

ITALIANS ARE FAST BECOMING AMERICANIZED

Jazz, Movies, Flivvers and 'Eskimo Pies' Have Helped.

By United Press
ROME, Oct. 8.—If the Americanization of Italy can be attributed to anything, "jazz" and American movies are the thing. Safety razors, sewing machines, "flivvers," type writers and "Eskimo pie" have helped.

American "jazz" is heard at cafes, movies and social gatherings. Popular American music is sold in many of the music stores, and everybody dances American steps. The "Charleston" is the rage, and has become the dance of the aristocracy. The newspapers here have written columns about jazz, trying to find why it has taken such a grip among Italians.

Movies Mean America
As far as the cinema is concerned, movies and American have become synonyms in Italy. When an Italian says movies, he thinks American. It would be difficult to see a film in Italy that is not of American production. Moving pictures are undoubtedly the most important vehicle of American influences, as they present the full scope of American social, intellectual and moral ideals, besides showing in an interesting style American life and customs.

Douglas Fairbanks, Charlie Chaplin and Mary Pickford are the most popular movie artists, having scored big successes with the Italian public. Such films as the "Gold Rush" and "The Thief of Bagdad" ran for many weeks to packed houses. The rush at the box offices for seats was such as to require the intervention of the police.

Doug's popularity with the Italian movie fans was aptly shown by the rousing demonstrations given him and Mary on their recent visit to der the very shadow of that historic structure.

Automatic gasoline pumps of American design were recently installed in Italian cities. They are much like the American gasoline pumps, but lack the profusion of electric light such as the American pumps have.

A recent curiosity for Italy was the introduction of the "Eskimo pie" which is sold at the picture shows and is called "stella polare," or "polar star."

MAN'S LIVELIHOOD IN SELLING CARP

Ready Market for So-Called 'Undesirables.'

By United Press
MANISTEE, Mich., Oct. 8.—Thousands of amateur fishermen who angle in Michigan waters for sport regard carp as a menace to their pleasure, but Edward Oswald of Spring Lake, Mich., finds his position as a professional carp fisherman profitable.

Oswald, who has been supplying carp to fish markets in large cities for many years, works under the supervision of State conservation authorities.

The presence of a super-abundance of carp endangers the supply of desirable fish and their spawn. This has led Thomas Trimble, chairman of the fish propagation committee of the Manistee chapter of the Izak-

Walton League, to secure Oswald's services here.

At present Oswald is inspecting Manistee Lake and Big Manistee River with prospect of seining carp from these waters next spring as soon as the ice breaks. He plans to build a pen of sheet pilings near the mouth of Big River, where he will keep his fish until fall when the market is high.

PIMPLES ON FACE AND BACK

Festered and Itched and Burned. Cuticura Heals.

"My face and back were affected with pimples that were hard, large and red. The pimples festered and scaled over and itched and burned causing me to scratch. Scratching caused eruptions and my face was disfigured. My clothing aggravated the breaking out and I lost my rest on account of the irritation. The trouble lasted about four and a half months.

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using four cakes of Soap and four boxes of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Evelyn Hagborg, 2351 Newland Ave., Chicago, Ill., Feb. 27, 1926.

NEW INDIAN RELICS

Added to Field Museum; Tribe Lived Near Chicago in 17th Century.

By Times Special
CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—A new exhibit of Indian relics, featuring the Pottawamies who held sway near Chicago in the seventeenth century and at once time occupied fifty villages along the shores of Lake Michigan, has been added to the Field Museum of Natural History.

The collection was gathered by M. G. Chandler, an authority on Indian relics, and represents many old heirlooms which have been preserved by pioneer Chicago families. The culture of the Pottawamies is shown through the exhibit which includes numerous articles used by the tribe in war, peace, festivals and religious ceremonies.

At Wembley, England, old-fashioned craftsmen using old-fashioned methods, are constructing a home that will stand the ravages of centuries.

Lydia E. Pinkham and Her Great Granddaughter

IF Lydia E. Pinkham were alive today she would be 107 years old. Her memory is revered by her descendants who continue to manufacture and market her famous Vegetable Compound. From Lydia E. Pinkham to her great granddaughter, four generations have relied upon this dependable medicine. The happy school girl of today, like the demure maiden of the 1870's, knows that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps to restore and preserve her health.

Years ago, a mother gave this medicine to her fifteen year old daughter. The daughter married and became the mother of seven children. She writes, "I always took it before my babies were born and I know it gave me strength to keep up and do my work. I am now taking the Vegetable Compound again and I am giving it to my oldest daughter."

Because this dependable medicine has proved its worth in her own family, she will answer letters from other women asking about it.
