

NO OSTENTATION AS KLANSMEN OF COUNTRY GATHER

Descend Upon Washington
—Huge Parade This Afternoon.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—In silence the Ku-Klux Klan today invaded the capital and began immediately the mobilization of thousands for a huge parade and demonstration on Pennsylvania Ave. this afternoon.

There was little or no ostentation. Except for American flags or the mystic words, "Igy (Klansman, I Greet You), on the windshields and sides of the Klan's cars, it was impossible to know whether the Klan was really here.

Beginning Saturday afternoon, roads entering Washington were teeming with Klan cars. Throughout Sunday a steady stream of Klansmen arrived in Washington. They parked their travel worn cars in every available parking space. Today at 3 p. m. the Klan began its parade from the Capitol ground. The line of march is Pennsylvania Ave. to Fifteenth St., and thence to the Washington Monument, where the marchers disbanded.

LIQUOR FEUD BLAMED One Killed, Two Wounded in Shooting at Herrin.

By United Press
HERRIN, Ill., Sept. 13.—The slaying of a liquor feud a month old, was blamed by police today for the shooting to death of William H. Holland, 20, and the wounding of Mack Pulliam and his wife here early Sunday. Pulliam with Holland was returning from a late Saturday night dance, when several men appeared on the road, riddled Pulliam's automobile with revolver and shotgun bullets and escaped.

The pair were ambushed, police say, as revenge for the killing of Everett Smith and Harry Walker last month.

ATLANTIC FLIGHT SOON

New York-Paris Attempt May Be Started This Week.

By United Press
ROOSEVELT FIELD, Long Island, N. Y., Sept. 13.—The commodious seats in the Sikorsky biplane were removed today and replaced by gasoline tanks, as final preparations were made for the New York-Paris flight attempt, which may occur this week.

Final adjustment of the motors indicated that on Wednesday or Thursday, weather conditions being favorable, the start might be made. Both Captain Rene Fonk and Lieut. A. P. Snoddy, his American aide, were hopeful of an early start.

RHEUMATISM HAD DRAWN HER LIMBS ALL OUT OF SHAPE

Woodlawn Avenue Lady
Finds Relief in Konjola
After Ten Years' Suffering.

In case after case of rheumatism, neuritis, and stomach, liver, kidney and bowel troubles, this remarkable Konjola medicine has given such surprising relief to thousands of sufferers throughout this city of Indianapolis and vicinity that nearly everyone afflicted with similar health troubles are turning to this celebrated new compound. Hundreds of reports are being received by the former sufferers themselves, in which the wonderful work of Konjola is described. Just a few days ago, Mrs. Gus Runyan, well known Indianapolis lady, living at 736 Woodlawn Ave., this city, made the following amazing statement to the Konjola Man who is explaining this medicine to the public at Hook's drug store, Pennsylvania and Market Sts., Indianapolis.

"I had rheumatism for 10 years," said Mrs. Runyan, "and I suffered with my stomach nearly that long, but now I have derived such astounding relief from Konjola that I can't keep from praising this medicine to everyone I see.

"The rheumatism was my worst trouble. This affliction had drawn my limbs all out of shape. Pains would center in my muscles and joints, and my legs would get cramped backward so they nearly touched my hips. Several times my husband had to grab me so that I wouldn't fall over when these awful cramping attacks came upon me. I would have large knots like hen eggs that appeared on the calf of my leg. I would have to rub myself for 20 minutes before I could get relief. My ankles were swollen and my hands and wrists would get burst. I had pains in my stomach and terrible spells of indigestion beside this dreadful rheumatism.

'SHOOT TO KILL' IS ORDER MAIL CLERKS RECEIVE

Postoffice Starts War on Bandits After Big Hold-Up.

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The Postoffice has begun war on mail bandits.

Orders had gone forth today to the thousands of railway mail clerks that they must "shoot to kill" in defending mails from robbers. Thought of their own lives must be banned, and they must go to the limit in guarding the precious freight in their care.

This is the first step in renewal of the campaign against desperadoes who lately have been growing increasingly active. The orders tell all mail clerks—and postoffice employees outside the railway service—that they must have their arms ready for use, and use them if held up.

No half way measures will be tolerated. The Postoffice Department, apparently spurred to action by the $135,000 mail hold-up in Chicago last week, at first considered calling on the Marines for aid as in 1921, but determined that its own staff, heavily armed, could cope with men who prey on the mails.

WEDS 'HIS' SECRETARY

State Public Service Commission
Head On Honey-moon.

Accompanied by his bride, John W. McCordie, chairman of the Indiana Public Service Commission, left today for a motor trip through boyhood haunts in Pennsylvania. Although married last week, only a few close friends knew of the event. Mrs. McCordie formerly was Miss Ruth Billis, his secretary for the last eight years. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Billis, Fortville, Ind. The ceremony was performed several days ago at Mr. McCordie's home, 894 E. Maple Rd., by Rev. William H. Kendall, pastor of Memorial Presbyterian church. Miss Alice Stadlander, a stenographer in the public service commission, will succeed Mrs. McCordie in the secretarial position.

INSTITUTE HEAD GIVES ADVICE ON CORRECT SPEECH

Head of Bogue School
Urges Naturalness.

The speech of the child has been the subject of special attention from the beginning of civilization. More than three centuries ago, old Roger Ascham wrote: "All languages, both learned and mother tongues, are begotten and gotten solely by imitation. For as ye hear so ye learn to speak. If ye hear no other, ye speak not yourself; and of whom ye only hear, of them ye only learn."

Commenting on Roger Ascham's statement, Benjamin N. Bogue, president of the Bogue Institute for Stammerers, said: "Every child should be taught to talk in a natural way. Persons are constantly urged by voice trainers to speak naturally. The fact is that any statement concerning the naturalness of the voice is apt to be somewhat indefinite.

"For instance, it is natural for a child to imitate the first sound it hears, whether the sound as judged by accepted standards of human vocalization be correct or incorrect. The child reared in the wilderness, beyond the hearing of a human voice, will imitate the notes of the whippoorwill, the chatter of the monkey, the hoot of the owl, and for him these sounds are natural tones.

"However, the word 'natural' must be restricted in its use. In connection with the human voice natural tones are those that are made with least effort by the vocal organism. In a general sense, therefore, to speak naturally is the hardest lesson to learn. It is inculcated only through persistent imitation or prolonged discipline. Untrained naturalness is simply some degree of awkwardness. Unless proper vocalization is established by imitation and discipline the speech is sure to be corrupted by false examples."

CUSACK COMPANY BUSINESS GOOD

Business of the John T. Cusack Company, 345 W. Washington St., dealers in restaurant supplies, has been good, according to John T. Cusack Jr.

Demands for various kinds of equipment by campers and restaurants throughout the State have been strong for several months, he said.

The company handles many kinds of restaurant specialties, as well as standard equipment. It carries the Coleman line of gasoline pressure stoves, which are very popular in the restaurant business.

Hotel china, crockery, tables, chairs, ice-boxes, water-coolers, silverware, service trays and other lines of equipment are handled by the company.

To give service with all equipment is the business slogan of the company.

The company is enjoying a splendid growth, following the move into enlarged quarters last February. The place is four doors east of their old store.
