

ENOUGH 'POP' TO FLOAT FLEET IS BOUGHT IN U. S.

Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages Give Huge Figure for Year.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Enough "pop" was sold during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, to float a fleet of battleships, according to a survey made public today by the American bottlers of carbonic beverages here.

The consumption of "pop" amounted to 10,002,502,500 half-pint bottles, an increase of 2,000,000,000 over last year's total. The increase was partially attributed to the alleged increased demand for ginger ale for highballs.

Round and Round Globe
The "pop" bottles emptied by the American people during the year, if placed side by side, would encircle the globe six and one-fourth times, it was stated. The contents would fill a 625,000,000-gallon reservoir.

The drinkers paid $300,000,000 to 250,000 retail "pop" sellers during the year, it was reported.

"Pop" Research
The soft drink organization called attention to the fact that it had endowed a "pop" research fellowship at Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa, "where all members can have their beverages scientifically tested."

It also revealed that Cleopatra, some 2,000 years ago, produced the first recorded carbonated beverage when she dissolved a pearl in a glass of wine.

The association traced ginger ale back to King Tut's time.

"Townsend Speakman, a Philadelphia druggist, about 1897 hit upon the happy idea of flavoring carbonated water with fruit extracts, while experimenting for a new tonic," it was stated.

Pope Hopes Church Will Keep Up Fight

By United Press
ROME, Aug. 25.—Pope Pius today expressed the hope that Catholics in Mexico would persevere in the "courage, firmness and tenacity" which they now are showing before the whole world in resisting the efforts of the government to enforce the new religious laws.

The occasion for the pope's statement was an audience granted by him to a group of Mexican pilgrims en route to the Holy Land.
