

ENGLAND IS ILL FROM HANGOVER OF MINE STRIKE

Coal Tie-up Worse Upon Homes Than General Walkout.

By NEA Service
LONDON, July 9.—What four million workers in a general strike all over the land could not accomplish, 2-3 million coal miners are bringing about—a paralysis of British industry.

Just as the human body starves for want of food, so British industry is starving for want of coal. The pulse-beats of British industry are slowing down, factories are closing or working on short time and thousands are being laid off.

Coal at Home Cut

Every man, woman and child in Great Britain is affected by the continuous strike of the miners. More than 20 million other workers are on their side. This because each day of the strike makes a dent in the nation's available coal supply. In a general strike, thousands of volunteers carried on essential services. But no young bloods and no serious minded men have gone to dig coal.

Politically as well as socially and industrially, the general strike has left a dire "hangover." Premier Stanley Baldwin emerged from the general strike with unprecedented popularity. The coal strike, however, has been cutting into his strength. His government is denounced daily by laborites in Commons.

In his private life, John Citizen finds himself affected by the coal strike in these ways:

He can only procure a hundred weight of coal every fortnight for his household uses. Fortunately this is the summer time.

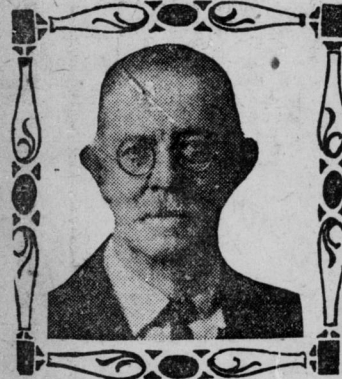

If he has gas fires, he is confronted by very low pressure.

When he walks down town he finds the main centers dark, because

EVERY MEAL HE ATE BROUGHT ON INTENSE MISERY

Suffered Stomach Troubles 5 Years; Local Man Says Konjola Gave Him Lasting Relief.

"I think it is wonderful the way Konjola acts on the stomach, for this medicine has given me lasting relief, and I know from experience that no other medicine can do what Konjola has done for me," said Mr. Willard Cox, well-known Indianapolis citizen, living at 1325 North Illinois St., this city, while talking recently with The Konjola Man, who is at Hook's drug store, Pennsylvania and Market Sts., Indianapolis, where large crowds are calling every day to find out about this celebrated new medical compound.

"I had trouble with my stomach for 5 years," continued Mr. Cox. "And finally got so bad that every meal I ate brought on intense misery. My food would bloat me up, and my stomach would swell so I thought I would burst. Sharp pains like a knife would hurt me for several hours after eating. Any food with acid in it would nearly kill me, and I would belch a sour, bitter substance, and burn like fire from the pit of my stomach clear up to my throat. I had pains in my chest and when I ate just a few bites of food I would feel stuffed up, and a solid lump would lay in my stomach, causing awful cramps that nearly doubled me over. Lots of nights I would walk the floor for hours, rubbing myself and trying to get relief. As a result, I always felt terrible every morning and had to lay off from work two weeks at a time."

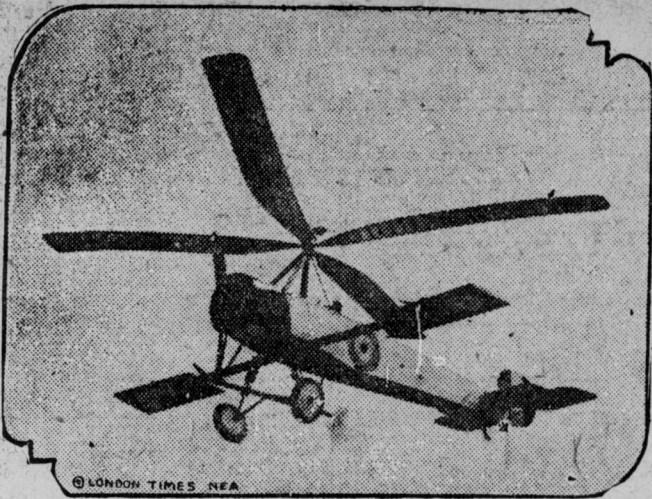

"I decided to try Konjola, for everybody was talking about this medicine and what it was doing in Indianapolis. Well, I noticed such a big difference in my stomach after I had taken Konjola a few days, that I knew right away it was the medicine I always needed. I continued to take Konjola and it was surprising how my stomach troubles disappeared. I had such a delicious appetite before the first bottle was gone that I thought I couldn't get enough to eat. At the present time I don't feel like I ever had stomach trouble—that is how completely Konjola relieved me. All the cramps, bloating and pains are gone. My food is digested right, and the burning in my chest and throat is gone, and I don't have to walk the floor in misery at nights, but instead, I can sleep fine."

"It was Konjola alone that made this great improvement in my health and I know it is my duty to recommend this medicine to others."

The Konjola Man is at Hook's drug store, Pennsylvania and Market Sts., Indianapolis, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

Konjola is for sale by all Hook drug stores and by druggists in each town throughout this entire section. —Advertisement.

Plane Really Flies

This is the Auto-Giro, or windmill plane, being flown at Hamble, England, by Capt. Frank Courtney. It rises with scarcely any take-off and descends vertically—something aviation engineers had almost despaired of accomplishing.

Illuminated signs have been barred.

Trains Curtailed

The underground railway trains are packed to suffocation because fewer trains are run.

If he is a suburbanite, he has to hustle for a seat because the railways are running a 50 per cent service.

It is in the industrial centers that the main effects are felt. Here is a tabloid picture.

Cardiff—The main business of this great Welsh seaport is the export of coal. The docks are idle. Hundreds of men are out of jobs and daily reports come of customers buying from Germany, France and Belgium.

Swansea—This Welsh manufacturing town has over 25,000 now unemployed. Most of the great tin-plate and steel mills have closed.

Big Forges Idle

Birmingham—The big forges are at a standstill. The rolling mills are working on part time.

Newcastle and similar seacoast towns, headquarters of the fishing industry—Business dying down because the trawlers can't obtain fuel. Every trawler idle throws nine men out of work.

Nottingham—Famous for textiles, is working part time.

Sheffield—One of the hardest hit of all the big industrial towns. Because of its proximity to mines, industry here has never had storage yards. Thirty big melting furnaces have shut down.

Turn to Oil

Northampton—Capital of the boot and shoe business, part time.

For the coal industry one of the tangents of the situation is that the railways and some of the manufacturers are taking up seriously the question of oil fuel. Experiments are being made. Many manufacturers are looking enviously at Bristol, where, after the last strike, some factories became oil burners.

FLY SWATTING SEASON AT HAND

Now's the Time, Says Uncle Sam to Housewives.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Start swatting the fly now, Uncle Sam warns housewives through the United States Department of Agriculture.

"Careful screening of windows and doors during the summer months, with supplementary use of sticky fly papers is one of the best protective measures known against house flies," he advises.

"Fly poisons are also helpful in eradicating the pests, but arsenic preparations should be carefully handled and placed out of reach of children. A very effective fly poison is made by adding three teaspoonsful of commercial formalin to a pint of sweet milk or water sweetened with a little brown sugar."

Flies breed in filth, housewives are told by the Government. Refuse and garbage should be burned when possible or put in cans with tight lids.

SAINT AND MUSSOLINI

THE HAGUE.—Jan Toorop, famous Dutch painter, is busy with a study of which the central figure is St. Paul. Toorop says his work will "include the three figures who dominate the present time, St. Paul, St. Theresa and Mussolini."

"D—" NOT SWEARING

DUNGOON, England.—Arrested for swearing, H. W. Cooke was freed when the court held the "d—" was "only strong language."

GIRLS ROGUE GALLERY

LYNN, Mass.—Young women parading the streets in bathing suits en route to beaches in this puritanical city will be brought to police headquarters "as is" and photographed the same way for the Rogue's Gallery, under an order issued by Mayor Bhuier.
