

U. S. SEES SEAS SWEEP CLEAR OF RUM SHIPS SOON

Officials Pleased With Cooperation Pledged by Great Britain.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Rum runners will be virtually out of business by the new anti-smuggling regulations arranged with Great Britain by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrew. It was predicted at Federal prohibition headquarters today.

By the new methods, to be put into effect immediately, the modern buccanniers may be wiped clear of the seas as were pirates in the olden days, one dry official said. He outlined the three main features of the new agreement as follows:

1. Exchange of intelligence between the two nations.
2. Stricter British registration for ships and closer scrutiny of papers before clearing vessels.

3. Authority for United States Coast Guard boats to pursue bootleg ships into British territorial waters around the Bahamas.

Under the new plan, British customs officials will furnish American authorities with all possible information concerning the movement of ships suspected of operating as rum runners. The United States will be warned when a boat leaves a British port for Rum Row. British officials will appear in court for the United States to aid in prosecuting ship owners and ship masters caught violating the law.

Great Britain has agreed to stricter registration of merchant vessels. Vessels also must reveal to British custom officers the true nature of their cargo.

Officials said there is no law at present prohibiting a British ship from clearing a home port with a cargo of liquor for the United States, but American port authorities and the coast guard can be notified of their destination and movement.

The agreement probably will allow the dry navy to chase rum runners right into the Bahamas and Nassau. Heretofore the smugglers have used speedy craft and fled to foreign waters when pursued by the Government patrol boats.

Officials were highly gratified with the cooperation Great Britain is freely giving the United States in law enforcement, and said that the "hands-across-the-sea" system would work both ways, in that America will furnish England with information that will prevent smuggling into that country.

NEW CARS SAVE ICE

The first test of an improved refrigerator car with divided wire-basket bunker showed that 4,060 fewer pounds of ice were needed than required by the old type refrigerator car.

Old Shoes Good for Admission

Cast-off clothing or shoes will admit boys and girls under 15 to Broad Ripple Park from now until Aug. 10. Phil Brown, manager of the bathing beach, seeks the clothing for the Near East Relief campaign committee of which Mrs. Hugh McGibeny is chairman. Free use of the park pool also will be granted to each boy and girl who brings clothing that will be of use to the destitute.

Tuesday, Aug. 10, will be city-wide "Bundle Day," with churches and firehouses as bundle stations. A carload of old garments is sought for shipment to the Bible land.
