

BROWN RESIGNS LIBRARIAN'S POST

Veteran State Official Finds Work Too Arduous.

After twenty years of continuous service as State librarian, Demarshus C. Brown of Indianapolis has tendered his resignation to the State library and historical board, effective Sept. 1. Because of failing health, Brown felt that he could no longer perform the duties of his office. He has been ill for several months and only recently returned from a Martinsville sanitarium.

Brown was appointed State librarian in 1906. In 1925 he was named director of the library. The board will meet soon to name a successor. In deference to Brown's request, it is understood the board will assign him to some duty less arduous than the directorship. He is a graduate of the old Northwestern Christian University and has studied abroad. At one time he was professor of Greek at Butler College.

Such Is the Life of a Dog

By United Press
NEW YORK, July 1.—Bum, a nondescript tramp dog, but a blue blood in the opinion of the down and outers at the Salvation Army Bowery hotel, had a birthday today.

The Army took him to a restaurant, put a bum around his neck and sat a chicken pie before him. He bowed his head to say grace for the photographers and then hopped down and went back to his hotel, leaving the chicken untouched.

"Why isn't he hungry?" Army officials asked. "Why, we didn't feed him anything, so he'd enjoy the dinner more. And we told everybody else not to."

There the mystery was solved. Every one in the hotel had been told not to feed Bum, but everybody felt sorry for him and they all had slipped him a surreptitious scrap of meat or a juicy bone—just a foretaste.

home and tried to enter the house through an open window.

Miss Clements said she alighted from a street car at Mount and Washington Sts., and the young man accosted her. She walked swiftly to her home, she said. When he peered through the window she threatened to shoot, she said, and he ran.

BUSINESS LEADER, POLITICIAN DIES

Rites for Archibald A. Young Saturday at Home.

Funeral services for Archibald A. Young, 74, of 5888 Central Ave., nationally prominent for half a century in business and political circles, who died Wednesday, will be conducted at the home at 2 p. m. Saturday by Dr. Ambrose J. Dunkle, Tabernacle Presbyterian Church pastor.

An attack of heart disease was fatal to Mr. Young. Surviving are the widow and three sons, Commissioner Howard S. Young and Ralph A. Young and Byram C. Young of Hollywood, Fla.

Mr. Young organized the Bedford Stone and Construction Company in 1905, served as collector of customs from 1909 until 1916, was Marion County Democratic chairman from 1896 until 1898, and served in the city council from 1892 until 1925. He was born on a farm in Johnson County and educated in Franklin public schools and Franklin College. He was a member of Scottish Rite and Murat Shrine.
