

CATHOLICS HOLD FINAL RITES IN CHURCHES TODAY

Sacred Places Will Be Abandoned Saturday in Law Protest.

By A. W. Folger
United Press Staff Correspondent
MEXICO CITY, July 30.—Millions of Catholics gathered at shrines and churches today throughout Mexico to participate in the final rites of the church before the clergy abandons the sacred places Saturday in protest against religious laws, limiting activities of priests or ministers of any sect, which become effective Sunday.

The Government has ordered municipal authorities to appoint committees to take over the property.

Troops Ready

Every precaution has been taken against disorder. All Catholics and other persons without licenses for possessing arms will be deprived of their weapons. Troops have been ordered to be on call in their barracks.

Meanwhile, the Catholic League for the Defense of Religious Liberty is organizing a boycott with which it hopes to coerce the government from its position.

Two sources of trouble are: The labor demonstration in support of the socialist government, Sunday, and among the Indians, who are fiercely religious. It is alleged that troops, disguised as workmen will take part in the parade.

Calles Explains

President Calles told labor delegates that at the moment when international questions, which were to be decided "whether Mexico is or is not a sovereign country," were occupying the state, the clergy acted "in totally bad faith, stating that they did not recognize the constitution, and ordering all faithful to disobey and oppose the constitution."

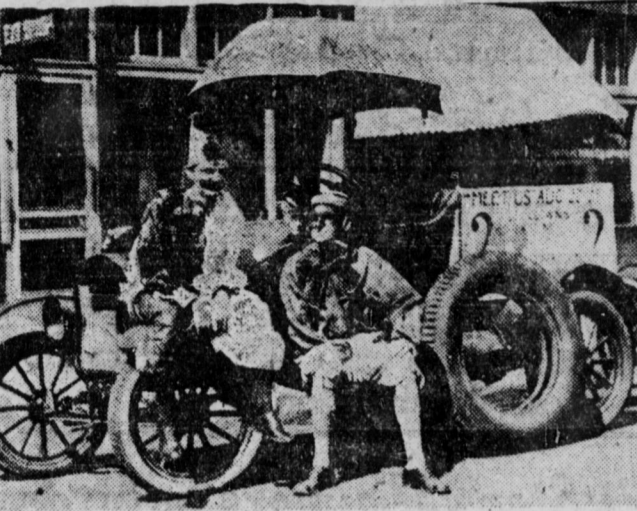

Police officials have been informed that many Catholic groups are meeting in private homes, and also allege that many Catholics are secreting arms in their houses.

Editor Arrested

Antonio Zuniga, editor and publisher of a minor Catholic bi-weekly, El Parol, has been arrested, charged with inciting the public by his writings.

The newspaper, El Sol, published an unconfirmed report that police plan to guard churches at night to prevent removal of valuables.

Firemen Are Real Advertisers

Trick trucks and trick noses are advertising the Greater Indianapolis Field days to be staged at the State Fairground, Aug. 21 and 22, for the benefit of the police and firemen's pension funds. Firemen C. R. Taylor, left and John Dougherty, right, of engine house 2, 1136 Prospect St., are shown in trick outfits with a truck donated for the purpose by the Frank Hatfield Ford agency.

COOLIDGE'S HAT TOSSED IN RING TOO SOON, FEAR

Child's Statement Causes
Concern Among Friends of President.

By John Montgomery.

United Press Staff Correspondent
PAUL SMITH'S, N. Y., July 30.—The statement of Richard Washburn Child, formerly ambassador to Italy, who for the last three days has been the guest of President Coolidge, that many of his followers expect him to be a candidate for a third term already has become the occasion of concern among friends of the President, who feel that the statement was premature.

While undoubtedly Child's view is correct, some of the President's closest friends feel that the statement at this time was entirely too early and will do the President's prospects no good. This utterance of President Coolidge's guest, they argue, being in the nature of launching a third term boom for the President, is so far in advance of the campaign that his force will be completely lost before the campaign gets under way. But more than that they fear that thus placing the President in the position of bidding for another term will tend to lend political color to important executive acts between now and the convention.

An indication of this reaction of the President's friends came almost before Child's words had reached the telegraph wires. An important Republican leader and close friend of the President who stopped here for lunch declined to follow Child's lead and discuss the 1928 campaign with newspaper correspondents on the ground that such a discussion was premature.

SWAN'S NIGHT OUT

LONDON.—The police of London have all sorts of odd characters to handle, but the "Bobby" who bumped into a waddling swan in blackest midnight, in High St., Godalming, claims the most unusual experience. The astonished official guided the "old bird" back to its home in the river Wey. What the bird said to the policeman is not considered evidence.

SPECTER OF WAR STALKS AGAIN IN BALKAN NATIONS

Anniversary of World Conflict Sees Jugo-Slav-Bulgarian Crisis.

By United Press
LONDON, July 30.—On the twelfth anniversary of the battles which began the World War, the Balkans where the first shots in that conflict were fired, was upset today by intrigue and irregular battles which may at any time raise the specter of war in Europe.

The latest of the irregular clashes occurred this week at Krivabalanka on the Jugo-Slav-Bulgarian frontier.

Only the intervention of the League of Nations to date has prevented open hostilities between these small, restless countries. Diplomats fear that if such hostilities once got well started the major powers of Europe soon would be involved in another catastrophic struggle.

Many informed observers today believe that the league's influence is waning, principally because of the recent difficulties at Geneva and the failure to effectuate the Locarno agreements for peace and security. If the Locarno commitments are not lived up to it is the opinion of many persons that the league would be unable to prevent the spread of hostilities once they began in earnest.

FARMERS FACE LOWER PRICES

Bankruptcy Feared for Tillers of the Soil.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, July 30.—Farmers are faced with a new price depression of agriculture products that threatens to send many tillers of the soil into bankruptcy this year.

The Agriculture Department made public today statistics showing that farm prices dropped 4 points to 135 per cent of the pre-war level between June 15 and July 15—a time of year when farmers depend on the sale of their commodities to carry them over the lean winter months.

This rapid price decline did not strike business in general. While the farm prices have decreased 14 points in the last year, non-agriculture commodities declined on 4 points in twelve months to 160 per cent of pre-war level.

Meantime, the purchasing power of farm products has also steadily declined. The department placed the index of purchasing power for July at 87 and predicted that it would drop to 85 for July, the lowest point since December, 1914. Thus the farmer's dollar is worth 13 cents less than it was before the war.
