WASHINGTON, July 16.—The corn belt farm leaders have just begun to fight, despite the failure of their relief bills in both House and Senate.

They promise a hot scrap in the short session of Congress beginning in December. Although plans have not been formulated yet, they may concentrate on a revision of the present tariff schedules.

Senator McNary of Oregon, who will chairman of the Senate Agricultural Committee next session, has been notified that the farm leaders will meet in Des Moines, Iowa, about July 20 to lay plans for a fresh offensive.

He was asked to come to Chicago for a preliminary conference.

The latter, signed by Chester C. Davis of Chicago, said that the farm leaders planned to give active help to Senators who voted for the McNary bill last session and are yet to face primaries.

It is also expected that support will be given farm relief Senators in the November elections, and the voting records generally of Congressmen to be distributed to the farm constituency.

Sam G. Thompson, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, is now on a speaking trip which will extend as far West as Nevada.

The Des Moines meeting will be of the corn belt organization committee, which started the present
