

N. Y. GIVES 'TRUDY' BIGGEST WELCOME

yachts sent up their shrill whistles, sluggish ferries added their deep bass fog-horns to the din.

It was the moment of his life for "Pop" Ederle.

He stood a little apart from the crowd surrounding his girl and beamed.

As for the girl herself, she answered question upon question, posed for innumerable photographs, shook hands all around—with a real manish grip—and was the most excited girl in New York.

She was asked to tell the story of her swim, which, accomplished in fourteen and a half hours, stands as a record.

"I wasn't tired a bit," she said. "Burgess (her trainer) wanted me to come out twice, but I wouldn't do it."

"The only time I felt like stopping was when the two tugs accompanying me got too close and I couldn't go forward, because of the backwash."

Still Free Agent

Admitting that there would be financial rewards for her feat she insisted that she was still a free agent. She would not give an opinion about the $25,000 purse that William Wrigley offered for a Catalina Island "derby."

Miss Ederle said that her ambition had been realized when she stepped out of the water on the English coast and that there was no more goal for which she could aspire.

Police Clear Way

It was with great difficulty that the police cleared a way for the parade through a crowd that must have numbered close to 100,000 when word spread through the financial district that the big parade was about to start. The financial district paid its customary tribute of a shower of tape and confetti that was almost blinding and flowers fell down on the paraders by the thousands.

BANDIT, GROCER EXCHANGE SHOTS

from Meridian and New York Sts. In that car they held up E. W. Powell, 3234 Park Ave. and Miss Beatrice Reams, Methodist Hospital, at Eighty-Sixth St. and Keystone Ave. The bandit trio was masked as was a young woman with them.

All three carried revolvers. They took a $25 watch from Miss Reams and drove off in Powell's auto, abandoning the Chevrolet.

Powell's auto was found abandoned at California and Market Sts.

Then it is believed the bandits stole the auto of R. B. Copley of Ravenswood, valued at $700, from Ohio and Pennsylvania Sts. This car has not been recovered by police.

In an auto answering the description of Copley's machine the trio, reinforced by three other armed and masked men, held up Joe Sarbinoff, 502 E. Washington St., on Speedway Rd., near the Speedway, firing into his auto when he refused to stop.

They took a $55 watch, $225 diamond pin and $130, Sarbinoff said, then ordered him to walk east and passed him driving toward the city. Sarbinoff returned and found his auto unharmed.

Two Negroes late Thursday held up Louis Coval, grocer at 2305 Sheldon St., and took $10.

C. G. Barrally, 1909 Ashland Ave., said two young men pulled him into an alley near Muskingum St. and took his watch valued at $76.

Luther McIntire, grocer, 936 Rochester Ave., reported between $45 and $50 taken from his store during the night.

A daylight burglar Thursday removed a screen at the home of Paul Kelalber, 5754 Pleasant Run Blvd., and took clothing valued at $226.

Another daylight burglar stole a purse and a watch from the home of Mrs. Julia Chandler, 1115 W. Thirty-Seventh St.
