MARIE LEE SAYS DON'T BE AFRAID TO JUST BE YOURSELF

Have you character enough to be just yourself?—or are you so weak you must substitute some one else's cabbage head ideas for perfectly good ones of your own? If "the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth" were known, a good majority of the "flappers" of today don't really care about smoking and would rather not share the contents of the hip flask, but "the rest do, and we have no choice if we want to be popular," the young things cry, and really believe that what they say is true.

PAYS TO DO RIGHT

Dear Marie Lee: I have been reading some of the letters you have lately written, and I think you have done very well indeed. I think the girls who feel that they have to "act" and smile and drink that "rest do, and we have no choice if we want to be popular," the young things cry, and really believe that what they say is true.

Anyhow, it does "pay" from every standpoint to be true to what we feel is right. Personally, I think no woman is less a credit to our civilization than the woman who hates cigarettes, but smokes because she thinks it is sophisticated or drinks merely because she thinks it is the smart thing to do. What is "right" to do, each must decide for himself as standards differ, but for heavens sake, don't "step out" because you're afraid not to. "Be Yourself" is a dandy good motto and if "yourself" has charm and sweetness, the popularity will take care of itself.

A SMALL TOWN GIRL. Well girls, I hope you will all be as lucky as "Small Town Girl."
