SAYS NEURITIS AFFECTED HER ENTIRE SYSTEM

Could Hardly Stand
Pains; Local Lady Says
Konjola Ended All
Her Misery.

"In the more severe cases of neuritis, the pains are piercing—just like hot daggers cutting into the nerves," said The Konjola Man a few days ago at Hook's drug store, Pennsylvania and Market Streets.

MRS. SOPHIA BAIN

Indianapolis, where he is introducing the new medical product, Konjola, to the people of Indianapolis and vicinity.

"Many authorities have stated that the agony of neuritis is likened unto an electrical shock; the shooting pains may grab the sufferer at frequent intervals. Some call this affliction neuralgia, others say it is like rheumatism, but, in either event, it is a terrible affliction and one of the most agonizing diseases that mankind is heir to," continued the Konjola Man.

It is surprising what this new medical preparation, Konjola, will accomplish in so many instances of neuritis suffering. By invigorating the inner organs to healthy action, and stimulating the liver and kidneys, the poisons throughout the system are eliminated; the nerves become stronger, and within a brief space of time, this Konjola brings amazing relief to the neuritis sufferer. Where drugs and heart-weakening chemicals only produce temporary relief, this Konjola seems to go to the very seat of the trouble, and restores a healthy, normal condition in a natural way, so that the pains do not return. Many Indianapolis people have taken Konjola for the suffering pains of neuritis, and instances of complete recovery are reported day after day. Just recently, Mrs. Sophia Bain, well known Indianapolis lady, living at 2001 West New York Street, made the following remarkable statement:

"For a long time I had neuritis," said Mrs. Bain. "This affected my entire system, and I had dull, aching pains in my limbs and hips. Knobs would raise on my muscles, and when walking my knees would give way, so I would stagger and almost fall. My joints were stiff, black spots appeared before my eyes, and hot and cold flashes came over me. I was nervous and couldn't rest, besides suffering from indigestion, nervousness and bilious spells."

"This was my condition when I first got Konjola, and I noticed a difference right away, because this medicine made very short work of the constipation from which I suffered a long time, and very soon my nerves strengthened, and the indigestion was gone. Each day I felt the neuritis clearing up, until now I haven't a single ache or pain. The knobs do not raise on my muscles, and the hot and cold flashes are gone. Konjola is certainly a wonderful medicine, and I know I wouldn't be well today if I hadn't taken it."

The Konjola Man is at Hook's drug store, Pennsylvania and Market Streets, Indianapolis, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

Konjola is also for sale by every Hook drug store in this city, and by all druggists in towns nearby Indianapolis.—Advertisement.

Once He Was Cub Reporter

Ralph van Vechten quit his job as cub reporter on a Cedar Rapids (Ia.) paper forty-seven years ago and became a bank clerk—somewhat against his will, as he wanted to be a writer. Now he is president of the State Bank of Chicago—and glad he made the change. He is a brother of Carl van Vechten, novelist.

'INDUSTRY PROSPEROUS'

U. S. Board Reports Farmers, However, Face Lean Year.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Industry continues forward on a wave of prosperity in the United States, the Federal Reserve Board announced today.

Farmers, however, face a lean year, with crops 8 per cent below the average for the last ten years and prices declining, it was said.

Activity in most lines of industry has continued favorable during the early summer, with seasonal declines in a few textiles and leather factories. Production of automobiles and building materials has been almost at the boom stage, according to the board.

Not Being Met, He Says.

By United Press

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., July 20.—One of the cornerstones of our Republic—handed Administration of Justice and impartial enforcement of law—is not being met in some localities of the United States, declared John R. McQuigg, national commander of the American Legion, in an address at Grand Island last night.

McQuigg placed full responsibility for law enforcement on the people themselves. He contended that "in this country we have just such law enforcement as the majority insist upon having."
