

HEARING MUST BE HELD ON SANITARY AREA TAX FIGURE

Made Necessary by Ruling of State Supreme Court.

The State board of tax commissioners must hold a hearing on a proposed tax levy of 65 per cent for the Indianapolis sanitary district for 1926 instead of 55 cents, a rate which Shank administration and county officials established.

The Indiana Supreme Court made this ruling Monday, affirming a decision of Marion County Superior Court.

The Supreme Court decided that the city council is the only body having authority to fix the tax rate and the amount as to each city fund. The Shank administration council had passed over Mayor's Shank's veto a levy of 65 cents in place of the 55 cents Shank recommended.

To Try to Collect

Should the tax board, at its second hearing on the levy, fix the rate at 65 cents, the board of sanitary commissioners will try to collect the additional cent in the second installment of taxes to be paid by the first Monday in November, according to Russell T. MacFall, board member. MacFall said the additional cent requested would give the board $65,000.

He expressed doubt that collection could be made from taxpayers because the first installments of taxes have been paid.

From Fall Payments

"However, we might be able to collect one-half, or $32,500 from fall tax payments," MacFall said.

The Supreme Court also reversed a decision of the Marion County Circuit Court and held that a 50 per cent horizontal increase in the State tax board ordered for the Western Electric Company should be held invalid because the concern was not notified.

Dwyer Appeal Seen

Rum King and Chief Associate Convicted at New York.

By United Press

NEW YORK, July 27.—Although William V. Dwyer is expected to begin his imprisonment in a local jail today pending removal to Atlanta penitentiary, his counsel announced that an immediate appeal will be taken from the verdict which Monday night convicted Dwyer and his chief associate, E. C. Cohron, of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law.

Dwyer and Cohron were each sentenced to two years in Atlanta prison on Judge Julian W. Mack. In addition, Dwyer was fined $10,000, and Cohron, $5,000.

The pair, chief figures in the Government's attack on the $40,000,000 east coast liquor traffic, were found guilty after a trial lasting four weeks.

Lady Astor Vanishes

May Be Enroute to America With Her Children.

By United Press

NEW YORK, July 27.—Lady Astor, the American-born member of parliament, has disappeared from the political and social life of London and today her friends were puzzling over a two-line announcement published in the Times which said:

"Lady Astor has left England for three months; no correspondence will be forwarded."

The United Press understands that Lady Astor is en route to the United States with her children, but so far this has not been confirmed.

Restaurant is Looted

Burglar Takes $100 After Entering by Window.

A burglar who broke a side window and entered the Paul Janneman restaurant, 953 S. Meridian St., Monday night, took $100 in cash.

Mrs. Ruth O'Connor, 4455 Park Ave., told police her maid left Monday night and after she was gone a purse and $85 was missing.

Clarence Cottage, 125 Kansas St., saw three men attempting to take a spare tire from his auto in front of his house. They fled, deserting a Ford sedan, which, police say, had been stolen from C. M. De Hoff, 937 S. West St.

U. S. Type a Mystery

By NEA Service
NEW YORK, July 27.—Strength, kindness and mystery—those are the typical qualities in the face of the American man.

Dr. Victor Frisch, Austrian sculptor and once favorite pupil of the great Rodin, makes this analysis of the faces he sees here.

The sculptor came to the United States to do a series of portrait busts of prominent citizens. Colonel E. M. House, the intimate adviser of President Wilson, was his first subject. Colonel House, says Dr. Frisch, has a typical American face and for that reason was a fascinating but difficult model.

"Women in America have less interesting faces than the men," says Dr. Frisch.

"Their appearance is less original. I believe this is because for generations they have been imitating European models of style and beauty. They still are doing so. Women the world over try to smile, walk, dress and otherwise look like American women. They have succeeded to a certain extent, and so all look alike."

Beauties From West

The most beautiful girls in the United States, I think, are from the West. The really striking beauties here are of the tall blonde type."

American men's faces are a mask, Dr. Frisch says. They go farther in this respect even than the Orientals and often present a baffling enigma.

"The so-called 'poker face,' he says, is the distinguishing characteristic of the new American. His face lack the sternness of the former American type of the New Englander, but is, nevertheless, not so obvious. It also lacks the mobility of all Will Look Alike.

"If your immigration quota law is maintained, the time will come when all Americans will look more or less alike and be more characteristic as a race, I believe, than any other nation on earth. This phenomenon is due, perhaps, to the food you eat, the water you drink, your attitude toward life."

To illustrate this theory, Dr. Frisch points to the model he chose for his bust, "The Young American." For his bust, "The Young American" is of mixed Polish and Austrian ancestry. The sculptor declares the lad is a typical American in appearance, but that if he had been born and reared in either Poland or Austria, he would be entirely different.

Russell Karns, 12, of E. Sixteenth St., testified he stood in the middle of Sixteenth and Bellefontaine Sts., July 16, shouted and waved his arms vainly in an attempt to prevent the accident and that he was nearly struck by a telephone pole, broken off by the overturned ambulance.

Other witnesses testified the bus was speeding and other that it was going slowly. Some testified the ambulance siren was blowing and others that it was not.

DOCTORS HAVE MEETING

Discuss Means of Ascertaining Views of Candidates.

To discuss means of ascertaining views of all legislative candidates from the Seventh District regarding public health laws, Seventh District county committees of the Indiana State Medical Association met at the association's offices, 904 Hume-Mansur Bldg., Monday night.

Dr. Charles R. Sowder, chairman of the Marion County legislative committee, said the influence of the medical profession acting in unison throughout the State would do much to guard against the many forms of quackery and dishonest methods.

BOY BITTEN BY DOG

Max Williams, 14, of 316 E. Michigan St., was taken to the Methodist Hospital for treatment Monday night after he was bitten by a dog.

Police were told he was delivering groceries to the home of Mrs. G. L. Stone, 532 Massachusetts Ave., when the dog attacked him. Mrs. Stone said she would keep the dog penned up.
