

IL GIORNO

AL SPORTS

BIRASSIE BIRDIES

By DICK MILLER

THE women of Avalon must plan an invitational tournament for the women members of the other golf clubs of

With the Western open this week at Highland, and the Women's Western at Chicago, seven days were checked off the calendar. Next week the women's city tournament will be held, and that meant seven more days checked off the possibility list.

It was considered that the women might be just a bit fed up on golf for a while and a decision to postpone the date a little later was made.

At the meeting, Mrs. M. J. Abbott was named chairman of the women's greens committee, to take the place vacated by Mrs. S. W. Shipp, who will move to Chicago this fall.

The club championship qualification round at Avalon is scheduled for text. The field is expected to sign up this with a

R. Abbott, 105-20-84; R. A. Sja
 100-23-77; William H. Neub, 49-13-81
 J. Abbott, 104-20-86; M. M. Sja
 105-26-79; C. C. Crandall, 113-50-60
 Mrs. C. C. Crandall, 114-50-91; O. F. H.
 Mrs. C. C. Crandall, 105-20-82.

Aralau, realizing the grand showing m at South Bend recently in the Ind
 the number one journey by Fostick G rich and Herman Sielken, are placin
 the Western Open this week, the tw
 the Western Open this week, the tw

The boys came close last Sunday is, in within a dozen or two stroke
 the number one score in the "G" your own score tournament.

TENNIS

(Continued From Page 9)

omer to play with the American m

The United States officials said she was not an American girl and that she would have to play for Norway as a Norsewoman.

Not Named

She was hurt even more this year when she was not named on the woman's tennis team that played the Wightman cup matches. She went to Europe, as the association puts it, "unofficially" and she played at Wimbledon as Chick Evans. In the amateur golf championships at Muirfield—an American, yes, an outsider.

Just a few minutes after she won the championship at Forest Hills she remarked: "I'm the American!"

The display of courage and determination that Mrs. Mallory made in winning the third and deciding after Miss Ryan had smashed away to a lead of four-love in games was as magnificent as anything ever seen on any field of sport.

Crowd "For" Her

In addition to another national championship, Mrs. Mallory secured another notable conquest Monday when she won an American gallery to her side. It wasn't a big gallery, but more than 1,000, but she won it in the noise of a Yale football crowd in supporting her and for the first time in her career she responded to the crowd.

When the point was reached where every one knew that either one had to blow up, it was Mary Ryan who couldn't stand the suspense for all of her good tennis.

MISS DUÑN

(Continued From Page 9)

Ind., and Mrs. A. A. McClamrock of the same city, who, like myself, were accorded membership at Highland for this meet, scored 106 and 107, respectively, in the qualifying round Monday.

Beautiful Course

The Olympic course, a most beautiful place, gave me the thrill of life the moment I saw it. The clubhouse is large and the course is good for the good player, one that is not too easy for the average, but terrible to those who hook and slice. I thought it was going to be easy when I came out of the sand trap onto the green with my finger, and no one, and sank a nice putt for a birdie. However, after that I learned that a mashie shooter is strictly essential, to cover the course in no time for the eighteen. Short, spindly poles, many of them pitch shovels that must stick, and will, if played right.

I enjoyed some putting practice on both the club green, and

With the Majors

The New York Yankees took the 1
ame of their nearly-crucial series fr Cleveland 3 to 2. Shocker won a p ers battle from Levens. The Athle kept pace, beating the White Sox, 4 to