Oil Station Hold-up, Two Store Robberies and Small Thefts Reported.

One woman was shot and another choked in robberies early today. One filling station hold-up, two store robberies and numerous petit larcenies were reported to police over the week-end.

Mrs. Earl Pompey, 16, Negro, 119 E. Nineteenth St., was shot in the leg when she screamed at two burglars leaving the grocery of Max Galerman, 1118 E. Nineteenth St. Bandits held Galerman and his wife in a rear room while the store was ransacked. About $50 was obtained. The intruders fired three shots when leaving, one bullet striking the Negro woman.

While investigating the Galerman hold-up, police learned the grocery of Abe Steinkeller, 1961 Yandes St., had been robbed. The same gang was suspected. Awakened by the removal of the screen in a window, Steinkeller confronted a Negro burglar who ordered him to put up his hands.

Three other Negroes wearing handkerchiefs over their faces, entered. One choked Mrs. Rose Steinkeller, who began to scream, while the others attacked the husband. They obtained $70.

Two "gentlemen" bandits obtained $250 from a Standard Oil Company filling station at Forty-Sixth St. and College Ave., Sunday night, locking the attendant, Leonard Herrell, 6201 Broadway in a closet. He told Sgt. William Fields he was forced to open the safe shortly before closing time. A youthful robber at the Langdon

FORGOTTEN THINGS LAY OPEN SECRETS

"Don't leave your love letters in hotel rooms!" Such was the advice today of Mrs. June Storey, Severin housekeeper.

"Interesting" love letters, read and discarded, are commonly found in rooms after hotel guests leave, according to Mrs. Storey.

Everything ranging from false teeth to intoxicating liquor is found by maids, she said.

"False teeth are common, but they are never called for by the owner. I guess they are ashamed to claim them and get new ones."

Actress Leaves Wig

"Frequently we receive telegrams from guests who have forgotten something and desire to get it in a hurry. Not long ago an actress left a wig in her room and wired for it from the next town on her tour," said Mrs. Storey.

Umbrellas, neckties, pajamas, glasses, underwear, trousseaus, and cameras are other common articles found.

Occasionally diamonds and other jewelry are found, but they are always claimed without delay.

Mrs. Storey recently held an auction sale of three large tables full of unclaimed goods.

Easy to Forget

"Guests often become indignant because we haven't found their lost articles and later learn they were left on a train or in another hotel. It's easy to forget something when hurrying to catch a train," she said.

"Folks who travel continually are much more careful about picking things up than the novice."

STATE TAX BOARD HEAD FIGHTS FINE

Declares Justice of Peace Ignored His Rights as Citizen.

Declaring that his rights as an American citizen were ignored last week when he was fined at Ingalls, Ind., for failing to observe a highway "stop" sign, John J. Brown, State tax board, chairman wrote today to Milton P. Huser, justice of the peace at that town, demanding that the fine be returned and his name be cleared of the charge.

Brown, in the letter, declared that the fine was extracted from him without affidavit or indictment, that he was fined on presumption of guilt and not on proof, that he was not arraigned, that he was not wilfully violating any ordinance and that the arresting officer had absolved him of endangering human life in his statement that Brown's car was going less than ten miles an hour.

The fine was "wholly unwarranted under any statute in the State of Indiana," and not only violated the State constitution, but the Federal Constitution with reference to citizenship, Brown's letter said.

"Such conduct on the part of so-called judicial officers is inimical to the best interests of the State, because it destroys the confidence of men who are honestly and sincerely trying to obey the law," Brown continued.

He stated that if the action is not reversed, he will take such steps as he believes "warranted under the circumstances."

SCHOOL BOARD TO GET BUDGET TUESDAY NIGHT

Provides for Tax Levy of $1.098 — Building Program Figure Untouched.

The tentative 1926-27 school city budget, which provides for a tax levy of about $1.098, will be presented at the school board meeting, Tuesday night. The budget, pared to its limits by the school business department, has been fully drawn.

Business Director Ure M. Frazer, today was preparing statements for the board members explaining changes.

One of the high points of the budget is the fact that the new $10,000 building program has remained untouched. This amount, and other funds for necessary building, left over from the last fiscal year, will run the aggregate amount of building expenditures to about $1,400,000.

To Even $1.09

It is believed the tax levy figure will be sliced to an even $1.09. Following approval of the budget by the board on Tuesday night it will be advertised for public hearing.

The first hearing probably will be about Sept. 15. This will be the opportunity for the Indiana Taxpayers' Association and the Chamber of Commerce to air their views.

Miesse Wants It Cut

The Chamber will support the levy if it is shown the budget consists of necessities. It is understood, that Harry F. Miesse, tax agent of a railroad and head of the taxpayers' association, has declared a 93-cent levy is sufficient.

Following the public hearing ten or more taxpayers can file a remonstrance with County Auditor Harry Dunn, declared, have been unusually strong with an exceptionally light demand for the enclosed and roadster models.

THREE TO SPEAK BEFORE TEACHERS

Annual Meetings Here This Week.

Speakers for the annual Indianapolis teachers' meetings, which will be held at Caleb Mills Hall on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, were announced by school officials today. They are E. U. Graff, school superintendent, who will speak on Wednesday; L. N. Hines of the Indiana State Normal School, Terre Haute, who will speak Thursday on "Phases of Teachers' Training," and Dr. O. W. Fifer, Central Avenue, M. E. Church pastor, who Friday will discuss his recent travels through the Holy Land.

The speakers will talk during the general meetings, one of which will be held daily. General educational topics will be discussed at departmental meetings held in various rooms in the building during the session.

More than 1,650 teachers will attend. School will begin here Sept. 7.

FEW WEEK-END ARRESTS

Either law violators or police, or both, were on a vacation over the past week-end, arrest figures compared today show. Only ninety-six persons were slated at city prison.

Drunkness led the list, with thirty-four arrests on that charge. Twenty-one persons were charged with blind tiger and twenty-three with gaming. A large beer haul was made at the two apartments of Mayne Lucas, 25, of 702 E. Georgia St. Miss Lucas was charged with blind tiger after 406 quarts of bottled beer were seized. Nine men there were slated on vagrancy charges.

Clint Decker and his brother Ed were charged with keeping a gambling house, when officers descended upon Ed's poolroom at 2925 Madison Ave. Nine other men in the place were charged with gaming.

HERR REPORTS HEAVIER SALES OF WILLS CARS

Says Features of New Models Have Attracted Wide Attention.

Increased sales of the new Wills Sainte Claire cars are reported by Don Herr, Indianapolis representative, whose sales rooms are located at Kentucky Ave. and Maryland St. Herr, one of the most popular dealers in the city, has been engaged in the automobile selling and garage business for many years.

Spring and summer sales records for the new Wills Sainte Claire 6, Herr declared, have been unusually strong with an exceptionally light demand for the enclosed and roadster models.

National Interest

"The various features of these new models have attracted wide attention, the interest being reflected nationally," he said.

"The engineering principle in the construction of the Wills Sainte Claire cars is used in practically all of the highest grade aviation engines, and in addition a steady device which maintains smooth turning of shaft and quietness at low speeds, eliminates noise of driving gears, is incorporated in the motor.

Seven Main Bearings

"The counter-balancing of the shaft is perfected during the forging

O'Donnell Transfer Company Expert Commercial Haulers

Business in commercial freight hauling has been especially strong this summer, according to T. R. O'Donnell, head of the O'Donnell Transfer Company, 437 E. Louisiana St.

The company has established a route to Columbus, Ind., which provides excellent service for all points en route. A truck leaves Indianapolis every day at 9 a. m., leaves on return trip from Columbus at 4 p. m.

"Our business has been exceptionally good this summer and we are busy with different types of hauling," said O'Donnell.

Shipments of perishable goods from Indianapolis to Richmond, Conn. process and makes unnecessary the attachment of counterweights with screws after the shaft is forged. With seven main bearings, the Wills Sainte Claire cars have a bearing surface of 12 1/2 square inches.

"The Wills Sainte Claire cars have overhead shaft valves and camshaft construction. The crankshaft is a three-plane semi-counterbalanced design, forged from a single billet of steel."

Herr operates a complete garage service, including repairing, accessories and parts, repairing and lacquering, greasing, washing and storage. Special attention to tourists' motor troubles is given by Herr's organization.
