

SHOW DIFFERENCE BETWEEN MOTOR AND RAIL HAULING

Trucks Make Money Over
Short Distances on Roads.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Sharp distinction between the job of the railroad and the motor truck is being drawn by transportation leaders in the testimony before the hearings of the Interstate Commerce Commission being held this summer in all parts of the country, according to transcripts of the meetings published this week.

The truck can make money whether giving a special service over short distances, while the railroad is unbeatable for bulk freight over the long haul, witnesses assert.

Much of the testimony being given before the I. C. C. is familiar ground to those in the transportation business, but this recognition of the differences between the two facilities is being emphasized by all parties and by public officials with more clarity than ever before.

In the early stages of motor truck operation, fleet owners were ambitious to take over all railroad business, and the rail lines conversely feared serious loss of trade from this rival. It is now pointed out, however, that the motor truck's place is over short distances rendering quick service in the very field which railroads find unprofitable. The testimony of Thomas H.

G. O. P. Leader Has Two Jobs

Miss Mary Sleeth has two jobs now. Recently she was appointed head of the woman's bureau of the Republican State committee, taking the place formerly held by Mrs. Vivian Tracy Wheatcraft. She also is the city librarian at Rushville.

MacDonald, Chief of Bureau of Public Roads and J. G. McKay, Chief of the Division of Highway Transport and Economics of this Bureau supports this view in the following conclusions.

Tonnage Is Small

1. Motor truck transportation is primarily a local distribution of goods, principally food stuffs.

2. The tonnage of goods hauled over sixty miles is small.

3. Truck haulage is largely a direct distribution of goods to their final use.

4. Long haul transportation, in excess of sixty miles is usually a movement of special commodities, household goods etc., depending upon speed of delivery or some special characteristic of the commodity shipped.

5. The owner-operator hauls the bulk of highway tonnage.

CLOSED SEASON TO PROTECT PLOVERS

Greater and Lesser Yellow-
Legs May Be Hunted.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—A continuous closed season has been prescribed throughout the United States on black-bellied and golden plovers, according to the biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture, which is charged with the enforcement of the migratory bird treaty act. Hunters are reminded by the bureau that persons killing these birds are subject to prosecution in Federal Court. Greater and lesser yellow-legs, however, may still be hunted legally during certain open seasons, which are as follows:

In Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia from Aug. 16 to Nov. 30.

In the District of Columbia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California, and Alaska from Sept. 1 to Dec. 15. In Vermont, Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Nevada and that portion of Washington lying east of the summit of the Cascade Mountains from Sept. 16 to Dec. 31.

In Utah, Oregon, Idaho and that portion of Washington lying west of the summit of the Cascade Mountains from Oct. 1 to Jan. 15; and in Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana from Nov. 1 to Jan. 31.

Reducing by radio is becoming popular. One woman reported that fifteen minutes exercise a day, directed by the expert for one of the large broadcasting companies, cut her weight from 150 to 130 pounds.
