

GREEN'S LIQUOR PARTIES CAUSE G. O. P. ANXIETY

Personal Friend of Andrews
—May Force Dry Chief to Resign Soon.

Times Washington Bureau.
WASHINGTON, July 27.—Col. Ned Green's liquor parties, given in his hotel room while he was prohibition director for Northern California, threaten to have far reaching results, not only for himself, but for his chief, Lincoln C. Andrews, and possibly for the Republican party as well.

The Green case, as the latest in a chain of embarrassing prohibition incidents, is causing predictions here that Andrews will resign from office as soon as he returns from Europe.

Wanted to Resign
In the first place, Congress adjourned without giving Andrews the additional enforcement powers for which he had asked. Andrews wanted to resign at that time, and was persuaded to remain in office only temporarily.

Since then three more occurrences have made the situation more complicated. The New York Dwyer case of huge bootleg rings; charges of corruption made against the cost guard and the grand jury investigation of Green and his confession of drinking and keeping a well stocked bar in his room.

A Personal Friend
Of the three, the last is perhaps the more damaging to Andrews. Green was a personal friend. The two had served in the Army together. Andrews had asked power to name Army officers to all his prohibition posts, and Green was present.

SUFFERED WORST FORM OF STOMACH MISERY, SHE SAYS
Bedridden Weeks at a Time; "Konjola Quickly Relieved Me," Says Local Lady.

"There is no doubt in my mind about the power of this new Konjola, for I believe I suffered the worst forms of stomach misery, but I began taking this medicine after everything else failed and now my digestion is perfect and my whole system is benefited," said Mrs. Mary H. Russell, popular Indianapolis lady, living at 1024 East Washington Street, this city, while talking a few days ago with The Konjola Man, who is meeting large crowds daily at the Hook drug store, Pennsylvania and Market Streets, Indianapolis.

"Yes, I had stomach trouble 10 years, and I would be laid up in bed for weeks at a time," continued Mrs. Russell. "I would have vomiting spells that lasted 3 and 4 days. Nothing I ate would digest or stay in my system. Such quantities of gas would form in my stomach that I felt like I would burst. I would have terrible attacks of cramps, and just double over in pain, and I would have burning spells from my throat down to the pit of my stomach. Awful pains would center in my chest and back, and my heart would pump so hard I became frightened. Worst of all, I couldn't eat a thing that would stay on my stomach and digest right. I lost weight and my health kept going down faster every day."

"Now, I have tried about everything possible for my suffering, and when I started Konjola I admit that I didn't expect it to help me any more than the other medicines and treatments. Well, no person could be more surprised than I was the second day. I felt better than I had for a long time, but of course I was still afraid to eat. I kept taking Konjola and a few days later my appetite became almost ravenous. I ate a much larger meal than I ever did in several months, and it digested fine. That gave me confidence, and I improved more and more each day. Now I can eat fried food, beans or just anything that I couldn't think of eating before, and my food is giving me plenty of nourishment, so that I have gained a great deal of weight. I never have the vomiting spells, or cramps, and my digestion seems to be as perfect as anyone could hope for. I have gotten relief from the gas and burning feeling in my throat and chest, and my heart doesn't feel like it is running away as it did before."

"Konjola quickly relieved me of all the stomach suffering, and improved my health in every other way at the same time, so I cheerfully endorse this medicine."

The Konjola Man is at Hook's drug store, Pennsylvania and Market Streets, Indianapolis, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

Konjola is sold in every Hook drug store in Indianapolis and by all drug stores in the other towns of this vicinity.—Advertisement.

sumably the type of official he had in mind.

It was Green, too, who suggested inducting local officers into the Federal enforcement service, and Andrews approved of this plan until he was forced to abandon it in the face of a storm of protests from all parts of the country.

Embarrassment Seen
If Andrews resigns just before the fall elections, it will undoubtedly be embarrassing to President Coolidge to name a successor at that time. In making his choice Coolidge would be forced to move with great caution among the various shades of wet and dry sentiment, facing the possibility that five, and possibly six States would be in danger of slipping from Republican control if a vigorous enforcement campaign should be started.

Andrews consented to defer his resignation on account of the political situation, it is understood here.

More Scandals
But if more enforcement scandals should be unearthed, it may be more embarrassing to the Administration to have Andrews in office than to have him out.

In either case, it seems probable that President Coolidge will have to reorganize prohibition enforcement between now and November, and in doing so cannot fail, whatever course he follows, to alienate a certain number of those voters who regard prohibition as the major election issue this year.

BOARD OF WORKS ASKS FOR MORE

Budget Total $168,000 Over 1926 Figure.

Condition of streets and rising street lighting and water bills were named today by board of works members as accounting largely for an increase of $168,000.86 over 1926, sought in the board's budget for next year, which totals $1,030,120.76.

"The present condition of streets, alleys and sidewalks surely justifies an increase," the board declared in recommending appropriation of $60,000, almost double the amount this year, for street and alley materials.

The board requests an increase of $43,000 for street cleaning and a gain of $10,000 for bridge repairing. A total of $415,000 for the city's water bills, $5,000 more than this year, is sought. Street lighting accounts for $385,000.

A number of salary increases are provided in the board's estimate. The stipend of the municipal asphalt plant superintendent would be raised from $1,620 to $2,400, with the office of assistant superintendent abolished.

MALT, CORKS, BOOMING
Manufacturer Census Shows Huge Gains in Certain Businesses.

Times Washington Bureau.
WASHINGTON, July 27.—Business in certain lines is booming. Malt manufacture increased in value from $16,431,000 in 1923 to $24,053,000 in 1925, a jump of 46.5 per cent, according to a United States manufacture census report made public today.

Production of bottle corks increased in value during the two-year period from $5,200,146 to $6,275,585. Malt can be used in brewing.

Grocer Has 'Sideshow' Bird, 'Monkey-Faced Owl'

E. E. Burns, holding the "monkey-faced owl."

Probably one of the queerest living species of owl is the "monkey-faced owl," captured last week by E. E. Burns, grocer, 510 S. Alabama St.

The present owner of the owl said it is the second one he has seen. He believes it to be a species of eagle. Burns is keeping the owl in a crate at his home. He captured the bird last Wednesday while driving in the country northwest of Martinsville. Stopping his automobile, he asked persons with him if they saw "the monkey" sitting on a tree root. Everyone agreed they did, so taking a seat cover from his car he captured it.

Has Long Beak
The bird's face is long and is covered with hair. Its beak is extraordinarily long and curved. When its head is dropped against its white breast, from the front it looks much like a monkey.

It can turn its head completely around and thus front an adversary from any side. When Burns tore off one of the slats on the front of the box and brought the owl into the sunlight, it blinked a couple times and then started to fight. Feet first, it attacked Burns, fopped its wings and made several passes at him with its beak.

two other fellows and myself were hunting in the northwest part of the State and one of them shot a full-grown owl of this species.

Had One Stuffed
"We had that one stuffed and it now is in the office of W. R. Hunter, real estate man, who was with us. "You'll notice the down on the back of this owl. He's very young." The owl has a wing spread of more than two feet.

When Burns attempted to restore it to the cage, it snapped at him with its beak and cut a gash in his finger. Burns said he did not intend to keep the owl, but probably will sell it.

Burns said the bird escaped from its box one night and because of being able to see in the dark, was "mighty hard to catch."

FOR Stomach Acid PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda
For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle
Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five and fifty cent bottles, any drug store.—Advertisement.

JOHN JAY CURTIS IS NEW PRESIDENT OF BOBBS-MERRILL

Affiliated With Publishing House 53 Years—One of Organizers.

The sole surviving organizer of the Bobbs-Merrill Company was at the helm of the firm today. He was the unanimous choice of directors to succeed William C. Bobbs, who died in February.

The new president is John Jay Curtis, who has been in Hollywood for the last several years selling movie rights to novels published by the firm.

Curtis' connection with the publishing house covers fifty-three years. Sales promotion has been his life work. He was born in Johnson County and lived in Indianapolis for many years until he went to New York to establish the firm's office there.

The new president originated and introduced many of the most important features now prevailing in making, advertising and merchandising popular books. Colored jackets for books and the adoption of titles to catch popular fancy instead of prosaic names used by authors are among the practices he introduced.

His outstanding promotional achievements popularized such well-known works as "When Knighthood Was in Flower," "Alice of Old Vincennes," and many books of poems by James Whitcomb Riley, with whom he was intimately acquainted.

Having chosen Curtis, the directors re-elected Julian Bobbs treasurer, renamed John R. Carr chairman of the board, and selected Ernest Kneffer of the Kneffer-Bates Company a member of the board.

Carr heads the educational book department. The law book department is in charge of Charles G. Kryter and Robert L. Moorhead, board members. D. L. Chambers, the other director, has charge of the publishing of general literature.

The late William C. Bobbs' stock was inherited by the widow, Mrs. Ruth Pratt Bobbs, who is in Paris, and by Julian Bobbs.

From DOG to JEWEL

"Lost and Found" is the head on a classification in the want ad section that daily offers to Times readers, for a small fee, the opportunity of recovering anything from a dog to a jewel.

A large number of the articles lost by Times readers last year were recovered through a Lost and Found ad. The rewards paid out for return of these lost articles totaled hundreds of dollars, and among our proudest possessions are letters of gratitude and appreciation which The Times received.

Some times it's a priceless gem—some times a valuable dog, an heirloom or family treasure—of little value other than its treasure—but a "Lost Ad" restores it to its owner.

The Cost of Two Lines is But 28c

Could you say that is much for such a service—reaching over 200,000 readers daily, and possibly the very one who has found what you lost? A courteous clerk will help you write the ad, and you can charge it by phoning.
