

MIGHTY INTERNAL STRUGGLE NOW ON IN SOVIET STATE

Trotsky May Return to Power as Head of Progressive Forces.

This is the first of a series of six articles on Russia by William Philip Simms, staff correspondent of the Indianapolis Times, and other Scripps-owned newspapers. Simms has just completed a tour of the Soviet state.

By William Philip Simms
MOSCOW, (By Mail)—Under a calm surface a mighty, internal struggle is going on in Soviet Russia which will make her or break her according to the way it is decided.

The struggle is between the more radical elements and the progressives. The radicals, seeing the country gradually swinging back toward the system in vogue in other lands, are fighting to bring about a return to Russia's first theories of communism.

The progressives, having seen those theories go to smash on the rocks of cold fact, once they were put into practice, insist on further modifications in the soviet regime.

Trotsky One Leader

Leon Trotsky, ever the moderate in the historic team of Lenin and Trotsky, is considered the likely leader of the progressive group. That he may win is indicated by the casting of Grigori Zinoviev, chairman of the Communist International and member of the Politburo.

Zinoviev, ardent disciple of the Lenin of old, is the advocate of simon pure communism. He was charged with having led a meeting in a forest near here and plotted to gain control of affairs in Moscow. Zinoviev charged the Moscow government with having forsaken the doctrines of communist Russia's first years more and more to follow the way of other nations.

Fight Into the Open

The plot, discovered, brought the fight into the open. That is, if a battle carried on within the sixty-foot walls of the tightly closed and sentry guarded Kremlin can be called in the open. Anyway, so far as the central committee of the Russian communist party was concerned, the fight was in the open and for days it raged in that medieval fortress, the first clean-cut battle between moderates and radicals Soviet Russia has seen.

And the moderates won. The victory is filled with significance. Old-timers here believe it means a similar victory for the moderates in October at the Union Congress of Soviets, the supreme organ of authority in Russia.

This body, composed of about 1,500 delegates, representing the entire soviet union, meets annually and decides basic principles of policy. At least theoretically it does. In reality it generally obeys the basic principles and policies already decided upon at such meetings of the central committee as that just described.

See Return to Power

The victory over Zinoviev and his followers, together with the death of Felix Dzerzhinsky, president of the supreme council of national economy and head of the Cheka, leaves the way fairly open for Trotsky's return to power after two or three years in eclipse.

Trotsky's fall came because he disagreed with some of the doctrines of Lenin. And Lenin, though dead, still rules Russia from his glorified position in the Kremlin wall. But change after change has already been made in the government's policy, as established by Lenin, and justified to the people by some phrase or other of Lenin himself.

Like the priests of Mohammed who can always find something in the prophet's sayings to justify whatever they wish to do, so it is with Russia's leaders. When nothing more specific can be found there is always Lenin's dying admonition that Russia should never make the same mistake twice.

Thus, having found that many of their pet theories did not work out in practice, the more intelligent leaders of Russia are now determined, if possible, to switch over to more practical ways.

FEELS HUNDRED

PERCENT BETTER, THANKS KONJOLA

Local Man Gets Remarkable Change in Health; Strongly Indorses New Compound.

Another case of a complete disordered system in which this celebrated medical product, Konjola, brought surprising results was described a few days ago by Mr. Richard Downing, well known Indianapolis citizen, who lives at 1122 N. Haugh St., this city.

MR. RICHARD DOWNING

"For a number of years I had stomach and kidney trouble, finally developed rheumatism, and my general health had gotten into such a terrible state that I was dwindling away to almost nothing, and couldn't locate any medicine or treatment that would change my awful condition," said Mr. Downing while talking with The Konjola Man at Hook's drug store, Pennsylvania and Market Sts., Indianapolis, where he is introducing and explaining this celebrated Konjola compound to large crowds of people throughout each day.

"I don't believe anyone ever suffered worse rheumatic pains than I did," continued Mr. Downing. "I was down in bed two weeks. The pains were mostly in my right hip extending down to my feet. The joints and muscles of my legs would draw up and cramped so bad that it was impossible to move or turn from one side to the other without help. The agony of this rheumatism felt like grinding knives in my joints, and with the kidney and stomach trouble, I tell you, my whole system was worthless, and to tell you the truth, I never expected to feel like my real self again. The weakened condition of my kidneys caused irregularities, and my stomach was so disordered that I couldn't get any nourishment from my food. Even a drink of water seemed to bloat me up, and I would belch up a hot, fiery substance, had headaches all the time, and I was subject to frequent trembling, dizzy spells."

"I got Konjola, and after the fourth dose I noticed a difference. I continued with this medicine, and now I'm a hundred percent improved in every way. People I know see me getting around like a healthy fellow half my age, and they are as much surprised at the great change in my health as I am myself. My kidneys are regulated fine, the stomach trouble is vanished, and I am beginning to walk around like I never had a thing wrong with me. The rheumatic pains and swelling is finally conquered now, headaches are gone, dizzy, trembling spells relieved, and in short, I feel like a different person altogether. Yes, sir, Konjola is wonderful, and I know what will help me will surely help others, so I endorse this new medicine above everything else I know."

The Konjola Man is at Hook's drug store, Pennsylvania and Market Sts., Indianapolis, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

Konjola is sold in every Hook drug store, and by other leading druggists in surrounding towns.—Advertisement.

LEWIS PROTESTS REPORT ON WAGES

Miners' Head Declares Attack Unwarranted.

A protest against the report of an examiner of the Interstate Commerce Commission in refusing to readjust freight rates on Indiana and Illinois coal is contained in a letter mailed Joseph B. Eastman, commission chairman, by John L. Lewis, president United Mine Workers of America. Examiner William Disque is quoted as saying the miners' wage scales "are so much higher than those in non-union fields in other states and so affect production costs that the operators are having great difficulty in meeting their competitors' prices."

Lewis declared the examiner's report as "an open, wanton and undisguised attack on the present wage structure in the organized coal mining districts of this country."

Lewis urged that the commission consider the examiner's report and reverse his findings. He charged that rates on Indiana coal have been raised 107 per cent since 1915, while the level of all freight rates over the country have been increased less than 60 per cent.

This is working a hardship on the 25,000 coal miners in the State, he said.

AGED POSTMASTER DIES

"Uncle Ike" Morrill, 89, Succumbs in Ozark Country.

By United Press
REED SPRINGS, Mo., Aug. 23.—Coming here from his home at Notch, Mo., for a ten day celebration in honor of his 89th birthday, "Uncle Ike" Morrill, said to be the oldest postmaster in the country, died Sunday night after being stricken suddenly ill.

"Uncle Ike" was born and educated in Portland, Me., and worked as a printer on the New York Tribune under Horace Greeley. He came to the Ozark country of Missouri more than forty years ago.

"Uncle Ike" was depicted as the typical Ozark native by Harold Bell Wright in his book "The Shepherd of the Hills."

SEEK BURGLARS; ONE IS KILLED

Two Escape After Robbery Alarm.

By United Press
LOGANSPORT, Ind., Aug. 23.—Police here today are searching for two alleged burglars who escaped as officers tried to take them into custody following a robbery alarm.

One man, believed to be Dell Martin, 35, of Bedford, was shot and killed as he attempted to escape, and a fourth member of the gang was taken into custody.

Martin and his pal were taken after the others had escaped. As the officers started to take them to the police station Martin broke and ran. John Taylor, local policeman, fired and a bullet struck Martin in the back.

BIG FOREST CONCLAVE

Three Counties to Have Get-Together in State Preserve.

By United Press
JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., Aug. 23.—Newcomers and homecomers of Clark, Scott and Washington Counties meet Thursday at the State forest preserve for their annual get-together meeting.

Five thousand persons are expected to meet in the great reunion in the reservation of fine forest growth, where the State conservation department is carrying on the largest experiment in the nation at growing hardwoods.

Albert Stump, Democratic senatorial candidate, and Richard Lieber, director of the State conservation department will speak.

EXHIBIT PRISON GOODS

Penal Institutions to Display Products at State Fair.

Sample articles of all products made in the various penal institutions of Indiana will be on display in a big tent at the State fair, which opens Sept. 4, it was announced today by State Sales Agent Henry A. Roberts.

The tent will be located on the main thoroughfare of the fair-ground, just east of the administration building. Two bands, one from the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphan Home and another from the Indiana Boys' School, will provide music in the tent throughout the eight days of the fair. Products manufactured at the Indiana State Prison, the reformatory and the State farm will be on display.

COBLE POST LARGEST

Doctors and Dentists Only in Membership—To Go to Convention.

The Paul Coble Post, of the American Legion, composed exclusively of doctors and dentists, will go to the State convention at Marion this year as the largest post in Indianapolis. The Coble post is the only one of its kind in the world and in its membership lists physicians in many parts of the country, including the surgeon-general of the army.

In a membership contest held this year, the Coble post was the only Indianapolis post to exceed the quota set for it by State Legion headquarters, securing a total of 203 members, as against a quota assigned of 200. Dr. J. W. Carmack is commander of the post, and Dr. J. M. Smith is the adjutant.

WOULD RETURN INTEREST FUNDS

Rinehart Calls Revenue 'Trust Money.'

A pledge to consider Barrett law prepayment interest funds as trust money, not part of the personal revenue of the Marion County treasurer, was made by Mark V. Rinehart, Democratic nominee for county treasurer, in a statement today.

"The Barrett law fund is purely a trust fund, and it is a well-known rule that on all trust funds the interest accrues to and follows the fund," Rinehart stated. "Any private ate trustee using the interest for his personal benefit, would involve himself civilly and criminally.

"If elected, I shall not personally use one cent of such interest," Clyde E. Robinson, Republican nominee for the same office, backed strongly by the Duvall administration, has never definitely outlined his position in regard to the funds.

Rinehart said he would install a mechanical system of handling and mailing tax duplicates to correct a condition through which thousands of delinquencies occur because taxpayers are not advised. Fines for delinquent taxes now are pocketed by County Treasurer Edward A. Ramsay.
