

DUVALL FLEES FROM WOMEN

and a participant in numerous conferences pertaining to the political welfare of Senator James E. Watson.

Next to exit was George V. Coffin, Republican county chairman and boss of the G. O. P. ball-bearing machine of which Duvall is a leading cog.

Then out came O. D. Haskett, John A. George and John W. Friday, the board of safety members. Fire Chief Jesse A. Hutsell, a Coffin machine chieftain, also was in conference with Duvall.

Delegation Intact

Mrs. O'Brien, the "Mother Jones" to the local strikers kept her delegation intact, even after the failure to see the mayor.

"Come on girls," she said, "We'll all go out to my house and get something to eat. The grocer is a good friend of mine."

They piled into automobiles. Mrs. O'Brien said after food had been secured the women would start a "peaceful persuasion" campaign around Highland Ave. car horns this afternoon in an attempt to induce workers to leave their cars.

Taking Food Away

"Tell these men they're taking food away from your children. They won't go on and work after that if they've got any red blood in their veins," she advised the women.

The march to the city hall was preceded by a meeting in Plumbers' Hall.

"We've got to do something or we'll all starve," said Mrs. O'Brien, addressing the meeting.

Mrs. O'Brien, the mother-in-law of one of the striking employees, urged the women to board the street cars and seek to induce motormen and conductors to join strikers.

"I'm willing to ride on the cow catcher and talk to the motorman," she exclaimed.

Mrs. O'Brien said the visit to Mayor Jackson should be undertaken immediately, before the city's chief executive left on vacation.

Governor Jackson left today for a trip which will last until Aug. 10, without announcing any decision on a request of a citizens' committee that he appoint a mediation committee to consider the strike.

Two More Cited

Meanwhile, in Federal Court, two more union men were cited. Wigginton, 1336 N. Illinois St., and Oscar R. Southern, R. R. 1, Bainbridge, were cited on contempt of court charges, growing out of acts of violence in connection with the strike.

Two other strikers, already cited, were questioned by Federal officials. Robert Armstrong and John M. Parker, vice presidents of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees, probably will be tried before a jury on charges of contempt against the court, it was indicated.

Frank P. Baker, attorney for the two men, declared that he would demand a jury trial for them, if answers to the charges, to be filed by Monday, are overruled.

United States District Attorney Albert Ward said that he probably would not oppose a jury trial, if it was asked, since he believes the case comes under the Clayton Act, which provides for jury trial on request. The Clayton Act specifically limits penalties on certain contempt charges.

Parker and Armstrong were released on bonds of $10,000 each Thursday, after being cited for contempt before Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell in connection with the strike. Attorneys asked a few days in which to study the complaint and prepare an answer.

Preparation of the answer to the charges was begun Thursday, after the court session.

Wigginton and Southern were questioned by Federal officials, together with Edgar Day, 22, of 2241 Kenwood Ave., and Russell Bane, 30, of 2909 Rader St., already cited on a contempt charge.

Day denied the charges, but Bane and two other men arrested with him confessed.

Day was to be brought before the court again this afternoon, where it was said an attempt would be made to get him to change his plea to guilty. The other union men are to be used as witnesses in the trials of Armstrong and Parker, it was said.

Although the court said attorneys for Parker and Armstrong should be ready for trial "by Wednesday," it was believed that if a jury trial is demanded and the request granted, the trial could not be held for several days.

Violation Charged

The bill of information on which the men were arrested Wednesday night by Federal agents and police, charges them with violating the preliminary strike injunction granted the Indianapolis Street Railway Company, July 3.

The bill alleges the men incited street car workers to strike and to continue to strike. Information contained in the bill was supplied by the Indianapolis Street Railway, it was said.

With the arrest of Wigginton and Southern, the number held by Federal agents and police since Tuesday totaled ten. Two other men, named in the bill with Wigginton, Southern, Everett Tally and Mervin McNew, are being sought by Federal agents. All these men are alleged to have thrown spikes and stones at street cars. Tally and McNew admitted they were riding in an automobile from which missiles were thrown, but denied taking any part in the affair.

They are held in the Marion County jail, pending sentence.

The nineteenth day of the strike found the street car company giving normal service all day and no violence was reported during the night. Union members met at 10 a. m. at Plumber's hall.

Meanwhile, investigation of the acts of vandalism was being carried on by the Marion County grand jury. About twenty witnesses were before that body Thursday. It is understood that more, then seventy persons have been subpoenaed.

It was pointed out that demands for a jury trial in the Federal Court case will apply only in the Armstrong Parker case.

The action of the women today followed a meeting of about 200 strike sympathizers in Plumbers' Hall, Thursday evening. Mrs. O'Brien made the principal talk.

Police clubbed a number of men and swung their clubs at women both Tuesday and Wednesday nights at E. Tenth St. and Highland Ave.

Mrs. O'Brien charged. Her daughter, Mrs. Helen Peck, 362 Highland Ave., was struck at, she said, as were a number of other women.

Her version of the affair follows:

A policeman Tuesday night arrested a fighting striker and a worker at the corner and called two riot squads to disperse the crowd which had gathered to witness the brawl. The squads not only dispersed the crowd with clubs but invaded the restaurant of T. C. Ramsey, 1147 E. Tenth St., and drove out his customers. The officers cursed loudly during the activity, Mrs. O'Brien said.

Investigation of the incident disclosed no women were struck and that Ramsey has protested to police, unavailingly. Ramsey said the only thing he could do about it would be to secure a restraining order against the police, which he does not wish to do.

SCOUT TROOP 69 SOCIAL SATURDAY

Old-fashioned carnival attractions will feature a lawn fete which will be held Saturday night in the wooded strip along Thirty-Fourth St., between Boulevard Pl. and Illinois St., by Scout Troop No. 69.

The event will end a five-weeks' campaign to finance the troop's activities during the coming year. Free entertainment will be provided by the Boy Scout Drum and Bugle Corps, Burt Servass, Hoosier magician, and Chaburne Peacock, John Watson will conduct a popular song contest.

Illuminated by hundreds of electric lights, the scouts will conduct a large country store, two ice cream booths, a soft-drink stand, fish pond enclosure, fortune tellers' booths, a refreshment service area and other concessions. They will provide curb service for motorists along Capitol Ave. and Thirty-Fourth St.
