nursing to operate the company, because "it would make money."

The firm cleans and installs sewers, septic tanks, sinks and vaults.

Miss Majors believes one learns by doing.

"When I started out I didn't know anything about the business, but now I can handle plumber's tools as good as anyone," she said. She drives her own "fifteen" and trucks and keeps them in repair.

Lives Alone
Miss Majors expects to continue her business as long as there is "anything to do." But if she ever gives it up she probably will return to nursing. She lives alone in a three-room house across the street from the Robert W. Long Hospital.

"I'm too busy to get lonesome," she said. "I am busy all day and at night I read or work fixing up a couple of houses I bought in the neighborhood. I have put new roofs and weather boarding on them and have papered the rooms. Sometimes I have a man help."

"At night I usually read medical books. I like to keep up on things in the medical world. On week-ends I frequently drive to Madison, where my mother lives."

"This work may not be as interesting to some women as having a family, but I think I can handle it better."

"I like to be outdoors, where you get fresh air, maybe that's why my work is fascinating. But you have to work at anything to succeed."

"Modern times are pretty good, I think. There is greater opportunity than ever for women in business. Prohibition is a good thing because you can get more work out of men. Miss Majors is a blonde and wears her hair long."

"Bobbed hair is all right, but I didn't think it would look good on me," she said.

"I am the president of the company and manager, bookkeeper, clerk and purchasing agent. I don't need to keep many books, because when I finish a job I go on to another, and what money I have is mine after I pay for labor."

NO TRACE OF BANDITS

Robbers Make Getaway After Crothersville Bank Hold-Up.

By United Press
CROTHERSVILLE, Ind., June 2.—Bank vigilantes and county authorities of southern Indiana today had failed to pick up the trail of the two young short-sleeved bandits who robbed the Union State Bank of $8,000 on Tuesday afternoon.

Although the pursuit was taken up before the bandits were heard of town, the vigilantes lost trace of the bandit car.

J. A. Bovard, bank president, and a woman bookkeeper were alone in the bank when the robbers entered. Bovard said one of the bandits held a pistol aimed at his ribs.

300,000 SHRINERS AT PHILADELPHIA

Gigantic Pageant to Be Given Tonight.

By United Press
PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—Transformed from a staid old city to a gay Arabian center in all its color and glory, Philadelphia today was in full possession of 300,000 nobles from 157 temples attending the fifty-second council meeting of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Mystic Shrine.

Today in addition to the business session of the imperial council, at which Judge David W. Croeland, Alcazar Temple, Montgomery, Ala., will succeed James C. Burger of El Jebel, Denver, Colo., as imperial potentate, and an imperial outer guard selected, varied activities took place.

Thousands flocked to the sesquicentennial.

Tonight a gigantic historical pageant with forty illuminated floats and 65,000 marchers, will be held in the stadium before 100,000 spectators.

NEW INDUSTRIAL ERA IS PREDICTED

Research Laboratory at Purdue Planned.

By United Press
LAFAYETTE, Ind., June 2.—A new era of industrial progress for Indiana was predicted today following a conference of executives from practically every one of Indiana's industries at Purdue University.

The meeting resulted from the efforts of David Hoss, Purdue trustee and Lafayette manufacturer, to secure establishment of a great industrial research laboratory at Purdue.

The laboratory would perform for the industries of the State the same service that is performed for the farmers by the Purdue agricultural experiment station.

Cooperation of the Indiana Chamber of Commerce and the Indiana Manufacturers' Association was pledged and it is planned to carry the move for the industrial research laboratory to the next session of the State Legislature.

HOWARD STILL LEADS

Standing of Union Presidential Candidates Unchanged.

Reports from three more unions today failed to materially change the standing of candidates for the presidency of the International Typographical Union, it was stated at International headquarters, 2820 N. Meridian St.

Reports from 739 unions gave Charles P. Howard of Chicago a majority of 2,203 votes over President James M. Lynch, who was aspiring for re-election. Howard, then president, was beaten by Lynch two years ago.
