

SENATOR REED SARCASTICALLY ASSAILS G. O. P.

Pleads for Decentralization of Government Before Missouri Democrats.

By United Press
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 14.—In an address, bristling with sarcasm, Senator James A. Reed flayed the Republican party, the Administration's foreign debt policy and pleaded for decentralization of government before the Democratic State convention here today.

The man who six years ago was read out of his own party's State convention because of his opposition to President Woodrow Wilson's stand on the League of Nations, was given a great ovation today.

For Local Self Government
The senior Senator from Missouri, to whom many Missouri Democrats are looking as their choice for President in 1928, declared for a return to local self government.

He deplored the "mesh of half-talk of cities and towns throughout this entire section. For instance, just a few days ago, Mr. John F. Stewart, former citizen of Indianapolis, now a well known truck gardener at Greenfield, Ind., (Fourth and Franklin Sts.), made the following statement about Konjola:

"I am a man of 84," said Mr. Stewart, "and for several years I have suffered various forms of ill-health. My liver was so unhealthy that my complexion was actually muddy looking, and I would get faint, dizzy spells, at times so bad that I just toppled over. I nearly always had a bad, bitter taste in my mouth, tongue was coated, and I believe I had one of the worst cases of constipation any person was subject to. In fact, I had to take a very powerful laxative or cathartic every night."

"My kidneys had always been a great source of misery to me, and nearly every day had awful pains over my kidneys. These would come suddenly, and they felt like someone was driving a knife into my back. I would have to get out of bed every twenty or thirty minutes during the night, and at these times there would be such a burning irritation in my bladder that I often thought I couldn't stand the agony any longer. Many nights I have walked the floor for hours in misery."

"I also had trouble with my stomach. My food would seem to go just so far and then stop. Terrible sharp pains would dash across the pit of my stomach, and undigested food would raise into my throat. Then my chest and stomach would burn, and my throat felt like it was being eaten away with something like hot lye. I tell you, there was no end to the miseries I suffered, and worst of all, I couldn't get relief from anything I tried."

"Finally I started taking Konjola, and to say the least, this medicine was a blessing. My liver is active and healthy now, the yellowish color has left my face, and I never have the awful dizzy spells like I had before. My system is regulated, the constipation is banished, and I have no further need of strong physics or cathartics. My kidneys have improved, and my back is not sore and aching like it was. I only have to get up once or twice a night now, and before I got Konjola it was necessary for me to rise from bed every twenty or thirty minutes. The pains in my bladder have disappeared, and it's certainly a pleasure for me to sit at the table and enjoy a good meal without having any fear of indigestion. I never have trouble with my stomach now, and the hot feeling in my throat and chest has entirely gone."

"I can't hardly tell you how thankful I am to Konjola. This medicine has made me feel like my real self again and I will praise it every chance I get."

The Konjola Man is at Hook's drug store, Pennsylvania and Market Sts., Indianapolis, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

Konjola is also for sale by every Hook drug store in Indianapolis, and by other druggists in the near-by towns throughout this section.—Advertisement.

Upshaw Defeated by 'Country Lawyer'

Georgia's most fluent congressman, William D. Upshaw, has been voted into retirement by the Fifth Georgia district in favor of Leslie J. Steel pictured above. Upshaw, picturesque prohibition spellbinder, charged wets spent "fabulous sums" to defeat him. Steel's opponents termed him "just a country lawyer."

digested and frequently foolish legal enactments."

Centralization of government, Reed declared, has resulted in congressmen "yielding their own judgments" to the demands of the President.

The speaker warned against "whittling away" at the Constitution by Congress. Speaking of taxation, Reed asserted the Constitution "has been literally raped to confer special privileges upon one class of citizens."

Assails Tariff
Turning to the tariff, Reed declared he intended to endeavor to have introduced a bill "providing that when American farm products are sold abroad, the money received may be invested in the market where the products are sold and the goods so purchased brought into the United States free of duty." The tariff was blamed by the speaker for most of the farmers' ills.

Reed assailed the Italian debt settlement as a "betrayal of the American people" by the Republican party which, he said, "obeyed its master and its master is the New England and New York international speculator and financier."

Secretary Mellon's tax plan came in for a bitter arraignment. Mellon, according to Reed, wanted his plan adopted in order to "reduce his personal taxes by $9,000,000."

Reed referred to Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, as "that great reformer, jurist and champion of the plain people."

M. E. CONFERENCE SESSIONS OPENED

Formal Start at Evansville to Be Tonight.

By United Press
EVANSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 14.—Preliminary sessions of the ninety-fifth Indiana annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church opened here today when Bishop Ernest G. Richardson of Atlanta, Ga., met with the seven district superintendents of the conference.

Assignments of pastors for the coming year were considered, but the appointments will not be announced until the closing session next Monday.

The vanguard of some 500 ministers and laymen started arriving this afternoon from all over southern Indiana for sessions which formally open tonight at Central M. E. Church, host to the conference, when Bishop Richardson will give the opening address.

Conference business sessions will begin Wednesday morning. The Rev. O. W. Fifer, pastor of Central Ave. M. E. Church, Indianapolis, will give the morning address.

LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE SERVICE CHANGES

(Applying only to messages to points outside of State of Indiana)

Effective October 1, 1926

Reductions in Long Distance Rates

To points 150 miles or more distant the rates will be substantially reduced. The greater the distance, the greater the reduction. For example, from Indianapolis to New York, the basic station-to-station rate will be $3.05 instead of $4.15, to Kansas City $2.25 instead of $2.95 and to San Francisco $8.65 instead of $12.55. A few rates for distances between 24 and 110 miles will be adjusted to make the schedule consistent throughout, but in these cases the increase of the basic station-to-station rate will be only five cents.

Reversed Charges on Station-to-Station Calls

Heretofore the reversal of charges has been available only on person-to-person calls. As a further convenience to the public this privilege will be extended to station-to-station calls where the rate is 35 cents or more.

Longer Reduced Rate Period on Station to Station Calls

Reduced rate hours for station-to-station calls will begin at 7 P. M. instead of 8:30 P. M., as formerly. Between 7 and 8:30 P. M. the discount will be approximately 25 per cent of the day station-to-station rates; from 8:30 P. M. to 4:30 A. M. the discount will be about 50 per cent of the day rates. These discounts will apply where the day station-to-station rate is 40 cents or more, with a minimum reduced rate of 35 cents. Because of the unsatisfactory service conditions which it brought about, the existing midnight discount will be discontinued.

The net result of these rate changes will be a saving to the telephone users of the United States of approximately $3,000,000 a year. The service changes are made in the interests of public convenience, to relieve the burden now imposed by the congestion of business at midnight and to furnish still better long distance service.

*Application has been filed by the company with the Public Service Commission of Indiana to make similar changes in the Long Distance Station to Station schedules between Indiana points. Notice will be given to the Company's subscribers when and if such changes become effective.
