

RECOGNITION OF RUSSIA IS NEAR, CAPITAL THINKS

Soviet and U. S. Being Drawn Together by Force of Circumstances.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—After eight years of mutual hostility, United States and Russia are being drawn together by the force of circumstances, according to authoritative observers here today.

Rapid increase of American exports to Russia and reorganization of the Russo-American chamber of commerce by leading American bankers and industrialists, have created a favorable situation in which diplomatic recognition is only a question of months, they believe.

There are no signs of immediate efforts to start diplomatic negotiations, but the State and Commerce Departments are displaying a keen interest in Russian affairs, which formerly was lacking.

There is no disposition to change the terms laid down by former Secretary of State Hughes, namely, Soviet acceptance of responsibility for the Kerensky debt of $250,000,000 and of private claims for expropriated American property, with a pledge to prevent Red propaganda here.

Better Government

Hughes was unwilling to grant recognition even though Russia accepted these terms, because he felt the Bolsheviks would not keep their promises. Officials now consider the Soviet Government relatively permanent, and are willing to negotiate with it when public sentiment here makes this politically expedient.

Russia, who will have to take the initiative, is believed to be ready to talk business on the basis of Hughes' terms, because of Russia's growing need for large scale loans. Though Russia is now getting short term credits in New York without difficulty, she is not expected to get long term loans until she obtains diplomatic recognition.

NEW BILLS ADD TO COMPLICATION IN FARM BATTLE

Senate Split Three Ways With Avalanche of Measures.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—A new battle over farm legislation was in prospect today with the Senate split into three militant factions and an avalanche of farm bills to furnish the piece de resistance.

Besides the $100,000,000 Fess farm loan bill, recommended by President Coolidge and as acceptable as strychnine to the farm bloc, there are pending nearly a dozen farm bills. These include such debatable proposals as reduction of tariff on manufactured goods and reduction of railroad rates to the farmer. Additional so-called agriculture aid bills were to be offered today.

None of the pending measures is supported by more than one of the three warring groups, the farm bloc of about fifteen Republican Senators and half a dozen Democrats; the Administration Republicans and the Democrats.

All the measures will be defeated, it was indicated, unless a compromise is reached.

The farm bloc takes the stand that real farm relief was blocked when the Dawes-McNary-Haugen plan was defeated.

Two more farm bills were expected to be offered today. One by Senator Howell, Republican, Nebraska, proposes to apply the Haugen equalization fee plan to wheat only.

Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, plans to resubmit his export corporation farm bill designed to help the farmers market their crops.

With the present provisions, Indianapolis stands fifteenth in the number of hospital beds per 1,000 population among nineteen cities covered in our survey. The board did not consider the project today.

Plans prepared by George G. Schmidt would widen the street to thirty-four to forty-four feet. Shanesberger did not discuss the proposed widening of the thoroughfare.

PROGRESS SEEN IN SOCIAL WORK

Speaker Cites Growth in Hospital Facilities.

"Indianapolis is showing marked progress in certain phases of social work," said Raymond Clapp, associate director of the Cleveland Welfare Association, in the first of a series of addresses, as a result of his study of the cost and volume of social work in Indianapolis as compared to eighteen other cities, at the Claypool.

At the Indianapolis Athletic Club at 4 p. m., Clapp addressed the board of directors and committees of the Family Welfare Society. There will be luncheon meetings at the Claypool Tuesday and Wednesday; a meeting at the Indianapolis Athletic Club Tuesday at 4 p. m., and a dinner meeting at the Indianapolis Athletic Club Wednesday at 6 p. m.

Clapp cited the progress being made in the extension of the summer camp system as a result of the recent expansion of the Boy Scout reservation, the new camp site for the Camp Fire Girls, and the prospect of a new camp for the Girl Scouts.

"One of the outstanding signs of progress in the social program in Indianapolis is that being made in providing hospital facilities," said Clapp.

"With the present provisions, Indianapolis stands fifteenth in the number of hospital beds per 1,000 population among nineteen cities covered in our survey. For the proper care of the population, it is generally conceded that there should be five hospital beds per 1,000 population. Indianapolis has four.

HOW STRONG IS CAL IN CONGRESS?

Observers See Test in Fess Farm Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Politics at observers here believed today that debate on the Fess farm relief amendment will be a test of President Coolidge's power in Congress.

With the farm bloc predicting defeat of this measure, sponsored by the President, the situation was viewed as of major importance in the relations between the White House and the Senate.

Hitherto the President has had a comfortable majority whenever he sought action in the upper house, and he won a preliminary victory on Saturday when Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana, withdrew his motion to end consideration of all farm measures.

STATE PAY ROLL INCREASED $5,000 A YEAR BY BODY

Employment of Gas Tax Collection Department Auditor Authorized.

Employment of an auditor for the gasoline tax collection division of the State auditor's office, at a salary of $2,000 a year, was authorized today by the State legislative finance committee. Selection of a person for the position will be made at once, according to State Auditor L. S. Bowman.

As a result of the committee's action today the State pay roll will be increased $5,000 annually, it was estimated. Other action of the committee included $200 annual salary increases for State Entomologist Frank N. Wallace and his assistant, Harry F. Dietz; establishment of a salary schedule for State game wardens, those with the department five years or less to receive $100 to $125 a month, $130 a month for six and seven-year men, $135 a month for eight and nine-year men and $140 a month for all over ten years; an extra inspector for the weights and measures department at $150 a month; revision of the salary schedule in the Secretary of State's office, reducing the number of employees and increasing salaries; authority for the industrial board to employ an extra clerk for two months, and a $10 monthly increase for the secretary of the public service commissioners who were overlooked when those salaries were raised at a previous meeting.

If the committee's recommendations are approved by Governor Jackson, the changes will go into effect July 1. No reductions were ordered, but it was learned that the committee refused to raise the salary of Charles Kettleborough, legislative director, from $4,000 to $5,000.
