Thirty members of the Indianapolis chapter, No. 20, of the Women's Organization, National Association of Detail Druggists, attended a theater party at English's Wednesday afternoon. Following the performance, the members were tendered a little reception back stage, where they were the guests of the Berkell players.

Mrs. C. B. Stoltz, chairman, was in charge and was assisted by Mrs. Edward Ferger, Mrs. William C. Freund, Mrs. Harry J. Borst, Mrs. James C. Mead, Mrs. Charles G. Mueller, Mrs. John G. Pantzer and Mrs. Lloyd Weiss.

In honor of Mrs. Frank J. Streightoff, president of the Indiana League of Women Voters, Mrs. Frank D. Hatfield entertained with a luncheon at her home, 3232 N. New Jersey St., Wednesday. Guests were the officers, directors and committee chairman of the local league.

Mrs. Hatfield, president of the Indianapolis league, announced that all the meetings of the organization this winter will be held in the auditorium at the American Legion headquarters, the first meeting to be held Oct. 21.

It was decided to ask the election commissioners to place a voting machine in each ward, previous to the coming election in order that persons may become more familiar with its use. The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. L. T. Marsh of Star City, Ind. Guests included Misses Alma Siekler, Adele Pantzer, Florence Kirkin, Amelia Henderson, Florence Howell, Sara Lauter, Mary Louise Shipp and Misses S. E. Perkins, Christian Olser, Kurt Pantzer, David M. Luray and Edna M. Christian.

A pretty church wedding was that of Miss Delta Dugan, daughter of Mrs. Delta Dugan and William Joseph Schantz, Jr., at the St. Philip Neri Church, Wednesday morning. The Rev. Charles Duffy performed the ceremony before an altar banked with summer flowers and lighted with cathedral candles.

The bridesmaid, Miss Winifred Kavanaugh, was gowned in pink georgette crepe and wore a black satin picture hat with a touch of rose trimming. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and delphinium. Edwin Schantz was best man. The bride was lovely in a gown of white taffeta, made with tight bodice and very full skirt. Her long tulip veil was arranged in a fashion and caught with orange blossoms.

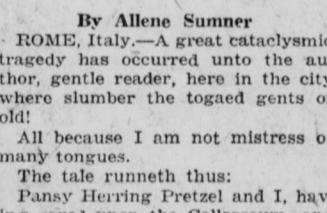

Following the ceremony, a wed ding breakfast was served at the Lincoln. Mr. and Mrs. Schantz left immediately on a wedding trip and will be at home after Sept. 1, at 901 N. Riley Ave.

The marriage of Miss Ruth Minnick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Minnick of New Ross, to Edward de Crow of Indianapolis is announced. The wedding took place Aug. 17 at the home of the Rev. Warren Grafton. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lynch, 3463 Winthrop Ave. Mr. and Mrs. De Crow have gone on a wedding trip to Chicago and the lakes, and after Sept. 20 will be at home at 2241 College Ave.

Miss Helen Wallers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Wallers, 651 N. Hamilton Ave., and Leonard Melsberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Melsberger, were married Wednesday morning at the St. Philip Church, with the Rev. Francis Deischhoff officiating. Miss Alma Melsberger and Joseph Melsberger, Jr., were the only attendants. Miss Melsberger was gowned in apricot georgette, fashioned with full petal-shaped scalloped skirt. She wore a picture hat to harmonize and carried butterfly roses.

The bride was lovely in a flesh-colored crepe gown, made bouffant. She wore a drooping rose-colored picture hat and carried a shower

A WOMAN'S DAY ABROAD

By Allene Summer

ROME, Italy.—A great cataclysmic tragedy has occurred unto the author, gentle reader, here in the city where slumber the togaed gents of old!

All because I am not mistress of many tongues.

The tale runneth thus:

Pansy Herring Pretzel and I, having gazed upon the Colosseum, and seen the prisons where the martyred Christians lay, having wept at the graves of Keats and Shelley, and grown clammy in the grecsome, bone-strewn labyrinth of the catacombs, decided that the time had come when the life cultural should be refreshed by that one and only sprout known to womankind as a shampoo, cut and curl!

Our dark-orbed pension ported got our meaning (or seemed to) and offered to write for us in his native tongue a message to a certain "coffeur pour dames," which, he guaranteed, would result in our coming forth "multo bello."

He wrote. We went. We gave the note to a beaming, genueflecting hairdresser.

All unwitting of the fate about to befall me, I was prepared for the shearer, with much tissue paper and scalloped strapping tucked under my chin. The snip-snip of the shears began and continued right merrily whilst I was engrossed in my two weeks' old home newspaper.

What beheld my gentle gaze when I suddenly gazed into the mirror? None less than what was once me, but now was but half of me. The other half was a bare and naked ostrich egg; in other words, my own scalp as bare of any hirsute adornment as a toadstool is bare of lace ruffles.

I howled. I wailed. I moaned and shrieked. It seemed that the gracious porters had ordered that I be clipped, and clipped I was.

When Caesar gazed upon the Rubicon he could either go on or go back. So now, I could either remain half-shaven or whole-shaven. I chose the latter. I had been taught in my childhood "when a task is once begun, never leave it till it's done." I decided that the spectacle of one neat bald ostrich egg would shock the populace less than would a picture of a man with a large bald head.

The Elizabethan chapter of the International Study Club, which was organized last week, has for its president Mrs. Russell Wilson, the chapter.

bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Columbia Club. Mr. and Mrs. Meisberger left on a motor trip to New York. From there they will visit Philadelphia, Washington and Cleveland. After Oct. 1 they will be temporarily at home at the Feline Club.

Members of the Alpha Omicron Pi sorority of De Pauw University will be house guests this weekend of Miss Katherine Schmidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Schmid, 4205 N. Illinois St., at the Schmidt summer home at Lake Wawasee.

I purchased, to the accompaniment of my sons, two clusters of red-gold curls, having always yearned for red hair, but never hitherto owning a shaven pat on which to hang it. The skillful hair dresser created some effective little hooks of my cast plaster which he attached neatly to my ear tops, to which the curls were pinned, whence they coquily wave in the breeze.

I wear my hat indoors and out. I explain that I am afraid I will be stricken by the sun's hot rays if I take it off.

They say that my tresses will soon grow out. But I have doubts. If the artists will draw a picture of a nice purple egg plant, you will see exactly how I look. The purple represents sunburn, and the untrimmed egg plant is the rest of me.

What culture a girl does get with this!

This is just a shining example of the value of speaking many tongues. Seriously, however, if you know not one word of anything but your native speech, do not be afraid to stray from the home garden. A trip into many lands emphasizes above all other things the comparative uselessness of language. One talks with hands everywhere.

One enters a shop, points at the object desired, and the clerk writes down the price. Thank goodness for the near-universal use of the arabic numeral.

Some few mishaps will happen.

One, for instance, may get wieneros when pointing to that on the menu card which looks like chicken. But then a hot dog by any other name will taste as good!

Do not scorn the little books on salt at most any book store which tell you how to get it in any language! And don't take the pronunciation marks too seriously! All Europe knows these little books as a mother knows her erring child!

The little Rollo abroad merely points to that line in French or Italian or Esperanto or Yiddish which says "from what end, please, does the train go?" and the same-in-every-tongue beckoning hand answers!

And the words one picks up in a week! We laugh, now, at those rank amateurs who must use the books, and we ask prices and pay our bills in native tongue like old birds!

Local Youth Victim of Water Cramps

Funeral services for Cal Parsons, 14, drowning victim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Parsons, 1210 S. Traub Ave., will be held Friday afternoon at Galveston, Ind. Burial will be there.

The youth was drowned while swimming Wednesday on the farm of W. D. Armstrong, near Logansport, Ind., where he was spending his summer vacation. The parents drove to Logansport Sunday to visit the boy, but he was not at home. Two sisters also survive.

All because I am not mistress of many tongues.
