

TRINITY CHURCH TO CELEBRATE 50TH BIRTHDAY

10 Members of Original Merger Still in Attendance.

With ten members of the original Trinity Ave. and Massachusetts Ave. Church merger of June 11, 1877, still in attendance, Central Ave. Methodist Episcopal Church tonight will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary with a supper, at which the pastor, Orin W. Fifer, will preside.

Speakers, all church members, will be O. H. Palmer, Miss Alta Roberts, Mrs. H. F. Holland, Jefferson Caylor, who has been treasurer thirty-five years; Mrs. W. W. Thornton, F. C. Jordan, Miss Mattie Sparks, Miss Carrie Thompson, and C. F. Coffin. E. G. Hesser and quartet will supply music.

Sunday morning, fifty years to the day after the founding, the Rev. Fifer will preach the anniversary sermon, ending the festivities. He has been pastor for ten years.

400 Members in Union
About 400 members were in the church union, now boasting of 2,000. The first church, called "Pine Knot," because of rough hewn, upright, hard exterior was the Trinity Ave. church.

It was moved from Massachusetts and what now is known as Edison St. to Twelfth St. and Central Ave. D. P. Morgan was pastor. Ground was broken in April, 1891, for the present structure, completed June 5, 1892.

First services, June 17, 1877, were preached by the Rev. Ruben Andrus, later pastor for three years.

First Building Completed

In April, 1900, the first Sunday school building was completed. Dec. 24, 1922, an educational and recreational structure of three units was dedicated as an addition.

Original members are Caylor, W. L. Hereth, Miss Ella Hereth, Mrs. Thornton, Mrs. Ida Porterfield Harris, Mrs. J. D. Conner, Miss Ida Andrus, daughter of the former pastor, Mrs. Robert Clark, Mrs. Margaret Mansfield and Mrs. Ruth Springer.

At once, I began to pick up an appetite, my cheeks filled out and my complexion became healthy looking and I gained 15 pounds in six weeks and am very thankful for what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for me.

There is just one right way to keep the skin clear and smooth

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system. This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

You owe it to yourself to try S.S.S. It helps Nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight, I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking-out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S.S.S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S.S.S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S.S.S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy." Mrs. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

S.S.S. is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory. It is time-tried and reliable.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.—Advertisement.

TUSsock MOTHS ON CITY TREES

Spray Application, Tanglefoot Recommended.

Presence of the tussock moth on Indianapolis park and lawn trees has been reported to George Morgan, assistant park superintendent.

The newly hatched caterpillar is pale, sometimes yellow tinted and covered with long hairs, Morgan said. The grown larva is about one and one-half inches long, with four white tussocks, or branches, on its back, behind which are two shiny, red warts. The head is brilliant coral red with a fringe of white hair.

Two black plumes are behind the head and one black and two yellow stripes down the back. Larva seek sheltered positions and spin silken cocoons. Eggs are deposited and two weeks later young caterpillars appear. Leaf structure, except the midribs, is devoured by the moth. A thorough application of spray, composed of 4-6 pounds of arsenate of lead paste, or 2-3 pounds of powder to 50 gallons of water, as soon as moths appear, is recommended. Eggs should be destroyed. Branding trees with tanglefoot will prevent migration.

ADmits FLIER 'FAKE'

Bookkeeper Invented Nun-gesser-Coli Tale.

By United Press
QUEBEC, Quebec, June 16.—Just to relieve the monotony of life in the lumber camp village of Chicoutimi, in northern Quebec, an accountant named A. Bais, telephoned to River Bend, more than a hundred miles north of here, yesterday reporting that the missing French fliers, Charles Nungesser and Francois Gilo, had been found.

The report was soon relayed to Quebec and from there it was telegraphed and cabled to all parts of the world.

Blais was located by the United Press last night. He admitted he had perpetrated the hoax "just to relieve the monotony of life." The idea suggested itself to him, he added, by reports that fliers had been sighted in the region of the camps of the Price Brothers Lumber Company, for whom Blais works.

MOTHER TO GREET WIFE FREED IN SON'S DEATH

By United Press
HARRISBURG, Pa., June 16.—Mrs. Hilda Florence Blymire, acquitted of the murder of her husband, Clarence Blymire, in San Diego, Cal., will be a welcomed visitor at the Harrisburg home of Blymire's mother, it was learned today.

Mrs. Henry G. Laird, mother of Blymire, revealed this fact when she learned of the acquittal of her daughter-in-law, whom she never has seen.

"While Mrs. Blymire was in jail in San Diego awaiting trial," Mrs. Laird said, "she wrote me declaring she would like to come east and talk with me if she were acquitted of the murder charge. I recently wrote her and told her that I would be glad to meet her here for a discussion of the case."

HOUSE LION IS ANNOYING TOWN

English Mistress Scoffs—
Simba's All Right.

By United Press
WANTAGE, England, June 16.—"Lie down, Simba!" Smacking response.

"Lie down, Simba!" A rumbling growl, a defiant glance around, and Simba lies down—or always has so far.

What the population of Wantage is wondering is what will happen if Simba ever definitely decides not to lie down. Particularly the postman, who has to visit the house three times a day.

Simba is a half-grown African lion, with a fondness for buffeting persons with its paws and taking nips out of their legs. It's just his playfulness, his mistress, Mrs. S. W. Silver, racehorse owner and big game hunter, says.

Mrs. Silver has such great confidence in her pet's tractability that she not only lets it run around the house, but even leaves it on the lawn of her garden when she is out. She chains it to a little stake which she drives into the lawn with a croquet mallet, remarking, between strokes, that Simba never can intimidate her.

Semi-official representations have been made to Mrs. Silver on behalf of the villagers that Simba ought to be either in a zoo or in some place more nearly approximating his native haunts than an English village, but Mrs. Silver scoffs at them.

12 DEGREES TOO COOL

Temperatures Still Below Seasonal Normal

Temperatures were about 12 degrees below normal here today, according to J. H. Armington, United States Weather Bureau head, although a warm sun relieved cool breezes and made it seem warmer than the mercury showed.

While normal afternoon temperature is 81, the weather bureau thermometer showed only 69 at noon. Temperatures have been below normal since Saturday. Friday's temperature should be several degrees higher, but showers may keep the mercury a few degrees below normal, Armington said.

CITY MANAGER WORKERS SEE VICTORY AHEAD

Warnings Issued Against Over-Confidence, Last-Minute Rumors.

Swinging into the home stretch of the city manager campaign with election only five days off, campaign forces battling for the movement were confident of success today.

"Overconfidence is the one great evil which we have to fear," Claude H. Anderson, secretary of the city manager committee of 1,000, said. "Another thing against which we want to warn voters is the last-minute spreading of wild stories and rumors by opponents of the movement."

"This is only an effort to defeat our movement by baseless propaganda."

Sinclair Sells Bibles Camouflaged as 'Oil'

By United Press
BOSTON, June 16.—The public meeting held here today by Upton Sinclair in defense of his locally suppressed novel, "Oil," ended in an anti-climax.

Sinclair had announced he would attempt to sell Shakespeare's "Hamlet," the Bible, and, finally, his own "Oil" to police in an effort to get arrested on charges of selling obscene literature.

In the presence of half a hundred men and women at the Byron St. house, at the foot of Beacon Hill, the author read excerpts from all three books and offered them one by one to police.

Police officers refused to pay a quarter for either "Hamlet" or the Bible, but willingly paid $1.50 for a copy bearing the screaming cover of "Oil." Then they told Sinclair he should appear in court tomorrow.

As they were leaving the hall, the officers peeked into the banned book and were amazed to find they had bought, not "Oil," but a Bible camouflaged with an "Oil" cover.

They demanded their money back—and got it.

"A local newspaper man bet me I couldn't sell the Bible to the Boston police," Sinclair laughingly explained. "Now I've won the bet, that's all."

Sherlock Dies Again

Conan Doyle Slays Famous Sleuth for Second and Last Time.

BY CLIFFORD L. DAY

LONDON, June 16.—Sherlock Holmes, famous story book detective, who confounded criminals with test tube and magnifying glass, scolding the while the stupid blunders of Scotland Yard, died today.

Holmes' death was announced by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, whose stories of Sherlock have been read by millions of persons of all ages.

Sir Arthur, who latterly has been won from the school of scientific criminology to the occult practices of spiritualism, explained Holmes' death in the preface to his own, "Casey" Book of Sherlock Holmes.

"I fear," wrote Sir Arthur, "that Mr. Sherlock Holmes may become like one of those popular tenors who, having outlived their time still are tempted to make repeated farewells before their indulgent audiences. This must cease. Sherlock must go the way of all flesh, material or imaginary."

THE mewing of Sherlock's violin and his resolute footfall no longer will be heard along Baker St., where, since Sherlock took up his famous lodgings, there has been an invasion of giant motor busses and jamming of traffic.

So crowded has the street become that it no longer was suitable, anyway, to the contemplation and modest delights of a man who dwelled in the mysteries of crime.

Sherlock, fittingly, had two lives and it was his second Sir Arthur took from him today. The first time Sherlock died with his boots on.

He long had pitted his skill against the criminal cunning of Dr. Moriarty, one of the basest of villains, and finally the pair met in combat on the edge of a cliff.

Before the eyes of Watson, of course you remember Watson, the pair fought and fell to their deaths.

BUT SHERLOCK'S friends had not had enough of him. Sir Arthur was brought to resuscitate his master character. And, finally, Sherlock came back to life, having escaped death on the cliff in miraculous manner common to super-human sleuths.

He continued his career as the terror of wrongdoers and the envy of the slow-witted gentlemen from Scotland Yard.

Now Sherlock has died again, rather, he has been murdered and by the hand of his creator. Perhaps his violent second demise was a final gesture of defiance to the yard; let them solve it if they can.

But even in death, Sherlock will not be idle. Resisting constantly in his pages on thousands of library shelves, Sherlock will be with us forever, peering through his glass, rolling a bit of cigar in his palm, or smiling a long-suffering smile as he arrives on the scene of a crime to find that the stupid oafs from the Yard have obliterated the real clues in their clumsy search of the premises.

Terre Haute Sheriff, Hit as Lax, Has New System.

By United Press
TERRE HAUTE, Ind., June 16.—Federal prisoners at the county jail had been demoted from their jobs of trustees today by Sheriff Ray Fonnecannon, following his conviction and fine of $200 and costs yesterday by Federal Judge Robert C. Bantzell for laxity.

In lieu of their former privilege, they peered from behind the bars of the Federal ward, the doors securely locked. Two, James Locke Frank (Mickey) Meharry, had been transferred to the Marion County jail.

Further than announcing his new system of Federal prisoner confinement, Sheriff Fonnecannon did not comment on the judgment.

FAMOUS DERBY THREATENED IN POLITICAL ROW

Governor Must Select New Officials for Louisville
by June 25.

By United Press
LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 16.—The future of one of America's greatest sport classics, the Kentucky Derby, today became involved in Louisville's scrambled political situation.

Kentucky, noted afar for its thoroughbred horses and its Derby day, has divided over the propriety of gambling on horse races. The issue, already launched as part of the November gubernatorial campaign, arose today to plague Governor William J. Fields as he pondered appointments to replace the mayor and forty-eight other officials of Louisville.

On the Governor rests the responsibility of appointing an entire new city and county administration as a result of the action of the Court of Appeals at Frankfort, which nullified the 1925 elections.

The mandate of the court, effective June 25, will remove forty-nine Republican officials of Louisville, from the mayor down, said nine Jefferson County Republican officials. More than 2,000 office holders are affected.

Democratic leaders have urged the Governor to appoint the entire Democratic ticket which lost out in the 1925 election. Joseph O'Neal, who was Democratic candidate for mayor, is reported to frown on the racing institution, and Governor Fields has indicated his support of Robert T. Crowe, Democratic candidate for Governor on a racing program.

Whatever appointment the executive makes, leaders forecast, would have an indirect effect upon the racing issue in the November elections. Meanwhile, the joy of the Democrats here was expressed in a demonstration which took the form of a street parade, in which Republicans were jibed.
