

THE DOPE

By VEDDER GARD

THE COGS SLIP

THE Philadelphia Athletics and the St. Louis Cardinals seem to be playing about the same role in their respective leagues. Just when every one thinks the Mackmen are going to step out and "get" the Yankees they stub their toes. Detroit stopped the Athletics after the club had staged a spurt that was cutting into the lead of New York.

Any kind of a sustained winning streak would put the Cardinals up at the top of the National League, but the team just goes along managing to win a few more than it loses.

Some little cog slips in the baseball machinery. Connie Mack and Hornsby cannot seem to get the motors running smoothly. They go humming along for a time and then start missing. The spark plugs seem to be clogged up very easily. The machines won't stay "tuned up."

Jess Petty has promised to be a good boy again and observe the training regulations of the Brooklyn club. He has joined the team in Cincinnati after his suspension and was scheduled to pitch today.

INTER-CITY TENNIS

THE city park tennis players run into many difficulties, but usually manage to have a great time. They are proud of the fact that they do not belong to any of the regular clubs and glory in the fact that they have just as much sport as any of them.

The latest stunt is an inter-city meet with Columbus, Ind. Here is an idea that could be taken up by some of the Indianapolis clubs. It puts a community loyalty touch to the competition that is fine for all concerned.

Indianapolis will be represented by Sapp, Cox, Stewart and Norton (this is not B. I. C. Norton) in the matches next Sunday at 2 p. m. at Technical High School courts. There will be four singles and two doubles encounters.

The visiting team will be composed of Joe Perry, Ray Terry, Albert Davis and Frank Meyer. The Columbus quartet has defeated Franklin, Seymour, Edinburg and North Vernon in inter-city competition. It must be a live-or-lose situation.

The local racketeers will play a return engagement at Columbus next month.

This is just a warning. Don't anybody come in and say, "Is this hot enough for you?"

PRELIMINARY plans for an intensive membership campaign of the League of America to begin Sept. 15 and continue in Indianapolis for the following two weeks, were announced today by George Denny, president of the Indianapolis chapter of the Walton League.

The drive for new members to be enrolled in the cause of conservation, which is the keynote of the Walton League, will precede the State convention to be held at Terre Haute the latter part of October, Mr. Denny said.

While the necessity for conservation of the natural resources of the great outdoors is fairly well known, the Indianapolis Waltonians plan to emphasize vital need for a unified program to prevent the pollution of Indiana's and the nation's inland waters.

Immediate protection for birds, fish, game and wild-life in general is another angle of conservation that the Walton League is striving to effect.

During the campaign here many prominent men will take leading parts, among them being State Senator L. G. Bradford of South Bend, president of the Indiana State division of the Walton League. Other officials of the local chapter are: John Hook, vice president; Fred Appel, treasurer; W. C. Austin, secretary, and V. C. Roberts, chairman of the membership committee.

All of you who think you can golf meditate on Hays's score of 36 holes in the Eastern Open Monday. His total on a 6,500-yard course was 132—twelve under par. Think of it! At one time he shot seven consecutive birdies.

The course record was 70 until Sir Walter came along. In the morning the miracle golfer went around in 67 and in the afternoon in 65. Give up, now, all of you.

With the Majors

"Murderer Row" inactive for some time out of the first inning at the National League stadium Monday night, the Pirates were walloping the Braves, 10 to 4. Meadows batted Boston 11 to 2, and gained a full game over both the Athletics and Cleveland.

The Cubs defeated the Giants in a thrilling game, 6 to 5, while the Phillies won a ten-inning contest at St. Louis, 4 to 3.

The Detroit Red Sox won the American League pennant, 4 to 3, while the Yankees won the National League pennant, 4 to 3.

The White Sox won the Red Sox, 4 to 3, and the Yankees won the National League pennant, 4 to 3.

5 GAMES ON CARD IN SERIES

Indians Resume Action After Open Date—Twin Bill Here Wednesday.

Mike Kelley's Millers were here today to open a five-game series with the Bushmen and the hard hitters from the Flour City will be at Washington Park through Friday. A double header is scheduled Wednesday, first struggle at 2 o'clock.

All clubs in the A. A. got an off-day Monday as the western teams traveled to the eastern cities of the circuit. Minneapolis opened here this afternoon. St. Paul was at Louisville. Milwaukee at Toledo and Kansas City at Columbus.

Pennant fever has been revived among Tribe fans again now that the Indians have climbed back in the race by winning ten of their last twelve contests. The team is three games below the league-leading Brewers and one and one-half games behind the second-place Colonels.

The Bushmen played wonderful ball in the series with Louisville and are almost a sure shot to keep crowding toward the top if the pitchers continue to deliver. The locals are leading the Association in fielding and are fifth in club batting.

Sixteen contenders remained in the race for the championship of the Indiana State Women's Golf Association as match play started today over the Indianapolis Country Club course. Only eight will be left at the conclusion of today's round. Ninety-two started in the qualifying round on Monday.

Among the sixteen in the championship bracket, all of whom shot 104 or better, were Miss Naomi Hull of Kendallville, Ind., representing the Chain O' Lakes Country Club, South Bend, defending her title of champion in 1925; Mrs. B. C. Stevenson of the Highland and Meridian Hills Country Clubs, Indianapolis, a champ in 1922; and Mrs. Scott Snyder of Ft. Wayne, Ind., champion in 1924.

Run to Form
The remainder of the sixteen are made up in most part of players who came through as expected by the doers, and are feminine golfers of known ability.

Miss Hull, title-holder, waived her right to remain out of the qualifying round and enter the match play that started at 8:30 a. m. today by bye. She desired again to be the low medalist, as she was at South Bend a year ago, when she shot 92, over the Chain O' Lakes course. She did that very thing Monday, only five strokes better, at 87.

Ten in Nineties
Of the sixteen who qualified in the championship bracket it is noted by the scores that ten were in the nineties and one was 100 even. The remaining six were between that and 104. The scores are better than a year ago, and contestants say that the Country Club is a harder course than the Chain O' Lakes, where the meet was held in 1925.

Women golf players are getting better, it is said, and Indiana is producing its quota.

South Bend players, used to the soggy course surrounded by the lakes, found trouble galore in trying to make the pellet stick on the fast greens, when approaching. Some found the regular greens faster than the one used for practice near the club house.

Indianapolis held her own in the qualifying round and half the sixteen are from this city. South Bend has two, Miss Hull and Mrs. East, runner-up last year. Frankfort has two; Fort Wayne, two and Hammond and Crawfordsville, one each.

Mrs. Robert Tinsley of Crawfordsville, who scored a 99 with Miss Hull in the qualifying round Monday and she praised the northern Indiana star. The matches today point to some interesting games, both in the championship flight and the five other flights, made up in brackets of sixteen, taking care of the balance of the ninety-two entries.

Leo (Cudge) Harris, veteran local side pitcher, going good again on the pitching staff of the Asheville team of the South Atlantic Association. He let Charlotte have only two hits in a game a few days ago after being out of action with an injured hand. He has not been defeated this season.

In addition to twisting puzzling ball against Charlotte, Harris starred at bat with two doubles and a single, driving in six runs. He is "in solid" with Asheville fans.

The Asheville club is managed by Larry Gardner, former big league third sacker. The South Atlantic league is Class B. Asheville is in second place in the race.
