Friends View Body of Late State Librarian—Admirers Pay Tribute.

Last rites for Demarchus C. Brown, for twenty years head of the State library, were held this morning at the Downey Avenue Christian Church before notable in the field of history and literature, as well as scores of personal friends and admirers.

The Rev. Joseph D. Armistead was in charge of the services, assisted by Amos W. Butler and Henry S. Schell. For an hour preceding the funeral, the body lay in state. Burial was at Crown Hill Cemetery. The State library was closed throughout the day.

Butler, former secretary of the State board of charities of which Mr. Brown was a member for twenty-five years, told of his activities and good influence in civic affairs.

Schell, instructor at Manual Training High School, paid tribute to him as an educator and student. The pall bearers, all of whom served with him as officers of the Downey Ave. Christian Church, were Dean J. W. Putnam and Prof. Eljah J. Johnson of Butler University, W. A. Sweetman, F. R. Kautz, Robert Hall and A. B. Tharp.

Mr. Brown died Sunday following a protracted illness. He is survived by the widow; a son, Philip Brown, and a brother, Hilton U. Brown, now in Europe.

M'KINLEY WOULD BE FIVE YEARS BEHIND, BRYAN

Teachers Urged to Keep Abreast of Times in Institute Talk.

If President William McKinley were to return to earth he would not know our language and it would take him about five years to become abreast of the times, declared Dr. Elmer B. Bryan, Ohio University president, today before the Marion County Teachers' Institute at the Courthouse.

"If anyone should ask him about Mussolini, he would probably think they were talking about a breakfast food or a new kind of soup," said Dr. Bryan.

"The Lord was so extravagant in his bestowal of endowments on you," he told the teachers, "Oh, don't be comfortable and nestle down after you get your diploma," he said.

Helpfulness Function
Dr. Bryan asserted the chief function of the school is to help the younger generation to be abreast with the race.

'Communist' Newlyweds Discover Way to Beat High Cost of Living

By NEA Service
WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Aug. 24.—Four young married couples of this town have found a way to make the high cost of living look like the pre-war price of gooseberries.

They have, in fact, turned communists, as far as family expenses are concerned. As a result, each couple pays just $50 a month for living costs—rent, food, fuel, lights and so forth—and they live comfortably in an excellent residential district.

Share One House
Before they were married they mapped out their plan. They agreed to rent a sizeable frame house and share it in common; to furnish it jointly; to pool their purchases, and to divide all other household expenses in common.

The rent costs just $35 a month. It took approximately $1,500 to furnish the place. Each couple pays $10 a week into the joint budget for food, and enough is left over from life, Dr. Bryan said that it is for the State and society's protection that every one is given a chance to develop himself.

In urging the teachers to give their fullest contribution to the fabric of human life, Dr. Bryan asked them to take everything seriously except themselves. Never get into the mental attitude of taking yourself too seriously, he warned.

Philosophy Needed
Dr. Bryan told the teachers that they must get the conception that they are building part of the world. A person engaged in educational work must get a philosophy of education that is commensurate with the philosophy of life, declared Dr. Bryan.

Mrs. Kate Milner Rabb spoke on the George Rogers Clark sesquicentennial in 1929 at Vincennes, Ind. This afternoon Dr. Bryan continued his lectures under the theme "Some Educational Foundations." Criminal Judge James A. Collins also spoke. Lee E. Swails, county school superintendent, presided.

Adding insult to injury, the wiped their hands on the lace curtains. Police are looking for two other boys.

AUTO STRIKES CHILD

Louise Roth, 8, N. Gladstone Ave., was badly cut and bruised about the head and body today when struck down by a car driven by Eugene Cox, 809 N. Wallace St., at Tenth St. and Garfield Ave.

The child darted from her mother's side, across the curb and into the path of the Cox car. She was taken home.

this fund to pay for lights, gas, water and the winter fuel supply.

They're Related

The families in this unique scheme are Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Grady, Mr. and Mrs. James Dawes, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haines and Mr. and Mrs. Herman J. Zimmerman. Grady, Mrs. Dawes and Mrs. Zimmerman are sisters, and Harry Haines is their brother. This relationship undoubtedly has much to do with bringing about the harmony and camaraderie without which the undertaking would be impossible.

The four wives have divided the household duties. While one does the marketing, another is in the kitchen, a third does the mending and the washing and the fourth keeps the house clean and tidy. By changing jobs weekly each housewife gets her turn at each duty.

A Family Treasurer
Mrs. Haines is the family treasurer. Although each family has its own bank account, of course, she takes charge of the communistic household budget. Every weekly pay-day each husband gives her $15.

This gives her $240 a month, out of which are paid all household expenses. Any money left over, it has been agreed, will be saved toward a building fund with which they hope eventually to be able to own their own home.

Decided Against Auto

"Two of the girls wanted to buy an automobile," says Mrs. Haines. "But after talking the matter over we decided to build a home first and get the automobile later. We have plenty of amusement as it is, and after all, now that we are married, our flapper days are over and we all ought to settle down and acquire those things that will make life easy for us in our old age."

"Of course we want to stay young a long time yet, and I think our plan of living together is going to help us all to solve the problems of married life."

After striking Hill, Six drove considerable distance before he could stop, Robinson said. Hill died at the hospital a short time afterwards.
