

MISS SANDEFUR IS GUEST AT SHOWER

Miss Dorothy Avels Entertains With Bridge Party for Bride-Elect, Who Will Be Married Sept. 11.

Miss Dorothy Avels, 3016 Ruckle St., entertained today with a bridge party and kitchen shower for Miss Dorothy Sandefur, who will become the bride of Robert Eugene Avels Sept. 11. The house was decorated in garden flowers in the pastel shades of the bridal colors, pink, blue and orchid, and bud vases with flowers of the three colors were set on the smaller tables.

Ice cream was served in the shape of small individual wedding bells and the cakes were laid in orchid, pink and blue, with other appointments of the party carrying out these colors.

Gifts were concealed behind a large umbrella, opened on the table. The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. George R. Avels, and her sister, Miss Grace Avels.

Guests, with Miss Sandefur, were Mrs. Milton Sandefur, Mrs. Edna M. Christian, Miss Val Rader of Miami, Fla., and Misses Maud Ann Searcy, Dorothy and Jeanne Wilson, Dorothy Poindexter, Alice Young, Mary McMeans, Jean Richardson, Dorothy Stephenson, Frances Woolery, Charlotte Canaday, Lucy Ashkan, Catherine Gilbert, Rebecca Pitts, Elizabeth Reed and Louise Dauner.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

The marriage of Miss Melba Ellen Colter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scott Colter, to Harold J. Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer M. Stewart of this city, was celebrated with a pretty home ceremony today at 3:45 p. m. The Rev. George William Allison of the Irving Presbyterian Church officiated before an altar of ferns and greenery.

Mrs. Paul Roberts played "At Dawn" and "To a Wild Rose" preceding the ceremony and the "Lohengrin" wedding march for the professional.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Elizabeth Colter, as maid of honor, who wore a quaintly fashioned gown of pink crepe and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and larkspur. Chelsea S. Stewart, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride wore a gown of bridal crepe trimmed with Chantilly lace and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses.

A small reception followed the ceremony. Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bowsher of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Armstrong of Lebanon, Ind. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart have gone on a short motor trip and will be at home after Oct. 1, at 5843 Beechwood Ave.

Miss Dorothy Virginia Drew, 3628 Park Ave., entertained Friday evening with a party for her cousin, Miss Phyllis Laird Riekey of Cumberland, Md., who is her house guest. The party proved to be, as well, the occasion for the announcement of the date Oct. 2, for the wedding of Miss Drew to Joseph W. Hartley, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Hartley of Muncie, Ind. The announcements were cleverly concealed on the clappers of tiny white wedding bells given as favors.

Miss Drew attended De Pauw University and is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, and Mr. Hartley is a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. Miss Henrietta Jungclauss will be the only attendant of the bride.

The rooms of the home were decorated in white, pink and orchid and the guests were present. Guests, with Miss Riekey, Miss Jungclauss and Miss Drew, included Miss Margaret Emily McGaughey, Miss Ruth Briggs and Miss Betty Tilden, all of Greensburg, Ind.; Miss Margaret Shirley, Bedford, Ind.; and Miss Lucy Beddoe, Bedford, Ind.; Miss Dorothy Wright Fillmore, Miss Isabel Gauld, Crawfordsville; Miss Josephine Duckwall, Noblesville; Indianapolis guests were Misses Mae Murray, Rachel Benton, Clara Louise Ward, Anna Louise Burkhardt, Frances Smith, Frances Walters, Katherine Reagan, Marie Sullivan, Ellen Saxon, Marjorie McElroy, Sarah Martha Powell; Mesdames E. R. Steegard, W. E. Ewing.

Miss Drew was assisted by her mother, Mrs. A. E. Drew, Mrs. H. D. Hartley of Muncie and Mrs. O. Summers.

Mrs. Mary Sullivan and Mrs. Ella O'Connor, 1521 Olney St., entertained Friday night for their niece, Miss Rosemary Barrett, whose marriage to Bernard Q. Zimmer will take place Thursday. Bunco was the principal feature, followed by refreshments.

Those present were Mrs. J. F. Zimmer, Miss Hilda Zimmer, Miss Rosemary Zimmer, Miss Anna Zimmer, Miss Minnie Zimmer, Mrs. Tony Lux, Mrs. C. T. Hayes, Miss Pearl Hayes, Mrs. J. F. Barrett, Miss Viola Barrett, Mrs. Rose Barrett, Mrs. M. J. Kelly, Mrs. F. S. Pittman, Mrs. K. L. Stimpson and Miss Mary Ryan.

Sunday night Mrs. C. T. Hayes, 2317 N. Capitol Ave., will entertain for Miss Barrett. Monday night Mrs. J. F. Zimmer, 628 N. Rural St., is entertaining for the friends of the young couple. Tuesday night Mrs. J. P. Barrett and daughter Viola, 4259 College Ave., will entertain.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Dearborn and daughter, Frances, and Mrs. George Burkhardt are spending a few days at Cliff Falls, Cincinnati, and other points of interest in southern Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio.

Extensive plans have been made for the grand opening of St. Catherine's parish house on Sunday. The activities will feature the event. An opportunity for inspection will be afforded throughout the day. In the afternoon and evening there will be card parties in the parish hall. A roast beef dinner is to be served at the school hall in the evening from 5 to 7.

Members of the Butler University chapter of Delta Delta Delta Sorority entertained with their second rush party at the dinner Friday evening at a formal dinner at the Spink Arms. Pansies and pine-boughs, the sorority flowers and emblem, adorned the tables, and silver, gold and blue tapers were used in the holders.

Miss Edith Hubbard and Miss Dorothy Stephenson gave short talks during the evening and Tri Delta songs were sung by all. Miss Dorothy Fife gave several interpretative dances and presented the guests with hand-painted favors as favors. Miss Clara Foxworthy was chairman and her assistants were Miss Fife and Miss Dorothy Canfield.

Miss Katherine Pangle, who will be married to Arthur Bassett this month, was the honor guest at a linen shower Friday evening at the home of Miss Iris Hopper, 1822 Ruckle St. The home was decorated with garden flowers and green and white tapers, tied with tulle bows, lighted the tables. Mrs. M. J. Hopper, the mother of the hostess, assisted.

Guests with Miss Pangle included Mesdames Robert Pangle, Lester Meek, U. L. Ogden, Glenn Bond, Smith Gray; Misses Sue Parks, Frances Smith, Helen Brown, Gertrude Ball, Katherine Martin, Ruth McAllister, Eleanor McCollum, Doris Hagard, Naomi Lombard, Katherine Fillmore, Margaret Spray of Lebanon.

Mrs. Catherine Post, 1656 S. Delaware St., gave a miscellaneous shower Thursday evening at her home in honor of Miss Lena Wiens who will be married to Anthony Mood will take place Sept. 8.

The marriage of Miss Grace Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Young, of 1730 Madison Ave., to Wendell Nave, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Nave, 2013 Miller St., will take place today. Miss E. Lowen and John Hutton will be the attendants.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Kruger and children, Paul and Dorothy, Bloomington, Ill., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Schwalbe, 511 Liberty St.

Mrs. Jacob Strauss and daughters, Rose and Catherine, have returned from a motor trip of two months through the East, where they visited relatives in Boston, New York and Brooklyn. Mr. and Mrs. Strauss and their daughters expect to spend Monday in Cincinnati, going by motor.

The Independent Social Club will have its first meeting of the season Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. in the ladies' parlor of the Fletcher American Bank, Mrs. C. L. Dearman, president, will preside.

The regular meeting of the Debonette Club will be held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Margaret Underwood, 913 W. Thirty-second St.

A WOMAN'S DAY ABROAD

By Allene Sumner

NICE—If you are a Mrs. Smith of Main St. who keeps a window full of potted geraniums in the winter time, owns two or three spotted begonias, a calla lily which has three buds at once, and maybe a night blooming cereus which is the awe and admiration of your friends, come to the Riviera and the flower market!

Flower markets are as essential in all Europe, in fact, as the vegetable or meat market at home.

And the blooms one can buy for a penny!

In Paris the flower market glows its stuff in the shadow of the black old conciergerie where the dainty Marie Antoinette spent her dark dungeon days before her head was placed beneath the guillotine. That guillotine even today sways in a black corner of the old Gothic-arched pile, dark spots of royal blood upon it—and the pin-pricked letter is there, too, which Marie managed to write to a gallant who would help to save her!

But out in the sunlight again there is the flower market in contrast to the gloom of black history within the old hall. The Parma violet, which gallant swains of the story books ever bring their sweeties, notes here—the color and shape of violets, but the rich soft purple hugeness of pansies—there are huge armfuls of poppies, too mingled with the blue bachelor button and wheat just as they are picked and brought in from the fields of Flanders and Normandy.

Roses and orchids and carnations, too, from a nickel a bunch to a huge 10 cents.

But the flower market of Nice is to the poor little markets of Paris what all Babba's cave is to yours, which holds only the canned fruit and the winter's coal—if you are a law-abiding citizen!

One has glimpsed these exotic, freakish blooms on the mountain slopes and along the fields in the train and motor rides through the Riviera—fairly tale-like blooms, pasture meadows one foamy billowing mass of shell-like pink, the cleaner trees.

Mountain slopes like molten sunlight with the bushes of yellow bloom—blossoms like orchids with a perfume which calls buzzing swarms of bees—the broom from which that storied house of Plantagenet took its name.

Trees of purple and blue and orchid myrteas—groves of olive and mimosa and orange white with bloom—And at the flower market whither we ride behind a doddering nag in a highly polished equipage, all this opulent bloom is seen.

There are little corsages of rain-wet orange blossoms, almost too sweet to bear, 3 francs, 9 cents. There are great armfuls of peach-colored roses for a nickel, and the very special rose grown in great groves all along the Riviera for the perfume makers at Grasse.

These acres of rose, and other acres of jasmine and valley lily are tended and tilted as carefully as our husbandmen till their more prosaic fields of potatoes or cabbage.

We went to Grasse one day to see our perfume made—that perfume which, glorified by labels and names to conjure with in the perfume world, scents us all at home. For

A Garter Set

A novelty for evening is this dance set, an embroidered handkerchief and garters of the same color.

The engagement has been announced of Miss Rosemary Barrett, 1521 Olney St., daughter of Mrs. Rose K. Barrett, who will be married to Edward Q. Zimmer, Thursday at St. Francis De Sales Church.

Mrs. Phillip F. Ryan, Jr., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Scott, 2456 N. Meridian St., before her marriage last Saturday was Miss Annabelle Gates. The wedding was solemnized in St. Peter and Paul Cathedral.

An attractive bride is Mrs. Sylvester Hulsman, who was before her marriage Miss Beryl Adair.

Miss Anna Ray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ray of 821 S. New Jersey St., will marry Lawrence Schreiber of Kokomo, Ind., at Holy Rosary Church, Sept. 19.

SIMPLE SCHOOL DRESS

Today's pattern is No. 2639.

A darling new style for a Junior of Tissue gingham is exploited in design No. 2639. A two-piece circular skirt is attached to a two-piece waist section. "A small view" It doesn't seem possible that you could make such a smart dress so easily. The outline sketches are just to give you an idea of how easy it is to make. Complete instructions with pattern. Cuts in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. The 8-year size requires only two yards of forty-inch material. Our patterns are made by the leading fashion designers of New York City and are guaranteed to fit perfectly.

Every day The Times will print on this page pictures showing the latest up-to-date fashions. This is a practical service for readers who wish to make their own clothes.

You may obtain this pattern by filling out the accompanying coupon, enclosing 15 cents, coin preferred, and mailing it to the pattern department of The Times. Delivery is made in about one week.

Be sure to write plainly and to include pattern number and size.

all the perfumes are made in three or four of these great factories of Grasse, taken away to their respective buyers in great vats to be made a new and individual product by ray labels and perhaps a blending of certain basic odors by the retailer in question.

Jasmine is considered the finest of all the perfumes made. Great vats full of these creamy petals are placed in tubs of pure wax which draws the odor into the flower, leaving scentless, torn petals behind. This jasmine base, we learned, is the base of practically all good perfumes.

And great tubs of powdered violet root told the real story of the violet scents.

We saw the flower farmers bring their morning picking to the perfumery—two-wheeled carts drawn by lumbering oxen, straggling with their cargo of dewy bloom.

One farmer brings in a flock of carts heaped with the very wagon seat with the creamy-pink rose grown specially for the perfumery—600 pounds, the fairy stuff weighs. "We will get three ounces of rose essence from this," we are told.

Carts full, too, with the wax magnolia blossoms sometimes mixed with the jasmine blossoms for the wax process.

Of course, we buy. Draw near, sisters, because this perfume must be well hidden in a toe of my slippers when I return—all perfume taxable at customs. Draw near and hold your rage. Fifty cents for a four-ounce bottle of the rarest perfume sold at home—

There is a new way, too, of beating Uncle Sam. Little rouge-like boxes full of the waxed essence—equal in strength to four ounces of the liquid—no tax, because only "alcoholic perfumes shall be taxed."

Whoopie!

BOILED EGGS

Boiled eggs will continue to cook as long as they are in hot water, even though the fire is out. To keep them hot until ready to serve pour off the water and replace lid on pan.

Miss Annie Moore Daughtry, Indianapolis Girl Reserve secretary, returned from her vacation Sept. 1 to resume her duties.

Girl Reserve activities, including swimming, hiking, skating, camping, trips, service work, games, parties, discussions and study courses, are being planned. Clubs of last year will begin having their meetings again the last of this month.

The first event will be a reunion of all the Camp Delight campers who were in camp during Girl Reserve month. Invitations have been issued to these girls for a swimming party on Thursday, Sept. 9, from 4 to 5:30 p. m., in the Y. W. C. A. pool.

There will be a big opening banquet Sept. 17 for all high school Girl Reserves at the Y. W. C. A. At this time camp and conference reports will be given in the form of plays, and Miss Pearl Forsyth, general secretary, who spent the past year in Japan, will talk.

LET ICE MELT

It is not advisable to cover ice with blanket of newspapers as this prevents the circulation of the air currents in your refrigerator. You may save ice thereby, but you lose refrigeration.

KEEP BREAD BOX CLEAN

The bread box should be cleaned out twice a week during the hot weather. Remove all crumbs, and wash with soap and hot water. Rinse and dry in the sun if possible.

SAVES A STAIN

Fruit acids will stain the finest porcelain table top, if allowed to stand. Always wipe up immediately with warm water.

PAINTED FURNITURE

Wipe painted furniture with a damp cloth before applying polish. But do not use this treatment on walnut or mahogany.

LINOLEUM

Give new linoleum a coat of varnish to make it wear longer and clean more easily.

I. A. C. ANNOUNCES SEASON'S PROGRAM

Entertainment Will Include Hugh Walpole, Novelist, Alice Singer, Harpist, and Ronny Johannson, Dancer.

The entertainment program of the Indianapolis Athletic Club 1926-1927 season, announced today by Kurt Vonnegut, entertainment committee chairman, includes Ronny Johannson, character dancer, who opens the program the middle of next month. Captain Noel, with the Mount Everest Pictures, Nov. 29; Alice Singer, harpist, and Ratan Devi, vocalist, Dec. 20; Hugh Walpole, novelist and lecturer, Jan. 10; Ruth Draper, character monologist, Feb. 7, and Dr. Raymond Dittmar's illustrated lecture on animal life, March 5.

These artists are leaders in their lines. Johannson, besides his work in the larger Scandinavian cities, has captivated Vienna, Paris and Berlin, according to advance reports.

Alice Singer comes with the claim of being perhaps the finest harpist in the world. The vocalist, Ratan Devi, is said to be a strong element in Miss Singer's entertainment.

Hugh Walpole, delightful English novelist and stylist, has a strong following in the literary world. Walpole has lectured before in Indianapolis and has been found instructive and entertaining.

Ruth Draper, who appeared at the Indianapolis Athletic Club, last year, and who gave a delightful performance, will be a pleasing part of the program. Miss Draper is known as a genuine artist, with a wide range of talents. The lectures of Captain Noel and Dr. Raymond Dittmar will be educational, and according to advance notices, highly interesting.

Martha Lee Says

PROBLEM HALF SOLVED IF CLEARLY SEEN

Our problems are like giants. They tower above us. We do not know what to do anymore than if they were hid in the clouds above us like the head shoulders of a giant.

We can only see half of them. If you can see your problem clearly it is half solved already. The question "What to do?" in matrimonial affairs, really means only "Which is the best man?" "Which one do I love?" something simple like that. It's easy to choose between two, who offer themselves for mates if you know which one has the best character, or can decide which one you love.

The Wondering Wife

Dear Miss Martha Lee: I am 18 years old and have been married for three years. I have a little boy 20 months old. My husband and I have been separated for two months but he wants me to go back home. Do you think I should? He doesn't support me and the baby. I always work and do the supporting myself. Since we've been separated I have been going with a fellow who is 20 years old, for a month. I want to get a divorce and marry the fellow I love. I don't want to throw my young life away on a worthless man. The fellow I go with seems to understand our troubles. He loves my baby. I say he will make a home for us. What shall I do? WONDERRING, P. J.

Dear P. J.:

I think you are not quite clear in your mind which one you love the best. You have said you love both, if you will re-read your letter you will see this.

Love is the only satisfactory basis for marriage. I would not have you take either one if you loved neither. How can you tell which one you love? Well, I think you can tell by looking over their characters.

Marriage demands sacrifices, and only the man who is willing to spend something of what he makes on someone besides himself is fit for marriage. In other words, you want the one who is least self-centered. Ask yourself which one you can most easily picture as a man who finds his greatest happiness in spending his money on a wife and a growing baby. This will be the one who will please you best.

Have a Steady?

Dear Miss Lee: I am a girl 17 years old and am in the high school, looking for a steady. I have a boy friend and then another, but my boy friends are objecting as they want to go steady. They think I should also.

I went out with a boy who had been going with a girl friend. She got angry at me and told him she would not go with him if he went with me. I was very sad. I was the wrong thing for her to say. He is a very nice boy. Don't you think it is wrong on her part of the friendship?

Now you give up his friendship. I sure can, as I have plenty of friends, also can find many more.

It is for the young man to decide which of two girls he prefers to make his "steady." However, girls of the high school age are too young to have steady company. Unless a man is engaged he has a right to go with more than one girl.

Try to have the friendship of this other girl as well as all your boy and girl friends, if you care to be popular in your social circle.

Recipes By Readers

NOTE—The Times will give a recipe filing cabinet for recipe submitted by a reader and printed in this column. One recipe is printed daily, except Friday, when twenty are given. Address: Recipe Editor of The Times. Cabinets will be mailed to winners.

Write only one recipe, name, address and date on each sheet.

PEACH COCKTAIL

Peel and dice enough ripe peaches to make two cups. Sprinkle with lemon juice from a half lemon to prevent discoloration. Mix the peaches with one cup of cantaloupe or watermelon balls made by cutting the fruit with a small French vegetable cutter. Add two tablespoons of sugar or fruit syrup and serve in small glasses with one tablespoon of crushed ice in each glass. Garnish with one or two fresh mint leaves.
