

CHURCHES TO AID HEALTH DAY AIMS

Children's Moral Welfare to Be Emphasized.

Seventy-five churches and more than 100 Sunday schools of Indianapolis have received bulletins from the Indianapolis Church Federation and the Council of Religious Education, urging ministers and Sunday School instructors to include observance of Child Health Day in their programs on Sunday, May 1.

United States Commerce Secretary Herbert Hoover, national chairman of the movement, has suggested the meaning of Child Health Day be broadened to an emphasis of the moral and spiritual welfare of the child as well as of his physical health, resulting in the appeal to the churches.

Plans for the day and for the observance by hospitals and all child caring agencies of the city during the week May 1-7 are being furthered the division of child hygiene of the by a Child Health Week committee, headed by Paul L. Kirby, director of city board of health.

WATCHES HOME BURN

Man Sets it Afire—Wife and Son Escape.

By United Press

FRANKFORT, Ind., April 22.—Frank Derrick, 52, is being held by authorities after he set fire to his home Thursday.

Derrick saturated parts of the house with oil, fired it and calmly watched it burn to the ground. His wife and 15-year-old son, Eldon, escaped through windows.

Efforts will be made to place Derrick in a hospital for treatment.

"KONJOLA GAVE ME
THE FIRST RELIEF
I HAD IN YEARS"

Indianapolis Man Is Still Well After 7 Months; Gives Full Credit to New Compound.

This celebrated new medicine, Konjola, is now proven to be the latest, advanced remedy in many of the most severe cases of stomach, liver and kidney disorders, or rheumatic and neuritis troubles. Hundreds of Indianapolis people have included it, one of the latest statements coming from Mr. Charles L. Waisner, 435 E. New York St., this city.

"Konjola gave me the first relief I had in years from rheumatic and kidney troubles," said Mr. Waisner, "and it has been seven months since I finished my treatment of this medicine, and I am still well to this day."

"I quit work in 1922, as I couldn't be around machinery. My feet were affected with rheumatism, toes were bent and cramped, and those burning, aching pains worked up into my limbs, then my hips and arms and shoulders became affected so that my whole body seemed to be a solid mass of aches and pains. I couldn't sleep at nights, but would have to sit up and rub myself to get relief and for six months I had to hold onto chairs and furniture to get around the house. My kidneys were affected, so I was frequently disturbed at night, and my back was always achy. I had blood tests, spinal treatments, special medical attention and mineral baths, yet my suffering continued."

"I took Konjola only a short time until every ache and pain from all over my body left completely. I was surely surprised and now almost everybody I know is talking about the way I am getting around, but I really believe my spine is injured so that I will never walk perfectly. I limp slightly, but never have to use my cane or crutches like I did before I got Konjola. I don't have to get up at night on account of my kidneys, and my back never hurts me like it did."

"Yes, it has been 7 months since I had those terrible rheumatic pains and I thought you would like to know that I am still feeling well. I will always endorse Konjola, for the lasting relief it has given me."

The Konjola Man is at Hook's drug store, Pennsylvania and Market Sts., Indianapolis, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

Konjola is also for sale by every Hook Drug Store in this city, and by all druggists in outside towns.

Hoosier Briefs

Well, where are you, whose are you? is the question asked in a suit filed at Columbia City. Solo-jun Judd and Frank Wakeman are joint owners of a lot on which the well was drilled. Both claim the well is on their property. Judd built a fence around the well and Wakeman then cut a gate in the fence. Judge A. F. Biggs is hearing the protest.

Costello was accused of holding up the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pask on the night of Feb. 8. He was shot by police when escaping from the house.

The youth admitted his complicity in the crime, but his attorneys set up the defense that he was unbalanced by liquor and had been unwittingly drawn into the affair by two confederates, both escaped convicts.

Police at Greenfield have been ordered to stick their heads into every car parked on the square and if couples are found "petting" they will be arrested.

H. T. Woods, grocer, is the first Frankfort man to wear a straw hat this year.

George W. Rogers, civil war veteran and Indian fighter, of Thornwood, is one of the few Hoosiers who can boast he fought under Gen. Custer.

Mowing the grass for the first time this season almost proved a tragedy for Florene Stucky of Berne. His little daughter, Helen, fell in front of the machine. She escaped with two cut fingers.

SECOND TRIAL NOT SET

Jury Disagrees in South Bend Auto Banditry Case.

By United Press

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 22.—

The St. Joseph County prosecutor is uncertain today as to the date for the second trial of Alfred Costello, 23, of Detroit, charged with auto banditry.

The jury which had been deliberating on the case in Superior Court here, was discharged late Thursday, when it informed Judge Orlo Deahl that there was no prospect of reaching a verdict.

Costello was accused of holding up the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pask on the night of Feb. 8. He was shot by police when escaping from the house.

The youth admitted his complicity in the crime, but his attorneys set up the defense that he was unbalanced by liquor and had been unwittingly drawn into the affair by two confederates, both escaped convicts.

PURDUE MAN KILLED

Believe Engineer Insane When Struck by Train.

By United Press

DECATUR, Ind., April 22.—Investigation is being made today of circumstances surrounding the death of H. W. Throop, 25, of Wabash, an assistant civil engineer employed by the Big Four Railway, who was killed Thursday night when struck by a passenger train.

Throop is believed to have become insane within the last two days, according to information gathered from persons to whom he talked on the day of his death. Officers had been searching for him for hours before he was killed.

Throop was a graduate of Purdue University.

WEST BUXTON, Me., April 22.—One housewife in this Maine town was enriched recently when an eagle, carrying a fat duck, lost hold of its prey. The duck crashed through a kitchen window of the woman's home just as she was preparing dinner.

JACKSON SETTLES SANITARY ROW

Mellott and Northrup Re-sign as Governor Acts.

After holding the position of assistant State veterinarian for just one week, Dr. L. E. Northrup, Indianapolis, has resigned. Governor Jackson then announced appointment of Randolph M. Core, Johnson County dairyman, to succeed Dr. J. A. Mellott, Etta Green, on the Indiana livestock sanitary board. Mellott resigned after supporting Northrup for the assistant's position against the wishes of Dr. Frank H. Brown, State veterinarian and the Governor.

The developments are expected to restore harmony on the board and checkmate a movement to oust Dr. Brown. Mellott formed a majority faction, with Charles E. Mumford, Young America, and C. F. Pangborn, Charlestown, and succeeded in appointing Northrup. This was considered the first step toward the Brown ouster, but the Governor interfered. Northrup conferred with Jackson several times before quitting.
