

STIRRIN' the DOPE

By VEDDER GARD

BASKETBALL must have a peculiar literary effect upon those who coach the game. It seems as though every mentor wants to tell the world all about how to make more points than the opposition. Coach Barry of the University of Iowa is the latest to put it down in black and white. His book is just out.

We always are reminded of the advice of Coach Blood, former Passaic (N. J.) High School basketball professor, when one of these dissertations on the hard-wood sport comes out.

The wise man from the East, now coach at West Point, said a mouthful when asked his formula for a winning team. Blood will tell, so the saying goes—and here's what he told: "Get the ball; keep the ball; put the ball in the basket." What is more simple?

Ned Niles, the luckiest man in baseball, pitched for Cincinnati Reds Friday in an exhibition at Butler, Pa., against a semi-pro outfit. Friday, the Thirteenth, means nothing to Ned. He allowed thirteen hits and eight runs, but Cincy got a dozen tallies. Fate is always kind to Ned.

Jug O'Rum won the other day at Saratoga. If there's anything in a name that horse should be a sure winner—especially on a wet track.

THE veterans in baseball are the hardest to manage. They all know too much. In some instances, maybe, they know more than the manager. But that's not the point. Every enterprise must have a directing hand, whether it be baseball or some other business. Loyalty, after all, is one of the greatest virtues.

The Pittsburgh dissonance was not entirely unexpected. Rumors of mutiny in the ranks of the Pirates have been rife last year and this. Something drastic had to be done.

The officers are hard as flint up in Flint, Mich. Who ever heard of raiding a golf club for liquor? We always thought that was part of the game.

The Indians made one run on Thursday and the same on Friday. A run a day keeps the pennant away.

HELEN WILLS has always been such a nice girl. We would like to see her play in the national meet, in disobedience of her parents' instructions—and win it. This would shock every one, even the tennis experts, who gradually are coming to the viewpoint that Helen's operation likely will cause the California girl's defeat and loss of her American title.

A. G. Buffum, national roque champion, appears certain of retaining his title in the Warsaw, Ind., meet. Now you tell one.

Something else one can not blame the gentleman for—a scientist says that it's the female mosquito that does the biting. These women!

The Rub-Tex baseball team is scheduled at Bridgeport, Ind., on Sunday—a rubber contest, so to speak.

Afraid we have to let that man score in Billy Evans' baseball puzzle—in spite of the rules. A famous pressman once said: "If the rules of grammar interfere with my speech I discard them." Guess we'd have to discard the rules. Then the protest would be allowed—proving us wrong. But we wouldn't believe it.

TODAY'S FABLE—As soon as the Haugh Hotel is moved the Soldiers and Sailors Monument in the Circle will be transferred to a site to be determined later and the Indianapolis ball club will take over the Circle for a new ball park.

Fame, indeed, is fleeting. Just off hand, we can think of eight world champion Pirates who are no longer on Dreyfuss' pay roll. They are Carey, Adams, Bigbee, Thompson, Culliton, Oldham, Sheehan and Moore.

Forbes Rated Fast and Willing

Harry Forbes of Columbus, Ohio, fresh from his victory over Dominic Petrone at Utica, N. Y., July 26, has arrived in Indianapolis for his ten-round match with Ray Ryckell of Chicago, Tuesday night in the military arena at Ft. Harrison.

Forbes appears to be in fine shape and is pitching into the training grind with zest. Joe Paglini, of Louisville and Mickey Santnick are boxing with Forbes every day at the Arcade and chances are the Ohio bantam will be "ready to go to town" when he steps in with Ryckell.

The Utica (N. Y.) Press, in commenting on the Forbes-Petrone scrap, said, in part:

"Petrone, flushed by his recent draw with Bushy Graham in New York, caught a genuine Tartar in Forbes, a two-faced, fast, action man who is a flash who has the best ever offered local fans. The two-toe fighters all the way kept the fans on their feet most of the time as the exchanges in mid-ring and against the ropes became wild under one attack, as did the crowd, which saw Forbes out in front when the bell ended activities."

BOWLING MEETING

The Century Bowling League will hold its opening meeting Monday night, 8:30, at the Century alleys on E. Pearl St. New applications will be taken up and any team wishing to enter and all last year's captains are asked to attend.

MILWAUKEE EXCITED OVER INVASION OF OWNIE BUSH'S INDIANS

UNKNOWN DRASTIC ACTION TAKEN BY PIRATE MANAGEMENT

Max Carey, Captain of Team, Deposed and Waivers Are Asked—Adams and Bigbee Released.

Sidney Wood Surprise of Boys' Tennis—Junior Stars Clash.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—A runty little tennis player, unknown by the powers in tennis, was to meet a protegee of William T. Tilden, called by the champion, "the perfect tennis player," here today for the national boys' tennis championship on the grass courts of the South Side Tennis Club.

The unheralded finalist is Sidney Wood of Forest Hills, L. I., and the lad he meets is Warren (Junior) Coen of Kansas City, ranking player among the lads under 15.

Young Wood, unknown by the ranking committee at the beginning of the tournament, deposed one highly-touted boy star after the other, finally defeating Billy O'Loughlin of Pittsburgh in the semi-final yesterday in straight sets. Young Wood ranked next to Coen in the ranking committee's notion, and was seeded in the No. 2 position. Wood was not seeded.

Hardly more than the net, Wood and tall Keith Gledhill of Santa Barbara, Cal., yesterday defeated Coen and O'Loughlin for the national boys' doubles championship.

Wood, with his tousled yellow hair, conductor blue blazer and knickers offered a strange contrast to the neatly flannelled Coen; but Coen's game, perfect in style and form lacks the smash and fight of the weakened eastern boys.

In the semi-finals of the junior singles, Emmet Pare, Chicago, was to meet John Doe, Santa Monica, Cal., a son of the former woman star, Violet Sutton Doe. In the other half of the bracket, Julius Seligson, New York, who eliminated the favorite, Berkeley Bell of Texas, will meet Robert Seller, San Francisco.

The officers are hard as flint up in Flint, Mich. Who ever heard of raiding a golf club for liquor? We always thought that was part of the game.

RUMOR ONLY

All Quiet on Fistic Front—Action Due Monday.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—With Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney out of town, Promoter Rickard preparing for a week-end away from the city and the boxing officials away from their office, there was little to feed upon today but rumors.

One rumor is as good as another, but it looked to be an even money bet that Dempsey will get his license Monday or will be given enough assurance to keep him in training for the fight.

Dempsey has his hands full of lawyers defending civil suits. Tunney already has his license and Rickard does not want to go into court.

"All I want them to do," Rickard said today, "is to tell me one way or another, yes or no and not keep me waiting. If the license committee doesn't want this fight, in New York it is only fair that I should be told so I can go elsewhere."

Another world's champion on the card, Charley "Phil" Rosenberg, boss of the bantams, shared a ten-round draw with Joey Sanger of Milwaukee. While Rosenberg was hardly ever in danger of being defeated, he was forced to extend himself more than once. The Milwaukee boxer, after dropping the early rounds, staged a whirlwind comeback to get on even terms before the final bell. Rosenberg's title was not at stake.

Leo Wax, claimant of the welter-weight championship of Australia, was no match for Clyde Hull, a Texas product, and the referee stopped the fight at the end of the second round.

More than 10,000 persons paid $55,000 to witness the bouts.

In Meet Here

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Miss Helen Wills, national woman's tennis champion, was undecided today whether she would defend her championship in the tournament starting Monday at Forest Hills.

"I have just received a telegram from my father telling me not to play next week, but I think he may have become unduly alarmed," Miss Wills said. "I sent him another wire assuring him that I felt all right and that I would not endanger myself by starting in the tournament."

Eager to Defend Title

"Beyond feeling rather tired after I lost to Mrs. Mallory at Rye Friday I was in good condition and I want to play next week, although mother and dad are against it. It would not look right for me to return home without defending the championship and I would much rather be defeated in the tournament than withdraw by entry."

"I am going to see Mr. Myrick (former president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association) and ask him what he thinks about it. After talking to him I may make a decision, but right now I feel that I will be on the court Monday."

Strength Fades

Friday Miss Wills played brilliantly through the first set which she took at 8-6, but in the latter part of the second set her strength seemed to leave her and she lost, 6-4. Mrs. Mallory then took the third set, 6-2. Miss Wills showing increasing fatigue.

Miss Wills' defeat by Mrs. Mallory, following her defeat by Elizabeth Ryan at Seabright, have given many who have watched her game a conviction that she has not recovered from the operation she underwent in Paris sufficiently to justify her completing the season.
