

PARLIAMENT TO BE BATTLEFIELD OF LABOR FIGHT

Tory Party to Measure Out Punishment for Unions.

By NEA Service
LONDON, Sept. 10.—Observers who thought the general strike of five months ago was the greatest labor struggle of all time will have an opportunity to change their thinking.

The greatest struggle, it appears, will take place this fall, and the battlefield will be in Parliament.

The die-hards of the Tory party are collecting strength for a mighty offensive against union labor. They will attempt to measure out punishment for the general strike and bind labor forever against dominating the government again or tying up in industry.

Tories' Are Bold
Emboldened by the collapse of the strike, the Tories plan to put the unions in a straight jacket as tight as the one imposed in Italy by Mussolini. There are just two deterring factors—Premier Baldwin, titular head of the Conservative party, who is unwilling to pursue a policy of revenge, and in the second place, the fear that extreme measures would cause such a revulsion of sentiment that conservatism would be defeated in the next election.

The leader of the resistance will be the former premier, Ramsay MacDonald.

The die-hard program briefly is:
1. Amendment of the trades dispute act, to make unions liable for damages where they enter wrongfully upon a strike.
2. Secret ballots by union members—under government supervision—before a strike can be declared.
3. Drastic limitation of picketing.

AWFUL PAIN IN SIDE AND BACK QUICKLY ENDS

Indianapolis Lady Marvels at the Wonderful Work of Konjola.

Konjola has become known as a medicine which is doing everything claimed for it. Thousands of Indianapolis people afflicted with stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders have taken this celebrated new compound and afterward becoming amazed at the great benefits de-ived from its use. For instance, just recently, Mrs. Minnie Mason, popular local lady, living at 452 Haugh Street, this city, made the following statement to the Konjola Man at Hook's drug store, Pennsylvania and Market Streets, where he is explaining this surprising remedy to large crowds daily.

"I've certainly found blessed relief in your Konjola, and I don't hesitate to tell the public about a splendid medicine," said Mrs. Mason. "I was relieved almost at once of those terrible pains in my side and back, and at the same time Konjola made a great change in my whole general system, so that I began to enjoy good health in every way."

"I had been troubled with my stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Every meal I ate caused a heavy, coated feeling in my stomach, so that my heart would skip beats. I became short of breath, and always had a hot, burning sensation from my throat to stomach. I was bilious most all the time, had sick headaches every day and would get so light-headed and dizzy that I had to sit down and rest several times throughout the day. The condition of my kidneys got so bad that sharp, agonizing pains would center in my side and back, and my limbs and ankles were swollen."

"I was in this terrible state of health when I got my first bottle of Konjola. Before it was half gone I noticed my stomach was no longer coated, and my digestion was fine. The awful back pains left me about the second day and never returned. I've taken five bottles of Konjola now, and anyone can notice the great change in my whole appearance. All the bloating, belching and heartburn is gone and my stomach is in wonderful condition. I don't have the bilious or dizzy spells and the sick headaches do not come. The swelling has gone from my limbs and ankles but most of all I am thankful for being free of the awful pains in my side and back."

"Konjola has really built up my whole body to new health, and I have banished a case of constipation that I was subject to for many years. I think this medicine is marvelous and I gladly praise it."

The Konjola Man is at Hook's drug store, Pennsylvania and Market Streets, Indianapolis, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

Konjola is for sale by every Hook drug store in Indianapolis, and by other druggists throughout this section.

4—Protection of Conservative and Liberal Unionists from obligation to pay dues which would be used in backing the Labor party politically.

Strike Vote Asked
The object of the proposition to require a complete secret ballot before a strike may be called is intended to prevent sudden or general strikes. The Conservatives say, also, that ballot stuffing would be easy unless there is government control, and therefore they demand such control.

This argument was furnished by the extraneous comment of a judge who passed on a labor case during the recent general strike.

The court gave it as its opinion that any strike called by a union or its officials, without a ballot when its rules require one, is illegal, in that its funds can't be used for the purposes of the strike. It held further that any application of union funds in support of a breach of contract in organizing a strike—ballot or no ballot—was illegal.

Wedge Attack
But even wider attacks upon labor are planned, both by acts of omission and commission.

The die-hards are afraid that labor may get command of the House of Commons. Therefore while they have a majority, they want to "reform" the House of Lords. Under the Liberal government of H. H. Asquith, now Lord Oxford, the lords were shorn of most of their power. Practically all veto of money bills was taken away from them. Die-hards visualize a labor government passing some sort of capital levy, with the lords helpless to block it. Therefore, they want a smaller house of lords in which some of the members would be hereditary and others elective by representative bodies of the community. They want this house of lords to pass on money bills and to have other authority. In other words, they want a fairly permanent block in the path of the labor government, if one ever again materializes.

Acquisitive Omission
The present Tory government is also responsible for a notable act of omission. In Washington in 1919 a draft convention was adopted designed to limit working hours to eight per day and forty-eight per week. Last March at a conference in London the main leaders of labor of Belgium, France, Germany, Great Britain and Italy signed an agreement on its interpretation.

Belgium recently kept its words and passed the necessary bill. In Germany a bill has been drafted for submission to the Reichstag. France has done nothing. Italy increased the working hours. The present government of Great Britain allowed parliament to adjourn without taking any steps at all. On the other hand, it adopted a "permissive" bill, allowing coal miners to work longer hours.

SUN DIALS POPULAR
LONDON—Sun dials are coming into vogue again. The romance of antiquity surrounds them and they have lived over into this age because of their beauty and associations.

In the old days every dial carried its message, such as "The longest day must end," "Make hay while the sun shines," "Be true as the dial to the sun" and "Improve each shining hour."
