

THE WORLD TODAY DEMANDS A MORE VITAL RELIGION

Rev. Line Declares There Are Too Many "Sunday Christians."

In a sermon dealing with the question, "What is Religion?" the Rev. Fred A. Line from the pulpit of the Central Universalist Church Sunday declared his position.

"I believe in religion," the Rev. Line said, "not simply religion as advertised by this or that church; not religion which derives its inspiration from some one sacred book; not religion which excludes certain classes of men and is especially intended for certain other classes; but I believe in religion that is capable of inspiring each and all who come under its influence with high and lofty thoughts."

He said that the religion in which he believes must be a part of life, practical every day life, and a religion which tends to elevate human life.

"The demand of the world today is for a more vital religion," the Rev. Line said, "a religion which shall be left in the common everyday affairs of life."

"If religion does not add zest to life it fails by so much. True religion is nature at its highest and human nature at its best; it is a passionate devotion to the will of God, and it finds that will written on every page of the book of life; it is the heart of courage that beneath all other things; it is the zest of every day's experience. We hear people talk about experiencing religion. Now, in my opinion, there is to such thing as a sudden experience of religion. It is a gradual growth and a continued experience."

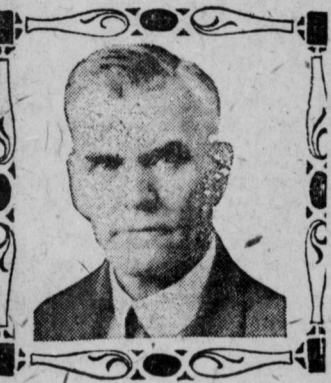

A Certain Class

There are too many Sunday Christians in the world, Sunday's the Lord's day. The other six days belong to man and during those six days he may lie and steal and cheat and drink, live the most dissolute life.

NEURITIS MADE A DEAD FEELING IN HANDS AND ARMS

Sharp, Terrific Pains in Shoulders; Local Man Tells How Konjola Relieved Him.

In recent years neuritis has become a great foe to the health of American people. Indeed, this affliction is agonizing—the sharp pains may grab the sufferer at any time during the day or night. At other times, there may be a dull, numb feeling in various parts of the body where this disease has centered.

It is surprising what this new medical preparation, Konjola, can accomplish in many cases of neuritis suffering. By invigorating the inner organs to healthy action, and stimulating the liver and kidneys, the poisons throughout the system are eliminated; the nerves become stronger, and within a brief space of time, this Konjola brings amazing relief to the neuritis sufferer. Where drugs and heart-weakening chemicals only produce temporary relief, this Konjola seems to go to the very seat of the trouble, and restores a healthy, normal condition in a natural way, so that the pains do not return. Many Indianapolis people have taken Konjola for the suffering pains of neuritis, and instances of complete recovery are reported day after day. Just recently Mr. James Gedling, well known Indianapolis citizen, living at 928 Chadwick St., this city, made the following remarkable statement:

"I had neuritis so bad I couldn't raise my arms," said Mr. Gedling. "The pains would shoot through my shoulders and neck and burn like fire. When I wasn't suffering with these awful sharp, terrific pains, my arms and hands would feel dead—had no life in them at all. I had stomach trouble, as well as neuritis, and was also very badly constipated. Well, besides completely ending my constipation and stomach trouble, this Konjola also defeated my neuritis aches and pains, and I want to say it is the first medicine that ever did this for me. I have doctored and taken a lot of different medicines the past four years, but I will tell anyone that Konjola finally put a real stop to my misery. That dead feeling has left my arms and hands. The pains never come in my shoulders and neck any more, and I am glad to say I am free of the misery from which I suffered for a long time. My health is built up in general, and it was Konjola that did it all, so it is a pleasure for me to endorse such a medicine."

The Konjola man is at Hook's drug store, Pennsylvania and Market Sts., Indianapolis, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

Konjola is sold in every Hook drug store in Indianapolis and by all druggists in the other towns of this state. Advertisement.

G. A. R. PICNIC PLANNED

Federated Societies Arrange Outing for Veterans.

The Federated Patriotic Societies allied with the Grand Army of the Republic will give their annual picnic Wednesday, July 28, for members of the G. A. R. and their wives. Midday dinner will be served in Brookside Park. All members of the Patriotic Societies are expected to help plan and serve this dinner. Final plans will be laid at a meeting of the federated societies next Wednesday afternoon. Arrangements are to be made for transporting veterans not able to ride on the street cars.

Life, if he but make sufficient compensation in prayer and praise on the Lord's day.

"Were it not for the fact that such persons are as a rule given to much talking, and loudly and boldly affirm that they belong to the army of the Lord, we should certainly be in the dark as to their Christian qualities of character. A religion that is not practical, that cannot be applied to the everyday life of the individual, that is not in vogue seven days of the week, is not akin to the religion of the Christ."

"While scientists are endeavoring to ascertain the origin of man, and philosophers and theologians are speculating as to the future state of existence, the fact remains that we are here. It is time to stop speculating and theorizing, time to stop wrangling over this or that creed, and get down to business of living our religion. The intent of religion is to help man to the attainment of a peaceful righteous life. It is to glorify God by the elevation of human life. The energy of true religion is directed toward present needs and opportunities. It is personal and immediate. It is not simply believing something that is past and hoping for something in the future but it is also doing something now."

"The Best Religion"

"The best religion is the religion which makes the best men and women."

The supreme test of religion is found in its fruits as seen in the lives of its followers. What does it matter whether a man be a Methodist, a Baptist, a Presbyterian, a Universalist, a Confucianist, or what not, if his religion or philosophy does not manifest itself in purity of heart and life, in largeness of sympathy for all mankind, in activity for the relief of the ignorant and suffering of men? Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world," the Rev. Line said.

TELLS MEXICO'S NEED

Methodist Official Says Country Should Have America's Sympathy. Discussing the religious situation which is stirring Mexico, the Rev. Ralph E. Diffendorfer, corresponding secretary of the board of foreign missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in a sermon at the Broadway Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday asserted that the present Mexican Government simply is following provisions of the constitution of 1917, the present organic law of the country. The law provides that all pastors must be of Mexican birth.

"The Government's efforts to reconstruct the country socially and economically against tremendous odds should be appreciated and commended by every thoughtful and liberty-loving American," the Rev. Diffendorfer asserted. What Mexico really needs is the friendly help of America, he stated.

THE BOOK OF PROMISE

M. E. Pastor Says Homes Are Desolate Without the Bible.

Likening God's ministrations to the suffering to the oasis of the desert, the Rev. Orion W. Fifer, pastor of the Central Ave. M. E. Church, in a sermon Sunday morning, declared that the Bible is a veritable well of promise for the human heart. Many homes are desolate because so many persons have not used God's spring of mercy, the Rev. Fifer said.

HOW TO SWIM—NO 1

Miss Cannon Demonstrating Proper Breathing

By Lillian Cannon.

Editor's Note—The author of these lessons is training to swim the English channel. The lessons will appear daily.

First and foremost, get used to water. Get used to having your head under so that you don't mind. Keep your eyes open all the time under water for the sake of confidence—and believe that swimming is a natural thing, just as natural as walking.

There is no need to learn to swim in a day. It can't be done. But with confidence and not too much hurry, progress can be made in a day and it is progress which counts.

In a week, if one really tries, enough can be learned to make the idea of swimming feasible and a few strokes can be made.

Never "duck" anyone learning to swim and never let anyone "duck" you. The psychological effect of being ducked is very bad on the beginners and will last a lifetime. The person learning to swim should be allowed to take his own time in getting accustomed to having the head under water.

To get used to having one's head under water, kneel in water, about a foot deep and place the hands on the bottom. Take a breath and put your face down in the water. It doesn't matter at first if nothing but the nose is under water. Keep at it, getting deeper and deeper until the whole head is under. You will find very soon that the terror of being under water has been lost. It isn't there.

Keep the eyes open and look for things under water. In the interest of trying to find something, the idea of being under water will be forgotten.

Breathing is perhaps the biggest thing to learn in swimming. The swimmer must expect his face to be under water for much of the time while he is swimming. Therefore the novice should be prepared for that. Breath should always be taken in through the mouth and expelled through the nose. This permits the exhalation to occur after the head is under water.

Try the ducking exercise and breathing together. Inhale through the mouth and then put the head beneath water and exhale. Go slowly at first and keep at it until the hang of it is attained. Get used to it in quiet water until it is the natural thing to do.

BOYCE WOULD BE HEAD OF BUREAU

One of Problems for G. O. P. Meeting Wednesday.

The effort of City Clerk William A. Boyce Jr., to become head of the First Voters' bureau at Republican State headquarters during the coming campaign is one of the knotty problems G. O. P. leaders will attempt to solve Wednesday at a State meeting at Turkey Run.

Senators James E. Watson and Arthur R. Robinson and Representative Will F. Wood of the Tenth district are scheduled to outline national policies and Governor Jackson to expound his administration's accomplishments.

Boyce, a leader in the Marion County Voters' League which opposed George V. Coffin, Republican county chairman, in the primary, contends he has the backing of a number of chieftains of Marion County, but says emphatically he has not Coffin's indorsement.

BANK DEPOSITS SHOW INCREASE OVER LAST YEAR

$3,794,525,031 Gain Reported in United States, Says Barr.

An increase of $3,794,525,031 in the total deposits in the 23,238 banks in the United States, based on reports submitted April 12, was announced today by State Bank Commissioner Thomas D. Barr.

The total amount deposited breaks the previous high record of April 6, 1925, according to Barr. The aggregate resources gained $3,487,607,427, it was reported.

Based on Report

Barr's figures were based on a compilation made by R. N. Sims, secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks. Sims' report, prepared for submission at the convention of the association in Columbus, Ohio, is the only accurate data on the condition of State banking institutions throughout the country.

Of the 23,238 banks, $,000 were national banks. The entire group represents a total capital stock, surplus and undivided profits of $7,398,018,903, total deposits of $54,291,833,973 and total resources of $63,999,452,890.

State Banks Greater

On April 12, 1926, the capital, surplus and undivided profits of the State banks were $4,238,361,903 and of the national banks were $3,109,657,000, showing the capital resources of the State banks to be 37 per cent greater than national banks. The deposits of the State banks were $34,116,035,973, and of the national banks were $20,175,708, showing the State banks 69 per cent heavier with deposits. Total resources of the State banks were $39,105,787,890, and of the national banks $24,893,665,000, making State bank resources 57 per cent larger.

Between April 6, 1925, and April 12, 1926, State bank deposits increased $3,001,574,031 and national bank deposits rose $792,351,000. In the same period State bank resources increased $2,426,405,427 and national bank resources increased $1,061,202,000.
