

PASTORS VISIT CITY CHURCHES NEXT SUNDAY

Aims of the Presbyterian Union to Be Explained From Pulpits.

The Presbyterian Union of Indianapolis has arranged an exchange of pulpits between the pastors of that denomination for Sunday. The Rev. G. W. Allison will preach in Memorial Church; the Rev. T. H. Graham in the Seventh Church; the Rev. W. C. Mahr in Westminster Church; the Rev. T. N. Hunt in Wallace Street Church; the Rev. H. T. Wilson in Troun Memorial Church; the Rev. W. H. Kendall in Irvington Church; the Rev. A. L. Duncan in West Washington Street Church; the Rev. T. R. White in Home Church; the Rev. T. J. Simpson in Sutherland Church; the Rev. J. L. Prentice in Meridian Heights Church.

The services in the First, Second, Tabernacle and Fairview Churches will be arranged for another Sunday. The Presbyterian Union is a federation of the Presbyterian Churches of the city, organized for the purpose of promoting the interests that are common to all alike. The Union supplements the assistance of Synod and Presbytery in carrying forward home mission work in Indianapolis and its suburbs. It has been especially active in recent years in helping the weaker churches in their building enterprises and in starting new churches at Wallace Street and in the Speedway district.

The purposes of the interchange of pulpits Sunday is to acquaint the Presbyterians of Indianapolis with the work and objectives of the Union. The officers of the Union are: President, C. A. McKamey; vice president, Herbert S. King; secretary, D. H. Whitman; treasurer, J. E. Stilz.

A Children's Day Service will be held at Central Universalist Church, Fifteenth and N. New Jersey Sts., Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The members of the Sunday School will present a pageant, "God Is Love." Sunday school 9:30.

Ground breaking for three units to the St. Mark's English Lutheran Church, Prospect and Linden Sts., will be held Sunday at 11:45 a. m., following church services. The Rev. R. H. Benting, pastor, and George J. Mayer, building committee head, will officiate. Corner stone laying is planned for Aug. 7, and dedication sometime between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The units, two for Sunday school use and one two-story addition to the church auditorium, will cost approximately $60,000, and are the result of church membership expansion in the last five years.

The Rev. L. C. Fackler, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran Church will preach Sunday morning on the subject "The Four Surprises." The Willing Workers will be entertained Thursday evening at the South Side Y. W. C. A., 717 S. Alabama St., by Misses Esther Heif and Ardella Hemmerlein.

Victory Memorial Methodist Protestant Church, G. L. Farrow, pastor, will celebrate its Twenty-fifth Anniversary in an all day service with basket dinner. In the morning the pastor will speak on the theme, "The Volunteer, Messiah." The evening service will be in charge of the Rev. J. W. Harmon of Roachdale. Special music at each of these services. The afternoon program will be made up of music and short talks by former pastors.

"The Healing Shadow," will be the sermon subject of the Rev. J. Floyd Seelig, minister of the Fifty-First Street M. E. Church in the Sunday morning service at 10:45. Lois M. Stone will sing "Shepherd Divine, I Come," by Jerome. In the service at 7:30 p. m. Miss Irene Duncan, a Deaconess of the church will give a stereoscopic lecture on her trip to the Holy Land. An offering will be taken. The public is invited to attend this most interesting service.

Elder David H. Whitman, who was a commissioner to the general assembly from the Presbytery of Indianapolis, will speak in the Fairview Presbyterian Church Sunday at 10:45 a. m. on "The Spirit of the General Assembly." Presbyterian City Union Day will also be observed.

The annual children's day celebration will be held Sunday at the First Evangelical Church in a combined Sunday school and church service beginning at 10 o'clock; Lloyd E. Mosiman, superintendent; Miss Helen Hartmann, in charge of program; opportunity for infant baptisms. At the 7:45 People's Service Harry Lindstedt will be chairman; message by Miss Rose Jackson of this church, just returned from seven years' service in the interior of China.

"The Buckwheat Man" and "Habit" will be the themes Sunday of the Rev. Homer C. Boblitt at the Linwood Christian Church.

"The Acquarion Age" will be the night subject of the Rev. Charles H. Gunsolus at the Christian Spiritualist Church.

The Rev. Allen K. Trout of the Bethlehem Lutheran Church will speak Sunday morning on "Rich Man vs. Poor Man." The Sunday school will observe Father's day with a program at 9:30 a. m.

The Hasler Sunday school will meet at Cadle Tabernacle Sunday morning at 9:30. This school is open to all children who do not regularly attend other Sunday schools.

"Thy Will Be Done" and "The Power of Choice" will be the sermon themes of the Rev. O. A. Trinkle

FILE AS PAY BOARD

Thirteen Street Car Men Act in Wage Case.

A committee of thirteen Indianapolis Street Railway Company employees registered as an official mediating board with the public service commission Friday. Appearing in person, they filed a paper addressed to the commission as an arbitration board. It set forth that they were the official representatives of the platform men, recognized by company officials as the mediation board.

The filing is considered a counter movement by the company to the latest effort of James Green and five other employees who have started action to get a pay raise from 40 cents to 60 cents an hour minimum. Green went on strike last summer. Returning to work as an "extra board" motorman he successfully put a plea for higher pay before the commission and was granted a 3 cents an hour increase. This was extended to all car and bus operators by company officials. Members of the committee filing Friday are Henry Thomas, Prentiss Coghill, John Clancy, Thomas J. Syrus, O. G. Beeman, Ed Moore, W. E. Payton, Charles Austin, Frank Geisel, John Davidson, Milton Roe, Scott C. Mash and Joseph A. Chandler.

MADE IN INDIANAPOLIS

Compass Magnet of Lindy's Plane Important Instrument.

Part of Col. Charles Lindbergh's famous plane, "Spirit of St. Louis," and a part on whose infallibility rested to a great degree the intrepid youth's Paris flight success, the compass magnet, was made in Indianapolis by Thomas & Skinner Steel Products Company, 1102 E. Twenty-third St., it was learned today from J. R. Thomas, company president. The magnet, the basis of the compass, a commonplace thing costing about a dollar, is the fier's eye of direction. This magnet, sold to the Jewel Instrument Company, Chicago, in turn was sold to the Pioneer Instrument Company, New York, which assembled it in a Barth inductor compass. That compass was placed in Lindbergh's plane at New York for the trans-Atlantic hop.
