

STUMP OPPOSED TO SEATING TWO

Raps Watsoh, Robinson for Vote Quiz Stand.

By Times Special
MARION, Ind., Aug. 18.—Albert Stump, Democratic candidate for United States Senator, pledged himself Tuesday night to vote against the seating of William Vane of Pennsylvania and of Frank Smith of Illinois, should they be elected to the Senate.

Stump addressed a conference of the Eleventh district Democrats at the courthouse.

"If the circumstances were less grim, we could better enjoy the remark of Abe Martin that 'Jake Bentley's oldest son has abandoned his Indiana farm and moved to eastern Pennsylvania, where he expects to vote for a living.'"

Stump addressed a conference of the Eleventh district Democrats at the courthouse.

"You will recall that Senator Reed introduced a resolution to investigate the expenditure of money in primaries. You will recall the startling disclosures of that investigation. Disclosures which shocked the conscience of America. Official admissions of witnesses revealed that some $3,000,000 was spent in the Pennsylvania primary merely to obtain the nomination. Senator Reed, who conducted the investigation, declared in a public address after the investigation that he was morally certain that not half the money spent in that primary was disclosed by the investigation."

Getting License to Wed Excites People

"Most persons are excited when they fill out their marriage license applications," asserted Mrs. Effie Carter, deputy clerk, today when she was puzzled over the names of a prospective bride and groom attached to an application.

The application asked for the full Christian and sir name of each applicant. The bridegroom filled out the space with "United Brethren" and his bride "Methus Church."

"I suppose the word Christian confused them," laughed Mrs. Carter. She also said a young man in his haste to get a license filled out the side intended for the woman and handed it in.

"He blushed when I told him that he had filled out his sweetheart's name and that it is the custom to know something about her, too," said Mrs. Carter.

CHANGE IN BONDS NOT FELT HERE

German Revaluation Plan to Have Little Effect in City.

Better employ a staff of accountants, attorneys, interpreters and foreign bond experts if you expect to profit from the revaluation plan of the German Government to replace municipal and State bonds on a 12.5 per cent basis.

Although bankers declared some German bonds are in Indianapolis.

no one would admit ownership. One banker said he knew of about $100,000 of first war loans sent in to be converted.

Fred M. Dickson, Indiana Trust Company president, said he knew of no one holding German war loan securities in Indianapolis. "There are only a few held here. The revaluation plan will profit Indianapolis persons little, if any," he said.

Speculators are left out under the plan, because ownership before July 1, 1920, must be proven. The German Embassy announced that holders of bonds will be given new bonds at the rate of twenty-five reichsmarks for every 1,000 gold mark value of the old loan. Drawing certificates, which in thirty years are to be redeemed at five times their value, plus 4 1/2 per cent interest annually, also are issued.

Difficult to Prove Ownership of the securities before the inflation period is difficult to prove, bankers state.

Hans Kruger, a commissioner of the German government, located at 42 Broadway, New York, has been in America several months to effect the exchange for American holders. Local banks send the paper direct to New York, after filling out numerous documents. Some local persons who have relatives in Germany have inherited bonds eligible to exchange, it was said.

John P. Frenzel Jr., Merchants National Bank vice president, said he did not recall seeing any of the coupons going through the bank, although some bonds from Frankfurt and Cologne were received here more than twenty years ago. Most persons who held the papers "wiped the slate clean, and forgot about them," he said.

Practically Worthless
A recent communication from the New York commissioner stated that

$ to 15 per cent bonds were redeemable at the rate of 25 marks (6.25) against 16,700,000 marks of the old treasury notes, which shows the paper practically worthless.

Theodore Stempel, of the Fletcher American National Bank, said that when he visited Germany last year one banking institution had 24,000 accountants employed in the building. Normal force this year is 5,000, he said.

Bankers recalled when Indianapolis was flooded with the old German marks by the "carload" during the inflation period. People bought the marks by the "barrel" or a small figure, hoping to make money when their value was restored. But they never "came back."

Present value of the new gold, richmark is 23.55 cents, practically the same as the old mark before the war. The old money was repudiated.

A court of antique dealers, to settle disputes regarding the value, age or genuineness of curios and objects of art, is held regularly in London.
