HALL-MILLS QUIZ MOVES TO CLIMAX

Expect to Learn About Letters From Vestryman.

By United Press
SOMERVILLE, N. J., Sept. 13.—The Hall-Mills murder investigation moved to a climax today.

After four years, the State believed it was about to find an explanation of the stack of love letters piled between the bodies of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills when they were slain under a tree on the Phillips farm near New Brunswick.

Ralph V. Gorsline, vestryman in Hall's church, came to police headquarters here this afternoon and hurried into a private conference room to meet officers. The State hopes to learn more about the letters from him. Previously it had been announced that Gorsline and Miss Catherine Batistall, choir singer, would appear to post bonds for their appearance before the grand jury. Warrants for their arrests as material witnesses were issued Saturday. They have admitted being near the scene of the tragedy and hearing it re-enacted.

MUSSOLINI PLOT LAID IN FRANCE

Said to Have Been Work of Expatriates—200 Taken.

By United Press
ROME, Sept. 13.—Two hundred persons are under arrest and the general director of police and the chief of police have resigned as a result of the attempt upon the life of Premier Benito Mussolini Saturday.

Most of the prisoners will be freed, it was understood, after questioning. Police are trying to learn if the bombing of the Premier's car was due to a widespread plot.

According to the newspaper Messaggero, the investigation of the attempt to kill Mussolini, although just begun, already has revealed abundant evidence that it was not the isolated deed of a maniac or anarchist, but the result of an elaborate plot, hatched by political expatriates in France, who supplied the bomber with the facilities.

The bomber is Gino Lucetti, 26, an expatriate, long classed by police as a dangerous anarchist.

RENEW FIGHT FOR LIFE

TELLS OF HASTE, IN DAUGHERTY CASE

Merton, German Financier, Says He Had to Get Back Assets Quickly to Avert Bankruptcy.

By United Press
NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Richard Merton, active head of the powerful Merton financial interests of Frankfurt, Germany, today told a dramatic story of how he came to this country in 1921 in a desperate effort to secure return to his group of the assets of the American Metal Company.

Bankruptcy of the Metal Bank of Frankfurt, the Swiss Metals Securities Company of Basle, the Frankfurt Metal Trust and of the Merton family probably would have followed had he failed, he said.

Merton, testifying in the trial of Harry M. Daugherty, former Attorney General, and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, explained why haste was so necessary in securing return of the property and why he was willing to pay the late John T. King $448,000 "commission" to handle the matter for him.

Documents Read In
Documents setting forth the opinion of a Swiss jurist that return to the Swiss Metals Company of $7,000,000 in seized assets was legal, were read into the record.

Daugherty and Miller are on trial charged with conspiracy to defraud the Government in connection with the return of the property, seized during the war.

In Gay's Mood
Daugherty, one of the last to reach court, sat chewing tobacco. He seemed to be in a gay mood, then at any time since the trial opened and smiled from time to time.

Merton emphasized that speed in getting his claim paid was his first consideration, in order to avert bankruptcies, and for that reason he agreed to the sliding scale of remuneration for King. This scale provided for 5 per cent commission if the claim was allowed by Aug. 15, 1921, or 2 1/2 per cent if paid thereafter. It was made in July, 1921, and King was paid the 5 per cent.

Merton said he had no idea that any Government official was to get any of the money.

Resuming his testimony at the opening of the afternoon session, he said that the first he had heard that anything irregular was suspected in the American metal case was when he read newspaper accounts in Germany of the senate investigations of the department of justice.

PRIMARIES WILL END THIS WEEK

Candidates to Be Designated in Nine States.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The last of the state's forty-two primary elections and six conventions choosing nominees for Congress, will be held this week.

Tuesday candidates will be designated in eight States—Massachusetts, Maryland, Colorado, Louisiana, Michigan, Vermont, Washington and New York. On Wednesday and Thursday Connecticut conventions will perform the same function.

This will clear away the primaries for opening of the inter-party fight of Democrats and Republicans for control of the next Congress.

The issues, aside from local questions, involved in the primary finale are the same that have characterized the previous thirty-four races—prohibition, the World Court and, in some localities, the Ku-Klux Klan.

All but two of the eight States, Michigan and New York, are staging senatorial races.

GIGANTIC ARMY OF TEACHERS AT POST

More Than 30,000 in State Begin Task of Instructing Children, Youth of Hoosierdom—Colleges Open.

Indiana's vast army of more than 30,000 teachers has again marched to the front.

Approximately 23,000 public school teachers have taken up the sacred task of instructing Hoosier children and some 5,500 high school instructors have returned to their post. Indiana universities and colleges employing nearly 2,000 faculty members will open during the month.

Post Important

"The teachers hold an important post in our civilization and we do well to honor the members of the profession. Impressions received in school days stick with the average person all his life," declared Dr. Henry Noble Sherwood, State superintendent of public instruction.

Greater emphasis on teaching of English in elementary schools in Indiana is urged this year by Dr. Sherwood. "New courses of study in English, geography, history, spelling, physiology and home economics have been prescribed."

"I think we can afford to give more attention to teaching of better English," Sherwood said.

Winter term at Butler, De Pauw and Purdue and Indiana Universities, which will begin next Monday, is expected to draw record enrollment in all institutions. Facilities at most Indiana schools of higher education have been taxed above capacity for several years.

Dr. F. W. Reeves is conducting an extensive survey under direction of Governor Jackson to determine the educational needs of Indiana. Dale Russell, statistician in the superintendent's office, is aiding in the survey.

TWO FIRES CAUSE DAMAGE OF $8,000

Roempeke Bakery Is Total Loss—House Burns.

Two fires, one incendiary and the other of unknown origin, caused a total damage of near $8,000 over the week-end.

Henry Roempeke's bakery, 1631 Prospect St., was completely destroyed, with a $7,500 loss, at 1:30 a. m. Sunday. Fire squads kept the blaze inside the bakery proper and saved the storehouse and Roempeke's large brick dwelling. Warehouse of the Franke hardware store, 1633-35 Prospect St., suffered $100 damage.

Roempeke was at loss to tell how the fire started. Bakers had completed their night shift an hour before the blaze broke out and he was last to leave the building, he said.

A vacant house at 232 N. Mile Ave. was destroyed to the extent of more than $1,200. Hobos seeking shelter and dropping a march of cigar stubs are thought to have caused the blaze, which was discovered at 10:30 p. m. Sunday.
