

$746,000 MORE ASKED OF CITY IN NEW BUDGET

$2,050,728 Requested for Board of Works for 1928; No Salary Boosts.

Appropriation of $2,050,728 for the board of works was asked in the 1928 budget request submitted to City Controller William C. Buser today.

An increase of $746,000 was asked to cover operation of the city asphalt plant, closed until recently, and light and water bill deficiencies of 1926 and 1927.

City Engineer Frank C. Lingenfelter, who recently started the city asphalt plant on gasoline tax funds, declaring streets could be repaired cheaper by the city than under contract.

Street Commissioner George Woodward asked $95,200 for new equipment. His department budget totals $474,815. He received $239,801 in 1927.

Budgets Too Low; Claim Board members pointed out that it was impossible to keep streets in proper repair with the insufficient appropriation.

Neither Would Be Other—Miss 1927 or Miss 1908

What does the high school graduate of today think of her sister of twenty years ago? And what does the girl of two decades back think of her surprising successor of today.

"My enthusiasm is all for the modern girl," Mrs. Jeanne Bosc, 2625 N. New Jersey St., who graduated in 1908 as Jeanne Crowder, declared.

Left to right, Shortridge class of 1927 are Miss Elizabeth Dahlman, 3045 N. Delaware St.; Miss Nellie Inez Selkin, 4001 Guilford Ave.; Miss Lillian Pierson, 2703 N. Pennsylvania St.; Miss Flora Hunter, 3921 N. Delaware St.; Miss Elizabeth Rankin, 5008 N. Capitol Ave.; Miss Mary Margaret Tutewiler, 1515 Park Ave., and Miss Virginia Hill, 2951 N. Pennsylvania St.

Miss Mary Margaret Tutewiler of the class of 1927 looked at a picture of the belle of the 1908 class. "She looks terribly proper to me," she declared.

"I much prefer the modern graduates," Miss Flora Hunter, 3912 N. Delaware St., said. "We are freer, mentally and physically. We can go almost when we please, we can do things that we like without fear of being censured, as the girls of 1908 would have been had they done the same things—things which we now consider proper."

Technical High School. "I like being one of them," she added. "I am just as interested in the modern girl as I was in those of my own class. They are neat, full of enthusiasm, and are just as responsive to love, guidance and opportunity."

"I really would like to be a member of the 1927 class, though I am afraid that I might be just a little breathless in trying to keep up with them, due to changed conditions."

"The modern girl is all right," Miss Helen Thoms, 1212 N. New Jersey St., a music teacher, declared. "Their pace is a little too fast for me, but I guess I still am just a little bit old-fashioned. It seems to me that the 1927 high school girl has too much social life."

"Girls of our class didn't have so many dates. They stayed home and studied, and when they got to school in the morning they were alert, active, peppy. I believe I prefer the class of 1908."

PRESIDENT NOT COMMITTED TO EXTRA SESSION

Smoot's Announcement Repudiated Later by White House.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—An announcement by Senator Smoot, Utah Republican, and an Administration wheel-horse, that President Coolidge had given definite assurance that an extra session of Congress would be called in October, was later repudiated by the White House.

An official close to the President said verbally that Smoot's declaration was not to be taken as an indication that the White House is definitely committed to an extra session.

Coolidge believes it is too early to make a definite commitment. While he looks with favor upon the plan, he does not intend to be pledged now.

Smoot's Statement

Smoot's announcement was made after he conferred with the President. It was preceded Tuesday by inspired word at the White House that the President was favorable to bringing Congress back a month or six weeks early next fall, not so much to consider flood relief legislation as to permit a running start on the heavy schedule of general business.

The repudiation by the White House left Washington somewhat puzzled. The general belief is that the President intends to call Congress back in October, but his present attitude seems to be caution rather than opposition.

Nevertheless House and Senate leaders are preparing schedules in expectation that Congress will meet in October instead of December as usual. Preparation of a tax reduction bill will begin in September before the House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee. Committees charged with flood relief legislation also will meet.

First Legislation

The first legislation planned by leaders is the second deficiency appropriation bill which was lost during the Senate filibuster last March. It carries funds for salaries, routine government operations and public buildings.

Tax legislation probably will come next; then flood relief. In addition there will be fights over farm relief, the seating of Senators-elect of Pennsylvania and Smith of Illinois, national defense legislation, aviation development and government appropriations.

IMMIGRANT BAR REARED HIGHER

Ruling Against Chinese Boy Tightens Barrier.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The cordon of restricted immigration laws surrounding the United States will be "tightened substantially," according to Labor Department officials, as a result of the United States Supreme Court decision that Chin Bow must go back to his birthplace in China.

The principle established is that children of United States citizens who never have resided in this country are not entitled to citizenship rights, and are subject to the immigration laws, applying to all nationalities.

Chin Bow, represented by Charles Evans Hughes, was born in China in 1914. His father, Chin Dun, never had lived in this country, but was a United States citizen because his father and Chin Bow's grandfather, Chin Tong, had citizenship rights here.

Chin Bow claimed he was entitled to admittance. Immigration authorities refused to allow him to enter, citing a provision of the immigration act of 1924 that children of United States citizens who always have lived abroad are not citizens of this country. The Supreme Court upheld that provision.

BANDITS TAKE $82

Local Youths Suspected in Plainfield Hold-up.

Two bandits believed to be Indianapolis youths held up the Standard Oil filling station at Plainfield, Ind., Wednesday night and escaped with $82.

Charles Franklin, town marshal, telephoned the Indianapolis police the license number of the auto used in the robbery, as noted by Harold Weir, attendant, as he supplied the bandit car with gasoline and oil. After obtaining a supply of fuel the man by the driver thrust a gun in Weir's face and took the money from the safe and cash drawer.

The other bandit bent up the license plates. They drove south from Plainfield. The license was traced to a local owner who has not been found.

New President to Make Expansion His Object.

OSTEND, Belgium, June 9.—Rotary International spent this morning's session voting on officers and since there were few contests for important positions more than a third of the American delegates had left or were preparing to leave on short tours of Europe.

Arthur H. Sapp of Huntington, Ind., unopposed for president of Rotary, told the United Press his administration would be centered on the important subject of international expansion, particularly in Europe, South America and the Orient.

One of his first tasks, he predicted, would be establishment of a club in Germany. He said he hoped to coordinate Rotary's work internationally.

Three new clubs in China and several in Brazil, Argentina, Peru and Chile would be established soon, Sapp said.

ROMEOS JEER AT LAW

Still Do Schoolhouse Petting—Quartet Sent Home.

Petting parties along the country roads have decreased. State police and deputy sheriffs believe.

But that doesn't mean petting has stopped, city police remind.

The situation has become alarming, say city officers, who assert schoolhouses have been made shelters for Romeos seeking a nice, quiet place away from the law.

Wednesday night, Sergt. John Eisenlund found two couples, the boys 17 and the girls 16, in an auto petting party at the rear of a school at Fourteenth and Meridian Sts. They were taken home.
