Miss Hilda Irene Spangler, daughter of Mrs. Marie Spangler of Terre Haute, became the bride of Albert Moran at St. Joan of Arc Church Tuesday morning, with the Rev. Matthew Herold officiating.

A group of bridal aids was played by Miss Marie Moore, organist, as the guests were assembling, the wedding march from "Lohengrin" as the bridal party entered and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" for the recessional. During the reading of the service Miss Cynthia Tuite sang "At Dawning" and during mass Millard's "Ave Maria" and Bizet's "Agnus Dei."

The bridesmaid, Miss Justine Sims, wore blue silk crepe and a large black picture hat of velvet and a corsage bouquet of Columbia roses. Harry Moran of Greencastle, Ind., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The bride was gowned in bois de rose crepe, made with full skirt. She wore a rose colored picture hat and a corsage bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

A wedding breakfast was served at the Clayspool, following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Moran left on a wedding trip to the East and will be at home after Oct. 1 at 1145 Fairfield Ave.

In honor of Miss Lorene Whitham, who will be married to Allin Kibben Ingalls of Chicago Sept. 15, Miss Sarah Rodecker, 2034 N. Capitol Ave., entertained with a bridge party Tuesday evening.

The bridal colors of blue and gold were carried out in yellow garden flowers placed in blue bowls on the tables. In a small suit case, cleverly decorated with pictures representing the romance of the bride-elect, a shower of beautiful handkerchiefs was presented to Miss Whittham.

The hostess was assisted by her mother and the guests included Misses Pauline Holmes, Sarah Frances Downs, Julia Brown, Avonelle Thorp, Ruth McKenzie, Glenn Schwenk, Anna G. Any one interested is invited to attend, and workers of Cadle Tabernacle especially are invited. It is requested that each person attending bring one dish for the noon meal.

In honor of Miss Lillie Kinninger, who will be married to Edward S. Timberlake Sept. 20, Mrs. Edward Kinninger was hostess Monday evening for a miscellaneous shower, at her home on Bluff Rd. The house was decorated with garden flowers in the bridal colors of yellow and white. Under an arch of smilax, forming the centerpiece at the table, a miniature bride and groom were placed.

Corsage bouquets were given as favors and Miss Kinninger's gifts were concealed in a yellow and white basket under a Japanese umbrella and surrounded by Japanese lanterns. The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Harry Bolinger. The guests included Mesdames Louise Kinninger, Oscar Kerbox and Misses Bertha Ellinger, Clara Kinninger, Alma and Frida Ellinger, Florence Fox, Ruth Timberlake, Elnora and Helen Hodde, Mildred and Helen Schieber, Marie Schliensker, Hilda Krone, Marjory Freeman, Dorothy Stoll, Alice Haverkamp and Helen Schwartz.

PASTOR, WIFE ESCAPE
Automobile Practically Demolished Between Street Cars.

Though their auto, wedged between two street cars, practically was demolished last Tuesday, the Rev. W. J. Cleaver, 63, of Carmel, Ind., was uninjured and his wife suffered only minor cuts about the head and shoulder.

Witnesses told Lieutenant Forsythe and squad that the auto first was struck by a north-bound car in charge of W. J. Franzman, 319 Douglass St., motorman, and dragged sixty-five feet north of the Twenty-Sixth and Illinois sts. crossing. There the south-bound car, with W. B. Cheesman, 433 N. Illinois St. as motorman, struck it.

Philip Schultz, 352 W. Twenty-Eighth St., was charged with driving while intoxicated, after his auto collided with an auto owned by Thomas (Tom) 431 N. Noble St., parked in front of that address.

Her Own Way. A Story of a Girl of Today

JOAN IS BUSINESSLIKE
"Oh," Joan exclaimed as though she were interrupting some one.

"Of course, I am very sorry that Mr. Elkins has been ill, but I am sure if he is able to see you now, he will be able to see Bud and me. I wish you would tell him that I am coming to see him tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. If he is not able to see me I understand that his son has taken over much of his legal business, and I think that he might make the settlement of Bud's and my estate."

There was another silence on the part of Joan and then she said, excitedly:
"No, I cannot possibly wait until next week, as I hope to be on my way to Europe by that time. If Mr. Elkins is able to see you, he surely can see Bud and me whose attorney he is. I believe, Dad, you have another attorney."

"The reason I didn't tell you I was going abroad because I did not know it until today. I might as well tell you now that Bud will also want a large sum of money because he is going to make an expedition into Africa right away."

Joan listened again and then answered:
"No, I am not at home. I have been out all day. But I am leaving the Blackstone immediately and will probably be home before you. In any case, I want you to tell Mr. Elkins or his son that I want to see one or both of them tomorrow by 10 o'clock."

I was surprised at Joan's decisive way of giving orders. For a moment I did not realize that this was one thing that she should do perfectly, as she has been doing it all her life. Some one made her decisions for her, some one smoothed out the hard places, but she was the one who ordered them to do it.

"Do you know, Judy," she said afterwards, "that just before I hung up the receiver Dad asked me what had talked with him in the first place."

FAVORITE BREAD PUDDING

Cream three tablespoons of butter and three tablespoons of sugar and add the beaten yolks of six eggs. When these are well mixed, put in half a pound of grated coconut. Stir well, then add one large cup of milk, one and one-half cups of stale bread crumbs and two teaspoons of vanilla, lastly add the whites of three eggs. Pour the mixture into a pudding dish, not quite full and bake one-half hour. At the end of this time, beat the other three egg whites to a stiff froth with three tablespoons of white sugar and flavor with vanilla. Pile this in large spoonfuls on the pudding.

To Whiten Skin with Lemon

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of orchard white, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy, white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable bleaching yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared. Advertisement.

408 WALKER STREET, SHELBYVILLE, IND.

"Grow old along with me,
The best is yet to be"

With her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grandchildren, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

Thousands of women of middle age say they owe their vigor and health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Those who have learned through their own experience the merit of this dependable medicine are enthusiastic in recommending it to their friends and neighbors.

"I had been in bad condition for three months. I could not do my work. One day I read what your medicine had done and just had a feeling that it would help me, so I sent and got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had only taken half a bottle when I got up and started to do my work. It gave me an appetite, and helped me wonderfully. I can not praise this medicine highly enough. I surely will advise all women and girls to take it, and they don't have to use rouge to look healthy. My two daughters are taking it now and one is also using the Sanative Wash. I am willing to have you use this testimonial and I will answer letters from women asking about the medicine."—Mrs. HARVEY TUCKER, 408 Walker St., Shelbyville, Indiana.

"I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the little books you give away and began to take the medicine. After the first few bottles I began to feel better and could eat better and had fewer headaches. I feel like a different person. At anytime that I don't feel good I take the Vegetable Compound again, as I always keep a bottle on hand. You may use this letter for every word is true. I will answer any letters sent to me."—Mrs. JESSIE BOLLEMAN, 516 Smith St., West Hoboken, N. J.

Martha Lee Says
MEN ARE NOT ALL ALIKE AFTER ALL

"Times have changed" we hear on every side, and when applied to modern love affairs and the relations between girls and young men, this saying is sometimes made an excuse for jumping clear over the fence and getting into unlicensed "freedom."

But some things do not change. Despite the effort to appear "up to date" and modern "good sports" on the part of young persons the longing for "old-fashioned" qualities in the opposite sex hasn't died away.

"Modernists" to the contrary, Strange as it may seem, girls, there are still men in this year of 1926 who'd enjoy keeping you on little pedestals and looking up to you. And men, there are still girls in the world who would rather gaze at you across steaming cups of morning coffee than through a haze of your and her cigarette smoke or across another kind of haze that comes out of a hip flask.

Discouraged With Men
Dear Martha Lee: Are there any men in the world these days? I am 19 years old, dress nicely, am considered good looking, and should be having a happy time in life, but I'm so discouraged with men. They don't seem to care anything about you, unless you "pet" a lot. If you only go to a movie with them, you're supposed to "pay the price." Must I give up all men, because I'm a girl?

T. F. BLUE EYES.

Here's another letter:
Dear Martha Lee: I love a certain young man, but although he tells me that he loves me also I'm not happy because Miss Lee, he demands too much of me. I am not a stick, love a good time, but perhaps I'm a bit old-fashioned about some things. Understand? I'm in danger of losing him, but I suffer the pain of loving him, or be up to date? He is saying I love to keep house, would love to be his wife, but he says nothing of this, only talks about a "good time" which troubles me. Are all men alike nowadays?

TROUBLED B. E.

Well girls, I can't do better than let you read a letter from a young man which has come to my desk.

Disgusted With 'Necking'

Dear Martha Lee: Honestly, I would give a year of my life if I could kiss her. But no, they don't seem to care anything about you, unless you "pet" a lot. If you only go to a movie with them, you're supposed to "pay the price." Must I give up all men, because I'm a girl?

You see, Troubled B. E., men are "not all alike nowadays," if you mean that they no longer appreciate a girl with courage to stick to her ideals. By so doing you may "suffer for the pain of losing" your sweet heart, as you say, but if you're untrue to what you think is right, you'd suffer more and eventually you'd lose him anyway. As for you, Disgusted Ralph, in spite of what you say, you've certainly not looked in the right circle of acquaintances.

A "girl you can respect" surely exists for you. You'll find her.
