NAVY REGARDED MUNITIONS DEPOT LIGHTNING PROOF

Survey Underway to Determine What 'Act of God' Was Responsible.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, July 12.—A Navy "survey" was under way today at Dover, N. J., to determine to what extent an "act of God" was responsible for the tragedy of the munitions depot explosion there, and to what degree human fallibility entered into the catastrophe.

The great depot, spread over 480 acres, within striking distance of the naval base of New York, was theoretically proof against such a calamity as befell it in the lightning storm of Saturday night. It was "lightning-proofed" like other great storage reservoirs of TNT, deadly submarine "ash cans" and "war heads" for torpedoes.

Its storage house and subterranean chambers were designed to prevent explosion and to prevent their spread if one unit went up. But in spite of all human precautions a large part of the $3,000,000 plant, with its $90,000,000 worth of explosives exploded, detonating one shell house after another like a mighty string of firecrackers.

Rear Admiral C. C. Bloch, chief of the bureau of ordnance, is charged with making the survey or investigation. From his investigation, the Navy will probably profit in its other ammunition storage points, perhaps gaining pointers which will truly make such storage houses proof against such devastating havoc as Saturday's.

Today, the Navy here confined its work chiefly to checking on lists of wounded and missing, sleeping in slowly the past twenty-four hours.

There had been little time for speculation as to causes of the disaster, but the most common explanation was that the first explosion had been so unexpectedly heavy that flying fragments of the detonated or neighboring storage house which in turn ignited others. Fire spreading through the woods, too, helped to set off the stores.

The storehouses, most of them war time developments were designed to blow upward—flower pot like. Navy men explained the roof would give rather than the walls.

Special ventilation was installed to guard against spontaneous explosion; special floors to prevent sparks were laid, and the whole building was lightning "proofed." Some of the more susceptible explosives were stored underground, and according to last word early today to the Navy, none of these subterranean magazines was affected.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur left Newport, R. I., by destroyer last night and was scheduled to arrive in New York this afternoon and planned to motor to Dover later in the day, the Navy Department was informed.

Proceeding with its plans for investigating the disaster, the Navy today recalled Rear Admiral C. C. Bloch, chief of ordnance, who was on leave, and ordered him to the disaster scene to take charge of the investigation.

Rear Admiral E. A. Campbell, judge advocate of the Navy, also was ordered to Dover for the inquiry.

U. S. GRAND JURY MAY BE CALLED IN HIGHWAY QUIZ

Department of Justice to Report to Ward on Investigation.

Possibility of the Federal grand jury being called in special session to investigate the State highway commission's handling of war materials seemed strong today when it was learned that the Department of Justice will make a formal report of its several months' investigation to United States District Attorney Albert Ward the latter part of this week.

One department official remarked that the situation "might" be in the hands of the grand jury "before the last of August."

It is understood the report will not recommend any action by the district attorney, but will be a compilation of facts gathered from records in the case and through questioning of employees and former employees of the commission.

Department officials wrote to several commission employees about a week ago and asked them to come to the Federal building on a "matter of importance to you and your Government."

Persons Questioned
Among persons known to have been questioned are John C. Willis, former commission employee and now an investigator in the State fire marshal's office; William A. Gremel-spacher and Stanley Stokes, employed in the highway commission garage.

For the last three months a Department of Justice agent has been examining the commission's books. This is the second Federal investigation of the office since the first of the year. Ward conducted an inquiry and made a report to Attorney General John G. Sargent. Although the report never was made public, some dispatches claimed it "exonerated" commission members.

Ward, however, declared the report did not make any recommendations, being composed only of facts collected. The district attorney admitted that an investigation is being conducted, but asserted the "case was never closed."

It is believed that Sargent ordered the second probe.

Indictments Returned
More than a year ago the Marion County grand jury, after an extensive investigation, returned indictments charging John D. Williams, commission director; Earl Crawford, former commission member; George Bartley, former highway garage superintendent, and Victor and Moses Goldberg, Indianapolis junk dealers, with conspiracy to embezzle.

C. William Whaley, employee of the Goldbergs, and the Goldbergs, also were charged with grand larceny. Whaley's trial recently was postponed until September to permit Prosecutor Henry to obtain aid in prosecution. Alonzo Blair, Shelbyville attorney, tentatively agreed to assist. The county council appropriated $5,000 for the employment of prosecution aid. Cases against the others have been postponed until after Whaley's trial.

Lühring said the investigation started some months ago by a department operative under Walter Hoover, chief of the investigation bureau, has never stopped. He has been receiving regular reports from the investigator until a few weeks ago, he said, and expects to receive more.

ANGLO-FRENCH PACT IS SIGNED

Caillaux Goes to England by Airplane.

By United Press
LONDON, July 12.—It was officially announced today that the Anglo-French agreement for funding the French war debt had been signed.

Joseph Caillaux arrived from Paris by airplane this morning to sign the agreement, the principal portions of which had been the subject of intermittent negotiations for more than a year, and upon which the French ambassador and Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, had been engaged actively for almost a fortnight.

Caillaux announced in the Chamber of Deputies before coming here that he was holding the Mellon-Berenger debt-funding agreement until it could be presented to the French parliament, simultaneously with that of the Anglo-French agreement.

With the French signature on the agreement with Great Britain, the problem of war debts is in the way of preliminary solution. There still are the principal difficulties to be met, such as obtaining ratification of the French parliament for the funding agreements with the United States and Great Britain, and then the hardest problem of all—how to find the money to pay the debts on the terms stated in the agreements.

Notifies Coolidge Geneva Conference Worthless to U. S. and Britain.

By JOHN MONTGOMERY
SUMMER WHITE HOUSE,
White Pine Camp, N. Y., July 12.—President Coolidge has received a memorandum from Secretary of State Kellogg advising him that the Geneva preparatory arms conference, as far as the United States and Great Britain are concerned, has collapsed, it was learned today.

The memorandum was contained in one of the first parcels of papers to reach the President from the State Department.

Hopeless Situation
It declared that Kellogg had been informed by the American delegates that further negotiations were hopeless. While American and British delegates seemed to be of the same accord, the French delegates were so far apart in sentiment that no amount of diplomatic treatment could have the breach, the memorandum stated.

The President hesitates to form any decision until he has been advised of all the facts in the matter by Minister Gibson, head of the American delegation, it was said in Mr. Coolidge's behalf.

News Expected JULIETTA COWS NOT 'STRIKING'

Double Daily Milk Output at County Hospital.

There is no strike among cows which are kept by the patients at Julietta county hospital for the insane.

Dr. Benjamin Morgan, superintendent, declares that the thirty-eight milk cows kept at the institution now provide 195 gallons of milk daily. Their former output was only fifty-two gallons a day, Dr. Morgan said.

Because of this increased amount the institution is able to provide the Children's Guardian Home and Negro Orphan's Home with milk daily, he said. Dr. Morgan said that his knowledge of feeding cows when a boy on the farm is largely responsible for the increase in quantity of milk.

90 MEN RETURN TO SUBWAY JOBS

Company Extends Time Limit to Noon Tuesday.

By United Press
NEW YORK, July 12.—The Interborough Rapid Transit Company today announced that ninety striking motormen and switchmen had returned to work since last night, following the companies ultimatum that men must be back on their jobs by noon or forfeit seniority by replacement by the nonunion men who have taken their posts.

Police Inspector Thomas Cummings, after an investigation of an announcement by the transit company that shots had been fired at trains today, said that the report that there had been shooting at a subway station in the Bronx resulted from explosion of signal torpedoes on the tracks. He found that a train dispatcher in Long Island city had reported to police that he heard men shoot at an early hour, but that he believed them to be blank cartridges, fired to intimidate men.

This afternoon the company announced it would extend until noon tomorrow the time limit for the men to return to work. This extension, it was stated, came after a request for more time had been made through the Brotherhood of I. R. T. employees.

EQUIPMENT OF JULIETTA WING IS AUTHORIZED

Lower Floor of West Arm to Be Opened to Accommodate 40 Patients.

In accordance with the recent recommendation of the last Marion County grand jury in its final report, the lower floor of the west wing of Julietta, county insane hospital for insane, will be opened and equipped for the use of men patients, it became known today. The county commissioners have authorized Dr. Benjamin Morgan, superintendent, to equip the addition. The west wing has been closed for about two years, after it was charged the building was improperly constructed and not safe for patients. The commissioners charged that George A. Weaver & Son, contractors, did not erect the addition according to plans and specifications and used improper and poor materials.

Son Acquitted
Weaver and his son were indicted by the grand jury following an investigation of the construction of the new building. They were jointly charged with making false claims against the county. The son, given a separate trial, was acquitted of the charge by a jury in Criminal Court several months ago. The father has not been tried.

The son, given a separate trial, was acquitted of the charge by a jury in Criminal Court several months ago. The father has not been tried.

Dr. Morgan said at present no attempt will be made to occupy the second floor of the west wing. He said the occupancy of the lower floor will relieve crowded conditions. The men will be put in the sick room, next to the new kitchen.

All From County
There are 221 patients in the institution, said Dr. Morgan. Of that number, 109 are men and 112 women, all from Marion County.

Last year when Governor Jackson refused to sign the bill which would virtually give Julietta to the State to be operated as a State institution, the commissioners declared they would remove all of the patients by the first of the year and convert the institution into an infirmary. This was found to be impractical, but the commissioners decreed that no more patients would be accepted and steps would be taken to gradually empty the institution by sending patients home or removing them to State institutions.

200 Need Care
While this policy has been carried out, Dr. Morgan said two patients have been accepted since Jan. 1. Whenever possible, patients have been removed to other institutions.

Dr. Morgan said there are about 200 persons of unsound mind in Indianapolis homes who ought to be in a hospital. With the opening of the new institution about forty new patients can be cared for, Dr. Morgan said.

WORKS BOARD TO ALLOW CONCRETE USE ON STREETS

Asphalt Paving Contractors Dealt Blow by City Specifications.

Contractors specializing in asphalt paving materials, who have had the "inside track" for many years in obtaining asphalt specifications, today faced proof that the present board of works intends to provide an equal chance for concrete.

For the first time in many years, concrete today was advertised in specifications for the paving of Koehne St., between Market and New York Sts., as well as for a number of alleys.

Several days ago board members ordered George G. Schmidt, city engineer, to include concrete as a fifth material on which to receive bids for all paving contracts. In the past concrete could be obtained only through filing of a special petition.

However, the board ordered asphaltic concrete paving for Drexel Ave., between Tenth and Sixteenth Sts., on the opinion of John K. Ruckelshaus, city attorney.

Ruckelshaus ruled that Mildred M. Braun, 4611 E. Twelfth St., the sole resident property owner, does not constitute "a majority of the freeholders residing on said street," as the law provides.

Mrs. Braun had first petitioned for asphaltic concrete in accord with the views of the other property owners, who were nonresident. Then she changed to favor concrete.

The board awarded the contract to The Mead Construction Company.

TACNA-ARICA TO BOLIVIA, SCHEME TO END DISPUTE

Chile and Peru Negotiate for Safe and Sane Settlement.

By United Press
SANTIAGO, Chile, July 12.—Negotiations for settlement of the Tacna-Arica dispute between Chile and Peru by ceding the two provinces to Bolivia are under way today between Lima and this capital.

Bolivia is a landlocked state, and would find tremendous value in the shore line provinces. Economically the provinces virtually are worthless. The negotiations now in progress are characterized by discard of sentimentality, and in the consideration of economic factors and the other facts of the situation which caused the United States to terminate its efforts to settle the dispute by plebiscite when Gen. William Lassiter, the American chairman of the plebiscitary commission, became convinced that a fair vote could not be guaranteed Peru.

Bolivia's compensation to Peru and Chile would not be entirely in money, but would include commercial concessions to both countries and reciprocal economic adjustments between Bolivia and Peru.

If complete agreement could be reached between Chile, Peru and Bolivia, the matter would be referred to President Coolidge, arbiter of the Tacna-Arica controversy, for his sanction.
